Crops Make Progress on Winnipeg Division

Following is the report on crop conditions along the Winnipeg division of the Soo Line, as prepared June 10 by E. A. Hamerski, superintendent:

Alexandria to Thief River Falls

Present condition of crops is excellent and farmers are in good spirits. Top and subsoil moisture conditions good although rain would be welcome to keep crops coming. Most crops planted except corn, soy beans and flax planting not completed in some areas. Early-planted corn is up. First cutting of alfalfa is expected to be general next week with good yields expected.

Newfolden to Orleans

Top and subsoil moisture adequate although little rain was received the past week. Seeding of wheat, oats and barley completed with most fields up and looking excellent. Planting of flax and the usual small amount of corn is in progress. Potato planting still going on with a slight increase in acreage reported. General prospects are good.

Viking to Bolette

General shower activity of last week, supplemented by scattered rains his week, replenished top and subsoil moisture which remains excellent. Strong winds, as high as 50 m.p.h. caused some drifting and minor crop damage. Durum and hard wheat planting completed; 2" to 5" stands have emerged. Planting of corn and flax about 75 per cent completed and potatoes about 80 per cent completed. An increase in potato acreage is reported.

Overly to Norma

No precipitation received this week which enabled seeding operations to proceed uninterrupted. High winds caused some erosion and crop damage. However, predominantly cool weather prevailed and top and subsoil moisture was not depleted to any great degree. Nearly all crops are seeded. Forage crops are in excellent condition. Because of good moisture conditions, prospects are good.

Dahlen to Orrin

Only a trace of precipitation received the past week. Top and subsoil moisture remain good. Temperatures the past week have been favorable for crop growth. Recent severe winds have caused some erosion and injured an occasion field.

General

Weather conditions generally favorable for good growth the past week. However, severe winds on the 3rd, 4th and 5th subdivisions caused some erosion. While progress is slightly behind that of a year ago, the outlook for excellent crops is favorable due to the good moisture conditions.

Catholic Diocese of Crookston to Observe 50th Year

Celebration of Golden Jubilee Is Scheduled for September 11 and 12

Plans are now taking shape for the celebration of the golden jubilee of the Catholic Diocese of Crookston, Sept. 11 and 12. Thanksgiving masses will be offered in the parishes and religious houses of the diocese on Sept. 11. Other arrangements for local observances have been left up to the individual parishes and religious orders.

On the following day a pontifical high mass will be offered in the Cathedral at 10:30 a. m. Msgr. James Shannon, president of St. Thomas College at St. Paul, will be the principle speaker for the occasion. A large number of bishops, priests and sisters are expected.

A banquet for visiting clergy will be held following the mass at 1:00.

Preliminary plans for the celebration were made at a recent meeting called by Bishop Laurence A. Glenn.

Attending were Msgr. Victor Cardin, Gentilly; Msgr. J. R. McAleer, rector of the Cathedral; Msgr. John P. Funk, P.A.V.G., Sheehan, Euclid; Warren Regnier, Dorothy; Stanley Bourassa and John O'Toole, both of Crookston.

In charge of arrangements Father Bourassa, transportation; Msgr. Funk, Msgr. Cardin, Father Emmett Shanahan, War-O'Toole and Rev. Jerry Foley, Kellher, historical committee; and Fathers Regnier and O'Toole, publicity.

One of the major projects of the celebration will be the collection and publications of the histories of the parishes, religious orders and missions in the Diocese.

A special 16 page jubilee edition of Our Northland Diocese will publish the histories gathered by the history committee.

Tells How to Avoid Boat Casualties

Medical Group Offers Advice on Procedure

Want to know how to save the life of a person involved in a boating accident? Each year countless lives are lost needlessly because well-meaning individuals fail to exercise proper life saving techniques.

The following rule-of-thumb procedures are recommended by the Minnesota State Medical Association for the emergency rescue of a drowning person.

Row—Use the speediest way to get to the victim. If possible, take a boat or a skiff. Pull the person aboard and apply artificial respiration if needed.

Throw—Throw a life preserver or jacket to the swimmer— or anything that will hold up the victim. An inflated inner tube or old tire will also work.

Go—If you have been trained in life saving, go to the aid of the struggling person yourself. Be careful that you are not pulled under.

Mr. Ostby, who served for 19 years in an administrative capacity in the McIntosh school before coming to Garden Valley, has now completed 15 years of service with the company.

University Program Set for Farm Youths

Minnesota high school seniors who plan to return to farming have new opportunities for college training at the University of Minnesota.

Starting this fall, the college of agriculture, forestry and home economics will offer a technical certificate program in agriculture, which replaces the former school of agriculture course.

Under the new arrangement, students will take 60 credits of college level courses. Normally, a student can complete study for these credits in four quarters, or a total of 12 months on the St. Paul campus.

This would mean, for example, that a student could be on the campus from late September until the middle of March each year for two years. Or he could complete three quarters one year and complete the fourth the following winter.

A principal feature of the new program is that all 60 credits can be applied toward a full program for the B. S. degree, should the student later decide to continue his college training.

Under the former school of agriculture program, students took one or two years of special courses, but did not receive college credit for them.

Students in the technical certificate program will be registered in the college, must meet the same requirements as students enrolling in the 4-year course and will be able to participate in all extra-curricular activities on the St. Paul campus. All social, recreational and athletic facilities will be available for their use.

The new program will be under the direction of Keith N. McFarland, who will be director of resident instruction. Advisor for students in the program will be Ralph E. Miller, who in the past assisted with administration of the school of agriculture.

Students in the program can take courses in agronomy, animal husbandry, dairy, forestry, horticulture, mechanized farming, poultry, soils and other agricultural areas. They may also take courses in economics, communications and other subject matter areas.

For more information, high school graduates may write to the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics, University of Minnesota, St. Paul 1.

Doctor's Home Burglarized; Loss Is $1,800

23 Valuable Items Taken Monday from Dr. D. Greene Home

Burglars reportedly made off with an estimated $1800 or more of goods from the home of Dr. Dan E. Greene sometime Monday evening, according to local police officials.

Max Graham, agent of the state bureau of criminal apprehension, said the loot included cameras, projectors, guns, radios, tape recorders, power tools, appliances, jewelry and about $15 in cash. There were 23 items taken in all, valued from $249 to $6, Graham stated.

The police department received the first call from the Greene residence Monday about 7:30 p. m. Police were told the Greene family was having a picnic supper in the back yard and had heard a noise in the house. Doctor Greene had gone in to investigate and saw a man run out and jump into a car. Another man was in the car which sped away and the doctor was able to give only a vague description of it.

The police were called again about 11:20. This time the report of the burglary was given. Police were told the family had gone for a boat ride after eating and had returned to the house about 10:30 to find the items missing.

Despite the episode earlier in the evening the Greenes had left the house unlocked while on the boat ride. Another aspect that leaves everyone baffled is how the burglars made several trips into the house to carry out the loot without being observed.

Graham and city police are cooperating in the investigation, Graham reported today.

Ada Girl Chosen as Dairy Princess

Jeanette DeVries Selected from Field of 28 Candidates

A blonde, 19-year-old contestant from Ada, Norman county, who will be a junior at Moorhead State college next fall, was selected from a field of 28 girls representing 10 northwest Minnesota counties as the Northwest Dairy Princess at the 11th annual Dairy Day in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 14.

Jeanette DeVries, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter DeVries, Norman county dairy farmers, was announced as the winner by Rudy Mehlhoff, chairman of the contest committee, following the cattle judging and showmanship contests and the awards presentation.

Selected as attendants to the Dairy Princess were Joan Kriewald of Winger, an East Polk county representative, and another Norman county entrant, Myrtle Ann Blasey of Ada.

Contestants from Beltrami, Red Lake, Clearwater, East Polk, Kittson, Lake of the Woods, Marshall, Norman, Pennington and Roseau counties were guests at a luncheon in the Elks club rooms and were interviewed by the judges: R. Lindeman, an executive of the Pontiac Motors division; Ray Wolfe of the University of Minnesota and Mrs. Annette Pederson, wife of a university professor.

Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Betty Jax of Adams, was introduced by Lew Conlon, manager of the Minnesota dairy industry committee, who gave a short talk.

The princess was crowned by the 1959 winner, Bonita Christiansen of Blackduck, who represented the area in the Princess Kay of the Milky Way contest at the Minnesota state fair last year.

Following the coronation of the 1960 Dairy Princess she and her attendants headed the parade of champions through the downtown business district.

Concluding the day's activities, a box lunch was served at Second st. and Knight av. by a committee headed by Wally Jordet.

The 1960 Dairy Princess from the northwest area will now compete with other area winners at the state fair for the title of Princess Kay of the Milky Way and the right to represent the dairy industry of the state during the coming year.

Local Students to Perform at State MEA Convention

Four Lincoln Vocalists and Several Alternates to Be in All-state Chorus

Dr. Arnold F. Caswell, vocal vice president of the Minnesota Music Educators association, has announced the selection of five students from District 31 who will participate in the all-state chorus which will perform at the state meeting of the MEA next fall. The chorus, which numbers about 300 voices, has been selected on an individual audition basis.

Audition committees were set up in each of the 32 districts of Minnesota and furnished a ranked list of sopranos, altos, tenors, and basses from each district. The final selection was made by the state committee from the top of these lists on a basis of total students enrolled in each of the 32 districts.

Students chosen from District 31 include Nancy Newton, TRF, soprano; Kathy Torgerson, TRF, alto; Larry Daby, Warren and Richard Erickson, TRF, tenors; and Benjamin Martin, TRF, bass.

Several alternates were also selected in the event that a singer selected for the chorus should move away or become ill or if there should be a shortage in a voice classification when all of the 32 district results have been tabulated. These alternates will take part in the five area rehearsals: Karen Mosbeck and Linda Cameron, sopranos; Carolyn Swan, Gloria Phillip and Sandra Halvorson, alos; and Roger Johnson, bass, all of Thief River Falls.

The conductor, Dr. Charles C. Hirt, professor of music at the University of Southern California, has reserved both Thursday and Friday, October 20 and 21, 1960, so that two days of rehearsal can be scheduled.

SPANners have the last four weeks free for travel. Jeanne will spend some time in Monaco, the Reviera, Switzerland and the Scandinavian countries. In Norway, Jeanne will stay with relatives at their mountain resort and in Sweden she will visit two college classmates.

Baskets of mums and white gladioli graced the altar of the St. Rose of Lima Catholic church in Argyle, Saturday, June 4, with Rev. Rousseau officiating for the double ring ceremony which united Shirley Garfve and Willis M. Bjorgaard in holy matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Garfve of Newfolden and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bjorgaard of Argyle.

Mrs. Bill Robertson of Argyle played the nuptial music while Mrs. Amie St. Germain of Argyle sang a solo.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, was attired in a ballerina length gown of white lace over net and satin, featuring a sweetheart neckline and quarter length sleeves. The traditional something old, new, and borrowed was carried out.

Miss Diane Bjorgaard of Argyle was maid of honor with Miss Doris Garfve, sister of the bride and Miss Rae Thorson of Minneapolis as bridesmaids. They wore street length sheath dresses with net over-skirts of mint green, yellow and pink respectively. They carried identical bouquets of pom-poms and Pinocchio roses and their jewelry of matching bracelets and earrings were gifts from the bride.

It has been a long time between columns but this is one week that just couldn't pass without a few words on a subject of great interest to a great many folks here in town.

State Rep Ben Wichterman's little speech in commissioning the state VOR radio facility here should clear the air of a large number of popular fallacies in these parts in regard to who is paying for our state aviation facilities.

One would never think, merely by paying a visit to our airport and watching activities on any given day, that aviation can pay its own way here. Fortunately, our own field's activity is no criterion by which flight activities in Minnesota as a whole may be judged. As a matter of fact we here probably benefit from greater air activity elsewhere, far beyond our own contribution to state aviation tax funds. Furthermore, our field is busier than a short visit would indicate—and it will be busier yet, now that we have radio.

Thus, as far as the state is concerned, it certainly shouldn't be said that aviation (particularly commercial aviation) is subsidized and one gets the idea federal aviation taxes more than pay for federally installed facilities if state aviation tax revenues are any indication.

Which brings us down to the city's share of the total cost—we find that over the years we have contributed approximately 15 per cent over and above the cost of the land, the unused portions of which is farmed and has been producing income for the city for many years.

Mr. Average Citizen probably has little means of comparison, our field against others — but take our word for it, we can be proud of it. It stands out among area airports; in fact you can compare it with any small-town airport in Minnesota and come up with the conclusion we—you and I—have something to crow about. We owe a handful of far-sighted people a large debt of gratitude.

Nevertheless, aside from our excellent facility here, we have fallen behind many other areas of the state in aviation development. We simply do not own as many airplanes per capita as people elsewhere in the state, or over the nation.

We are not alone in this respect—the situation holds true in much of northern Minnesota outside the Red River Valley. A large part of this, we believe, is psychological—we've let too many people, often with selfish motives, tell us we're living in a depressed area off the main stem of civilization. If too many people believe such hogwash we're licked from the start.

Very few businessmen here use the airplane as a tool of trade. Many could, without affecting airline boardings. Businessmen elsewhere have found airplanes very useful and the greater part of all flying done in the U.S. is for business reasons. Are we any different in northern Minnesota—or are we too stubborn to admit the facts?

At least we have the truth on one point, however — aviation in Minnesota and the nation as a whole is bearing its own costs. So the next time you hear somebody make a crack about our not being able to afford a good airport, subsidies, etc., just remind him for every $15 we've spent here in original cost we've received $85 in return toward progress in our community, and to go cry on somebody else's shoulder.

Thirsty livestock mean thin profits — so many farmers are putting in stock watering pits. Adolph Erickson, Wannaska, needed an extra water supply to let his ewes graze remote pasture. Two new pits, along with a pasture program, solved the problem. Before the improvement, he got little use from the land.

Here's a quick way to "reforest" a tree plantation after making a Christmas tree cutting. Gottfried Walser, Rice, Minn., sold some selected trees on the stump in fall, 1959 and left the remainder to grow up as pulp. But what should he do about the space where the trees were cut? He solved it all by leaving whole branches on the stump of each cut tree. The branches then turn upward and, later on, all are cut off but one which grows as another tree. Benton county agent Burton Olson says growth is faster this way than it would be if you planted another seedling there.

Local Teams Win and Lose Pair of Games

In a baseball doubleheader played on the Fair Grounds diamond Wednesday evening, it was a win and a loss for the two local clubs. In a Pen-Ro-Shall league game, which called at the end of seven innings of play, manager Wally Grovum's Bums scored a decisive 15 to 4 win over Goodridge. In the night-cap, a nine-inning affair, the Thieves dropped a 4 to 3 decision to the Warroad Huskies in a game that proved to be a pitcher's duel between Arlan Hjelle of the Thieves and Bob Evenson of the Huskies.

The Bums made short work of gaining an early lead in their Pen-Ro-Shall league tilt against Goodridge, racking up seven runs in the first inning off the righthanded slants of Gordy Hendrickson. Lefty Freddy Jensen of the Bums, who collected nine strikeouts during the seven innings, gave up eight hits, and pitched shutout ball until the fifth inning, when Goodridge tallied a pair.

In the second game on Wednesday night's twin bill, the Warroad club, resorting to bunt-and-run tactics, scored three runs in the fifth inning to provide manager Del Hedlund's club with their game-winning margin over the Thieves.

Warroad had picked up a run in the second inning on a line-drive double by Wahlstrom and a ground single by Hedlund, to take a 1 to 0 lead.

In the fourth inning, with one out, Harlie Drees and Charley Kankel were issued walks. Hjelle struck out, but Dennis Bakke sent a fly ball to center field, and when Hedlund muffed the ball after a hard run, Drees and Kankel scored, giving the locals a 2 to 1 lead.

In the fifth, an error, a sacrifice bunt that was beaten out for a hit, a low throw, and a single by Hodgson accounted for three Warroad runs.

The Thieves pared the Warroad lead to one run in the eighth inning when Paul Klungness walked, moved to third base on an error by the Warroad right fielder, and scored on Drees' sacrifice fly to center field.

Righthander Bob Evenson limited the Thieves to but one hit, that a single to center field by Paul Klungness in the fifth inning. Evenson, who doled out four walks, struck out seventeen batsmen. Hjelle, on the mound for the Thieves, nearly matched Evenson in effectiveness, and, except for some loose defensive play in the fifth inning, could have been the winner. Hjelle issued but one walk, that to Evenson in the sixth inning, and struck out fifteen batsmen.

Bridgeman's Win 2 in Softball Loop

Drury Pitches Both Tilts against Len's and Hamm's

In softball play at the East Side diamond on Tuesday evening, John (Bubba) Drury of the Bridgeman's turned in an "iron man" trick as he pitched manager Lowell Collins' club to a pair of victories. The Bridgeman's scored a 13 to 6 win over the Len's Tire Service in the opener, and in the "night cap" the Bridgeman's racked up a 6 to 4 win over the defending champion Hamm's Beer squad.

The second game was featured by the steady pitching of Drury for the Bridgeman's and Mike McMahon, and a pair of home runs poled out by Bob Gaarder of the Hamm's and Larry Gilbertson of the Bridgeman's.

The two victories moved the Bridgeman's club into first place in the league standings.

This evening's schedule will find the Bums playing the VFW, with game time at 6:15 p.m.

Bagley and Cass Lake moved into a two-way tie for first place in the Northern Minny league standings on Sunday by scoring respective wins over Erskine and Thief River Falls. Bagley, with righthander Jim Lawrence on the mound, defeated Erskine, 4 to 1; and Cass Lake, with a pair of lefthanders sharing the mound duties, defeated Thief River Falls, 9 to 5.

In a game played at Clearbrook, as a feature of Clearbrook's celebration, Fosston edged out Gonvick, 8 to 7.

This week's schedule will find the veteran Cass Lake team playing Fosston in a night game at Fosston, and a win for manager Bob Montabello's club would give Cass Lake a one-half game lead over Bagley, who will be idle on Sunday.

In afternoon games, the Winger Tigers will play the Thieves on the Fair Grounds diamond here; and Gonvick will play Erskine in a 2:00 P.M. game at Erskine.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Crookston: Regional Champions

Coach Lin Lehrer's Crookston Central Pirates, by a 6 to 4 score in nine innings, defeated the Fertile Falcons in the tournament finals game at Bagley on Monday night to win the Region Eight title. On Monday afternoon, at 2:30 p.m. on the Metropolitan stadium diamond in Minneapolis, the Pirates will meet the North St. Paul team of Region Four in a first round state high school tournament game.

And don't sell this Crookston team short, especially in tournament play. Starting with the first round game in district tournament play, when they were outhit by Warren by 12 to 6, yet won the game by a 16 to 7 score, the Pirates have been a "charmed" ball club. In the second game of the district tourney, Goodridge, with Howard Hendrickson holding the Pirates to but four hits, should have defeated Crookston by a 2 to 1 score in seven innings on alert base-running; but coach Lehrer's club won the tilt, 2 to 1. And the same pattern was in evidence as the Pirates beat the Prowlers, 6 to 2, in the district finals.

In the regional finals against Fertile, Crookston moved into a 4 to 0 lead after five innings of play. Fertile, scoring single runs in the fifth and sixth innings and a pair in the seventh, tied the game at 4-all, forcing extra innings. If Crookston had had any tendencies of "choking", these extra innings would have given Fertile the opportunity to capitalize on the Pirates; but such wasn't the case. With Jim Turner pitching shutout ball, and with Crookston utilizing bases on balls to advantage, the Pirates scored twice in the ninth inning for the victory.

We'll Pick Patterson

Just on a hunch, and believing that Floyd Patterson is the better all-around fighter, we'll venture the guess that Patterson will regain his world's heavyweight title on Monday night, perhaps by a knockout inside of ten rounds.

On Tuesday we'll be making an appearance on the corner of Third street and LaBree; or we will be out on the vast stretches of Lake of the Woods fishing for saugers!

Golf Tourney Cancellation

The "Father's Day" shortstop golf tournament that was scheduled for the local club Sunday has been cancelled. And it is probable that the July 17th shortstop tournament will also be cancelled.

Due to a series of unfortunate circumstances, with the unseasonable rain of last December being the particular villain, the greens at the local club suffered grievously. Much work has been lavished on the greens this season, and the greens committee is encouraged and hopeful that the greens will be true and attractive by late July or August. Greens number five and eight are in good condition, but the other seven greens have numerous "kill" spots.

The fairways, though, have never been more luxuriant.

George's Big Walleye

George Westby, fishing Lake of the Woods near Springsteel island one day last week, hooked and landed a ten-pound walleyed pike. The party of fishermen Hardy Bjerke and Engval Lund fished with Westby, had had fair luck drifting off Springsteel. Just as they were about to quit for the day, and with the waters becoming calm, George baited a hook with a shiner minnow, hooking the minnow under the dorsal fin, and still fished. The walleye, and its the largest that Westby has caught, was brought to net in short order.

According to all the reports we have received, Lake of the Woods has been producing numerous limits the past couple of weeks. It apparently doesn't make any different where the fishermen angle, for the pike are hitting at Springsteel, Buffalo bay, Rocky and Long points, Morris and Wheeler's points, and Burton island. The only hazard confronting the fisherman is the weather conditions, because strong strong winds can make the lake treacherous. These winds are nearly as strong as the winds of the fishermen returning from a trip to the lake!

The summer camp season of the Minnesota Farmers, Union opened Monday, June 6, at Shetek state park group camp, and will close on August 12 at Whitewater state park group camp, with the completion of 11 separate groups of Farmers Union youth, children and ladies, at various camps throughout the state.

The opening camp, June 6 had an attendance of 68 from 19 counties of the state. 28 of these young people attended the camp on a scholarship basis as an award for completion of their third year of Farmers Union youth and project work by the 1st of October 1959.

Training Center for School Patrol Opened on Sunday

Total of 1,700 School Pupils to Take Course in Crow Wing County

With the largest enrollment in its history, the Minnesota school safety patrol training center opened its 23rd season at Legionville in Crow Wing county June 12. This is the fifth year the center has operated at its present location with 156 boys enrolled for the first week of training.

Robert Miller, Brainerd, Legionville director, reported that the camp had extended its season to 11 weeks to accommodate the number of registrations of young boys and girls of the school safety patrol program who will be trained during this summer. Before the camp closes at the end of August, over 1,700 will have received a 15-hour course of instruction in school patrol methods, pedestrian and bicycle safety and elementary first aid from Minnesota highway patrol officers assigned the camp as instructors.

Legionville is a quarter-million dollar facility constructed and operated by The American Legion of Minnesota for the exclusive training of future school safety patrol officers. The program received national recognition last fall when the Legion was presented a National Safety Council award of merit for outstanding effort in traffic safety.

How to Apply for Social Security

Must Submit Proof of Age and Past Year's Earnings

Are you planning to retire soon?

One of the goals of the Social Security Administration is to pay benefits as promptly as possible to those persons entitled to them.

To assist in maintaining a regular income into the household after retirement, the public should be aware of a policy being stressed by the Social Security Administration, Walter D. Kistler, district manager of the Grand Forks, North Dakota, office, stated today.

To receive benefits promptly after retirement, a worker should file a claim for his benefits 30 to 60 days before retirement if he knows he will be retiring on a certain date.

This advance filing will give the Social Security Administration and the person claiming benefits ample time to get information and evidence necessary to establish entitlement before the first check is due. It will also afford a widow and any children who might be eligible the opportunity to file for dependents' benefits.

Generally evidence will be required to prove the age of the retired person and his wife. This may be a birth or baptismal record. If there is no such record available, any record that is old and reliable may be sufficient. If there is a child under age 18 or a child of any age who was disabled before age 18, it will be necessary to have a birth certificate for this child.

Evidence of the worker's earnings in the taxable year ending before the date of retirement is also necessary.

Another Guess

Estimates of the cost of the federal interstate highway system in Minnesota have been revised upward again and now total $900 million, an increase of $172 million over the guess of two years ago. Since the first estimate, made in 1956, the figures have increased $327 million, or 57 percent.

Maybe the smart thing to do with this program would be to lay it on the shelf for a few years and then take a new look at the whole problem. It is the opinion of competent engineers that millions of dollars are being wasted in the construction of elaborate overpasses, underpasses and cloverleafs that could not be justified in terms of traffic needs in the foreseeable future. And it might be well to pause for a while just to check on what is being paid for right-of-way in some of the areas.

One thing is certain and that is that the rest of the road building program in the state should not be curtailed in the interests of the interstate system. And the interstate system should be built only as money is available. We were promised that this system would be built without borrowing and that is a promise that should be kept.

Too Much Patience?

Cuba's bewhiskered Castro is becoming increasingly difficult. Accepted as a modern Robin Hood who would restore justice in his country, he has developed into an international irritant and now is moving into the field of power politics, aligning himself openly with the Khrushchev crowd.

No doubt Khrushchev would pay well for his services and the right to establish bases within such easy striking distance of our country. The islands would be well suited for the purposes of propaganda, beamed to the Spanish speaking areas of Latin America. Considering the facts along with the possibilities, we can no longer shrug Castro off as just another neighborhood nuisance. We will have to recognize him as a menace and as a threat to our safety.

We have been very patient with him but there is reason to believe that our patience is now being looked upon as weakness.

Under the circumstances it would appear that the sooner we quit subsidizing his economy with American tourist and sugar dollars the less favorable will be his chances for survival.

Expendable

President Eisenhower isn't going to convince the radical minority in Japan that they are wrong but his presence is going to strengthen the morale of the majority and make it easier for the friendly government to remain in power. And his visit to Japan under present conditions is going to strengthen the morale of people in free nations thruout the world.

There has been some question as to whether the President should make this trip under present conditions. It is a dangerous mission, of course, and the President will expose himself to the foolishness of fanatics. But Ike is a good soldier and he no doubt has weighed carefully the possible consequences both of going and not going. He has decided that in the best interests of the cause he is championing he must take the risk and that it is a risk only he can take.

Good soldier that he is, he knows that he too is expendable.

Comrade K

Comrade Khrushchev continues to blow hot and cold from day to day and we never know what to expect from him next. We suspect however that he is putting on an act for the home folks and that by turning somersaults and handsprings in his own front yard he hopes to distract the attention of his neighbors from his failures abroad.

At the present time he is jubilant because of the anti-American demonstrations in Japan and looks upon them as a sure sign that the Far East is ready to turn to the Communists for direction and leadership. That may be the right approach for a cheerleader but it doesn't sound like a statement by a responsible head of a powerful government. The real leaders generally do not make statements that are obviously foolish.

And that causes us to wonder if Mr. K. is not just one of the clowns working for the real boss of the Communists. His recent antics suggest that he may be a little concerned about how long it will be before he is given a diplomatic post in some village in Siberia.

Will We Survive?

Now we have heard everything. The International Ladies Garment Workers Union has called a strike that has idled four Virginia plants. The union leadership is not complaining about wages or working conditions. The shut-down has been ordered because the company is involved in the building of an apparel factory in Ireland. The union wants the company to protect the members against possible loss of their jobs.

This sounds crazy but it isn't funny. This is a fair example of the fuzzy thinking of many American labor organizations. They have not yet reconciled themselves to the fact that we must compete with the workers and producers of other countries.

We can isolate ourselves from the rest of the world behind a Chinese wall and decline into obscurity as the Chinese did. But sooner or later, and probably very soon, we are going to be confronted with the cold, hard facts of life. If we are going to maintain our position as a leading industrial nation we will have to remain competitive.

That means, whether we like it or not, we will have to remain competitive with the workers of Ireland, Japan, Germany, and, eventually Africa.

Whether we like it or not, we have a problem of survival on our hands.

Congolese Freedom

June 30th will be Independence Day for the people of the Belgian Congo. The Belgian Congo is a vast area in central Africa, nearly four times larger than the state of Texas. It is peopled by fewer than 100,000 whites and an estimated 12 million natives, loosely organized in many tribes among whom there is no common language and little common interest.

For the natives liberty will have little meaning. Most of them have lived in a primitive state with their simple needs provided by nature. Some, comparatively few, have adapted themselves to the ways of the white man and have learned to like the things money can buy. But none has had experience in government, and independence and liberty could not come to the peoples of any vast area so ill prepared to govern themselves.

In some ways the Belgians were the most benevolent of all the European nations that established colonies in Africa. In the cities, and in the areas where the natives were employed, they were provided with good living quarters and were well treated. But there was no democracy in the Belgian Congo, even for the whites, and the natives were at best a serving class. They learned trades but few of them advanced in the professions.

It is unfortunate that self-government is coming to them so suddenly. It would have been better for the natives, as well as for the whites, if self-government had been provided for as a gradual process. Coming as it does, the Belgian Congo probably will break up into a number of smaller kingdoms under the leadership of tribal strong men, and the processes of civilization will have to start all over again.

What will happen to Leopoldville and several other beautiful, modern cities? The whites will be dealing with mobs and mobs do not restrain themselves. Our guess is that if the whites survive it will be because they will have defended themselves well.

The official guidebook of the Belgian Congo tourist bureau warns visitors that the average native cannot handle his liquor. It states:

> "He is of happy disposition and loves music and dancing. In fact almost anything will serve as an excuse for singing and dancing. However he soon becomes quarrelsome, spiteful and cruel when he is drunk and he has a weakness for fermented beverages."

And the jungle makes available to the natives a juice that ferments quickly. It may be assumed that there will be ample supplies of this fermented juice available to them for the Independence Day celebrations. The transition to freedom is not likely to be peaceful and pleasant.

(Wall Street Journal)

John Dewey, the Columbia University educator-philosopher, believed that great social changes required new teaching methods to help students adjust to new conditions. Dewey disciples, anxious to expand the master's theories, went much further in promoting such disciplines as auto driving, handicrafts and similar pursuits. Many of these disciples, as might be expected, hailed from Columbia, so that venerable institution soon became closely identified with the work of the "progressives."

The efforts of these innovators quickly left their mark. But it was not until Russia's scientific successes a few years ago that the nation began wondering in earnest if American youngsters were geting a solid grounding in fundamental studies. Several searching inspections of teaching practices in the U.S. have shown the price of classroom frills to be a downgrading in the quality of basic education.

Considering the history of the "progressive" education movement in this country and its sorry results, it is interesting to note a recent address by Dr. John H. Fischer, dean of Teachers College, Columbia University.

Dr. Fischer declared that schools should stress the "intellectual competence of the students rather than concentrating on entertainment, civic development and charitable enterprises."

The dean added: "The argument is sometimes offered that since the school teaches the whole child, it must therefore be responsible for all of the services the child needs in his development. This, he said, "makes no practical sense" unless we want our schools to be the only "child-serving agency of the community." Dr. Fischer tered this latter alternative "unacceptable."

Well, one swallow doesn't make a summer, but after hearing remarks like these from Dr. Fischer we're moved to hope that a change of season is at hand.

Canoeists & Campers Enjoy Northern Area

It's a rare vacationer who takes a canoe trip or pitches a tent in northern Minnesota's wilderness without thoroughly enjoying the outing.

More than nine out of 10 canoeists and campers in the Superior National forest recently told social scientists that they were satisfied with the experience. The most common regret—noted by a fourth of the persons interviewed—was that they hadn't stayed longer or covered a longer route.

The survey was directed by Marvin Taves, University of Minnesota rural sociologist, and James Morgan, forest economist at the Lake States Forest Experiment station, St. Paul. The study is reported in the current issue of "Minnesota Farm and Home Science," a University Agricultural Experiment station publication.

Interviewed were 263 canoeists on the trails and 120 persons who pitched tents in established campground areas. Purpose of the survey was to learn who goes camping and canoeing, and when they go and why.

About half of the persons interviewed said a canoe country vacation gives them a chance to leave the cares of the work-a-day world behind. A third said it helps gain experience through "doing things by one's self." Other common responses were "it helps develop foresight," (30 per cent) and "helps one get close to the Creator" (29 per cent).

The surveyors learned right off that this rugged vacationing is not just a male sport. Forty per cent of the campers and 20 per cent of the canoeists were women.

Nor were these outdoor types all youngsters. More than a third of the campers and a fourth of the canoeists were at least 45, and half were between 25 and 44. More than half of all vacationers were married, although a higher percentage of the men were single than was true of women.

Camping is a group-type vacation, Taves and Morgan found. A tenth of the groups in the study were father-son combinations, while one in six were parents with one or more children and another one in six parents were parents only.

A third of the groups consisted exclusively of men, but only a few parties consisted entirely of women.

People who take to the wilderness think about it for months—both before and after the trip. The majority started planning at least two months before the outing and continued to think and chat about it for several months afterwards.

The vacationers weren't all seasoned campers; only half had camped or canoed in the Superior National forest at least once before.

While campers or canoeists had few complaints, the main gripes that were reported had to do with insects, bad weather and littered campsites. About one in 20 was disappointed with the fishing or was apprehensive about bears.

One of the main purposes of the survey was to get ideas on wilderness management, and the campers and canoeists had some ideas about that, too. Almost everyone wanted the forest left in the "natural state." But many campers also wanted improvements—wells, firewood, toilets, garbage disposal and other facilities. Both groups felt that other users of the area should be educated to leave campsites in better condition.

Canoeists suggested that canoe routes be marked better. They also wanted maps and reconnaissance to watch for people in trouble.

Dairy Products & Eggs Are Good Buys

'U' M. Marketing Agent Also Recommends Beef

Fill your market basket with dairy products, if you're looking for good buys this week.

Since this is the season of peak milk production, look for specials on such dairy products as ice cream, cheese and sour cream. But regardless of price, milk and other dairy products supply invaluable nutrients for the money spent, according to Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota.

Eggs are probably the best buy in protein foods this week, Mrs. Loomis says. She suggests planning a hot weather meal around a platter of deviled eggs.

Arm or blade pot roasts, chuck steaks, ground beef, liver, tongue and heart are other good protein buys. Blade roasts cost about 10 cents less per pound than arm roasts. Chuck steaks, suitable for grilling outdoors, are the lowest priced of various steak cuts on the market. Another possibility for outdoor barbecuing is ground beef — shaped into round patties or balls for kebabs, Mrs. Loomis suggests.

If you're planning a family reunion, turkey is an excellent buy. Planning to serve chicken salad? Then you'll find whole canned chicken convenient and relatively inexpensive. One can of whole chicken should provide enough meat for six salads.

Scallops continue to be plentiful and the best buy in sea food.

For tossed salad, enjoy the various kinds of lettuce on the market—leaf, Bibb and Iceberg, combined with escarole and endive for flavor. Iceberg lettuce from California and Arizona is abundant and of excellent quality, Mrs. Loomis reports.

Homegrown asparagus is still available.

Bananas are among the best fruit buys. Charleston Grey watermelons are now on the market.

Law Enforcement Officers Week Set

Week of June 20 to 26 Proclaimed by Governor

"One of the most significant of the many commemorative periods was proclaimed by Governor Orville L. Freeman recently," Harry A. Sieben, state highway safety director, said today. "I am referring to the week of June 20-26, proclaimed as Law Enforcement Officers Week."

"I hope that citizens throughout our state will join together in honoring the many peace officers who have been serving their comunities with great loyalty and integrity," Sieben said.

"I have been privileged often in the past to work closely with our sheriffs, their deputies, with local police chiefs and their officers. I have found their cooperation and adherance to duty most gratifying. Theirs is often a most difficult and trying job which they perform willingly day after day. It is most fitting that we take the time to give credit to these officers who give us protection all hours of the day and night."

WILDLIFE in Minnesota by JIM KIMBALL

June is the traditional month of graduation, and graduation is the occasion for oratory, speeches, talks and commencement addresses. These addresses will be given by honor students and venerable "old grads" who have climbed the ladder of success. For the most part these speeches will extol the virtues of hard work, honest endeavor, dependability, loyalty and all the other desirable traits we week in our fellow man.

Some of the talks may dwell on the responsibilities of citizenship and may wisely point out that man's inventive genius alone is not enough to save him from self-destruction. Creative genius cannot save a nation if its politics and leadership become corrupt or lacks resourcefulness at the conference table.

We are a generation of marvelous mechanics but all is lost if our graduating classes do not produce some masters of human relations—some statesmen.

The greatness of America will be a major topic in these June speeches but little, if any, mention will be made of conservation. True, at graduation time we are talking of America's greatest resources—the human resource.

But do we truly believe that the greatness of our country has resulted primarily from a superior man? Or did this nation grow strong because it had its roots in fertile soils surrounded and nourished by abundant clean water, clean air, abundant minerals, great forests, bountiful wildlife and the beauty and solace of nature as it was created.

Is it not possible that the people of the down-trodden nations of this earth would have achieved greatness had they been blessed with America's natural resources?

So, for the good of us all and of the nation we love, we pray that in the class of 1960 all of the scientific genius will not be channeled into the creation of rockets and bombs — we need some of it to teach us how better to conserve and perpetuate the resources which nourish us. Let us pray, too, that all of our youth who excell in logic, good judgment and the understanding of their fellow man will not be lured into the professions which are more lucrative but which may not offer the satisfaction that comes with service.

We need them as dedicated career public servants, as foreign diplomats, and as state and national political leaders. This, too, is conservation—conservation of the human race.

sufficient unto the day

Are you a worry expert?

Some people gather up all the worries of the past and combine them with the anxieties of the future. These they add to the burdens of the present — a huge bundle indeed.

What a difference it would make in their peace and happiness if they could take each day as it comes.

Jesus said, "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof." He not only taught but He lived this lesson. Toil and misunderstanding filled the days of His ministry. Yet He met each one with calm assurance. Forgetting the past, He faced each tomorrow with inward peace.

This peace He willed to His followers through all the ages. Come to church and learn how to make this heritage your own.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ASC Advises on Compliance With Soil Bank

No Notice Will Be Given If Acreage Limits Are Obeyed

Any farmer who is found to be in compliance with his acreage allotments or Soil Bank permitted acreage when performance is checked on his farm this season will not receive a written notice, ASC county office manager Patrick W. Culkins announced today.

Farmers who have excess acreage at the time of the performance check will receive notice of this excess and will be notified of the deadline date for disposing of excess acres. As permitted by regulations, the State committee has eleced not to mail notices to farm operators who are found to be in compliance.

Culkins also said that the county ASC office should be notified whenever farm land which involves an acreage allotment or a Conservation Reserve contract is bought or sold.

There are certain regulations concerning the combination and division of farms which must be carried out whenever land with acreage allotments changes hands. Notification of the county office will enable the necessary changes to be made on office records.

In many cases, Mr. Culkins said, it is even better if the ASC office can be consulted before the farm real estate deal is closed. This may prevent later misunderstandings as to how allotments or Conservation Reserve contracts may be affected.

Red Lake Falls to Fete New Trailer Plant June 24-25

City-wide Celebration to Honor Alma Trailer Plant, Now Employing 65

Red Lake Falls residents will turn out Friday and Saturday to welcome their newest and largest industry, Alma Trailer Co.

The Alma days celebration will include a parade down Main St. Friday night and an open house at the factory all day Saturday. Pony rides and free coffee, doughnuts and candy will be handed out by several business firms.

The trailer plant, employing 65, was established last October as the result of a lead obtained by the industrial committee of the Red Lake Falls Commercial club.

Later a development corporation, capitalized at $50,000, was set up to acquire the 40,000-square-foot former tow mill plant site, remodel it and lease it to Alma.

The company hopes to increase production from two to four mobile homes a day this summer, boosting employment to 75.

In addition to providing new economic strength to the city, a spokesman said, the firm has encouraged at least two other firms in the area to supply material and parts.

Drawers for built-in dressers come from Woodland Industries, Greenbush, and Brodin Sheet Metal Works, Thief River Falls, is providing heating ducts.

HARRY A. BRUMUND

Harry A. Brumund, long-time owner of the Thief River Falls hotel bearing his name, and active in civic affairs, died Friday noon in West Palm Beach, Florida, where he and Mrs. Brumund had lived the past ten years or more after having spent many winters in the Florida city. He was 91 years old.

Messages received by friends here stated that funeral services would be conducted in West Palm Beach Tuesday afternoon, June 21.

Erskine Carnival Sunday Drew 5,000

A huge list of attractions, aided by almost-perfect weather, resulted in record crowds attending the 15th annual Water Carnival at Erskine Sunday. Attendance throughout the day was estimated at over 500 persons, according to Kenneth Hole, publisher of the Erskine Echo.

Among the various activities were water ski events on Lake Cameron, a horseshoe tournament, a golf tournament at the Winn-E-Mac golf course, a fishing tournament on Badger lake north of Erskine, two parades and a water fight between the McIntosh and Erskine fire departments.

Also on hand were the McIntosh, Fosston and Erskine bands, which presented concerts as well as providing march music for the kiddie parade at 4:30 p.m. and the torchlight parade at 10 p.m.

Activities got under way with a ball game between Erskine and Gonvick, with Gonvick putting a slight damper on the spirit of things by beating the home town team 7 to 5.

Two speakers also added to the festivities, representing each of the two parties in the state. They were Lieut. Gov. Karl Rolvaag and Val Bjornson, state treasurer.

Large crowds also attended the Midway of Fun shows along the Lake Cameron waterfront, just south of the city's business section.

The gown was designed and sewed by the bride. She wore a finger-tip veil, held in place by a crown of pearls and sequins and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Ordell Aunenson, Jr., of Fosston, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Nadine Peters, of Fosston, sister of the bride, served as bridesmaid. Their street length dresses of mint green and pink respectively, were styled similar to the brides. They wore net hats and white gloves and carried matching bouquets of pink roses and white carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris Sessions were the host and hostess for the reception following the ceremony given in the church dinning room for 150 friends and relatives. The bridal table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake topped with fresh pink carnations and cut and served by Mrs. Elmer Ferguson of Heron Lake, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Harry Yergens, of Fosston. Mrs. Harry Wall, of Henderson, Neb., and Mrs. Walter Hucks, of Montevideo, aunt of the groom, poured, while Karen and Jackie Lindenberg, Clara Johnson and Pamela Mark, all of Fosston, served as waitresses.

Mrs. Ralph Christianson, of Milan, and Mrs. Arliss Lamaack, of Westbrook, were at the gift table and Muriel Peterson, of this city, was at the guest book.

For their trip to Duluth, the bride chose a two piece rust dress with white accessories.

OUR FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Looking back over our first year in the Thief River Falls community, we wish to express our sincere appreciation for the many courtesies that have been extended to us.

As successors to the Gulbransons we acquired very complete and well arranged funeral facilities. More important, we assumed responsibility for maintaining a reputation for service that was well established.

Getting acquainted in a new community is, and should be, a slow procedure. Now, after our first year, we feel 'at home' and, frankly, we like it here. We feel that we are being accepted, and that is a very comforting feeling.

Thank you sincerely for your many kindnesses.

Asks Inspection of Stored Grain

Marshall ASC Asks Check of Grain Stored on Farm

With summer heat beginning, Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee, today reminded farmers of the importance of inspecting any price-support grain they have stored on their farms for insect damage. If any evidence of damage is found, immediate steps should be taken to correct the situation, Johnson said.

While price-support loans are made on a nonrecourse basis, the farmer is responsible for the condition of the stored grain and must deliver grain of the same grade and quality as that placed under loan in order to settle the loan in full.

John said his office has recently received word from U.S. Department of Agriculture research indicating that the chemical Malathion is a safe and economical treatment for low levels of insect infestation and damage in stored grain.

Researchers report that a Malathion spray or dust, applied at the time of storage, will effectively protect grain for a full storage season, provided recommended procedures are followed. Studies show that Malthion has no effect on the odor or flavor of bread made from treated wheat. They also show that it does not impair germination of seed or grain.

Thieves Score 11 to 1 Victory over Winger

Although each team banged out seven base hits in the Northern Minny league game played here Sunday afternoon, the Thieves, getting steadier pitching from righthander Bob Hallameck, trounced the Winger Tigers, 11 to 1. Gene Hanson, a righthander, on the mound for Winger, matched Hallameck in the strikeout department, with each hurler collecting eleven whiffers, but Hanson doled out fourteen walks while Hallameck issued but four passes.

The Thieves picked up a pair of runs in the first inning on an infield hit by Dale Klungness and bases on balls to Harley Drees, Arlan Hjelle, Hallameck, and Charlie Kankel. In the second, walks to Dale Klungness and Derwood (Swede) Lund, a wild pitch and Hjelle's infield hit, plated another pair of runs. Lund, who is attending summer school at North Dakota U, was making his first apperance in a Thieves' uniform for the past several years. Swede banged out a two-run double in the seventh inning when the Thieves erupted for five runs.

Winger averted a whitewashing by scoring a tally in the second inning. Marv Olson led off with a scratch hit to short stop; Martin Ostby grounded to Paul Klungness, and Olson was forced at second base. Arvid Sonstelle struck out; Keith Sannes walked; Gene Hanson singled to left field, and when Dale Klungness, in a hurry to make the throw to the plate, fumbled the ball, Ostby raced home with the lone Winger tally.

The Thieves will travel to Bagley next Sunday night for a game against the Bagley Merchants. This game is the re-scheduling of the postponed game of May 29.

Aqua Follies Set for Minneapolis

To Be Staged July 12-14 in Theodore Wirth Pool

Headed by two bright new All-American stars and a supporting cast of veteran diving performers who have thrilled Minnesotans in previous summers, the Aqua Follies will return to the Theodore Wirth Pool in Minneapolis July 13-24.

Betty Vickers, women's synchronized swimming All-American, and Joe Gerlach, Hungarian-born All-American from the University of Michigan, will turn professional to appear in featured roles in the Aqua Follies, producer Al Sheehan announced.

In addition to being named to the All-American team, Gerlach won the diving championships of the AAU and Big Ten last year. In 1956 as a member of the Hungarian team before coming to the United States for his education, Gerlach finished fourth in the Olympics at Melbourne.

Miss Vickers, a specialist in swimming style and stunt performing, likewise was named All-American last year and winner of the Helms award for synchronized excellence.

Another star turning professional to appear in the Follies is Dick Kimball, the Rochester, Minn., diver who won collegiate laurels at Michigan with Gerlach.

The greatest collection of divers in the world, stars of previous Aqua Follies with their daring diving and zany clowning, are returning to startle and amuse Aquatennial visitors.

Green Bugs Damage Some State Crops

Infestation, However, Is Repuorted to Be Light

Even though green bugs have been reported in several counties in Minnesota, farmers were advised today that damage to oats and other grain would be light in most cases.

That word comes from John Lofgren, extension entomologist at the University of Minnesota, and J. R. Sandve, entomologist for the Minnesota department of agriculture. Rechecks of some fields show a smaller population present now than a few days earlier.

Recent rains and hot weather are probably responsible for the reduction in numbers. Heavy rains can knock the tiny bugs off of the plants and many aren't able to get back. Lady bird beetles, syrphid flies and lace wing flies — natural enemies of the green bug—have been able to build up enough in the warm weather to help keep the pests in check.

Green bugs are sap-sucking aphids which attack oats, wheat and other small grains. They multiply rapidly during cool weather. The aphids cause leaves to turn yellow and reddish and can eventually kill the entire plant. Damage may be compounded by virus diseases—such as red leaf in oats—which the aphids may transmit.

But don't jump to conclusions if your grain fields are uneven and plants have yellow and brown leaves. Extension soils specialists at the University say this could be a result of nutrient shortages caused by fertility, poor utilization of nutrients, poor drainage and low temperatures earlier this spring.

Lofgren says damage this year will be light compared to the $3.1 million the green bugs cost Minnesota farmers last year.

So far, only one field has been found with a heavy enough infestation to require spraying. And red leaf in oats probably won't be as severe as last year.

Opposes Spending for Pool Room at Bemidji College

Students at Bemidji State college can get along without a $1,600 remodeling job on a ping pong and pool room, a state college official contends.

John Glas, assistant to the president at Bemidji, said Wednesday the money would be spent to put in new lighting, walls, floor and acoustical ceiling in a dormitory room used for recreation.

"If we provide more facilities for playing ping pong and pool," said S. J. Kryzsko of Winona, Minn., president of the state college board, "then students will spend more time playing ping pong and pool. Let's deny them some of these things and maybe they'll spend more time studying."

The proposal went back to the boards consulting architect for more study.

In a game played on Thursday evening, the Bums entered the win column by scoring a 4 to 3 win over the Vets.

Bums and Thieves Win Sunday Games

Bums Defeat Grygla 7-2; Thieves Whip Winger

In baseball league play in this area on Sunday the city's two senior baseball clubs, the Thieves and the Bums, scored victories. In Northern Minny league games played on Sunday, Thief River Falls scored an 11 to 1 win over Winger; Fosston upset a favored Cass Lake club, 5 to 4; and Gonvick edged out Erskine, 10 to 9.

In Pen-Ro-Shall league competition, the Bums defeated Grygla, 7-2. In a game played at Grygla; Badger marked up a 15-2 win over Goodridge; and Greenbush, poling out three "grand slam" home runs, defeated the Plummer Red Sox, 24-7.

Next Saturday's Northern Minny league schedule will find Fosston playing at Winger, Erskine at Cass Lake, and Bagley at Gonvick, all afternoon games; and in a night game at Bagley, Thief River Falls will play the Bagley Merchants in the rescheduling of the postponed game of May 29.

In Pen-Ro-Shall play for Sunday, Grygla will play the Bums at Thief River Falls, Goodridge will be at Badger, and Greenbush will play at Plummer.

Jaycees and Car Dealers Praised

Lauded by Safety Council for Arranging Car Check

The Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Automobile Dealers association of Thief River Falls were formally complimented for their efforts in the recent volunteer car check by the Pennington safety council at its meeting in the Rex Cafe Monday, June 6.

Loren Borsheim of the Jaycees reported that 497 cars were checked and that roughly one-half of them had some type of defect.

Police Chief Elton Cummings reported on an ordinance prohibiting high hedges from obscuring the vision of motorists at intersections and Sheriff Charles Richards stated that Mayor Orin Green would be at the next meeting of the council to report on the governor's safety meeting.

Bicycle safety was discussed and there is a possibility that a long range program will be started in the community.

Joseph Seidel, county engineer, was complimented by Sheriff Richards, president of the council, for the excellent job he has done and the improvements of county highways as a result of new signs being set up.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

The League's Best?

After a look at the seven teams competing in the Northern Minny league this season it appears that manager Bob Montabello's Cass Lake squad is entitled to be ranked as the league favorite.

Cass Lake has looked very impressive in their league games to date, and if their two southpaws, neither of whom are very robust and physically overwhelming, can continue to pitch "cute" baseball, the Lakers should finish one-two.

Manager Montabello, who is the Bemidji State college baseball coach, has a veteran and mature squad of players. There isn't a kid in the lineup.

And what makes the Cass Lake club so appealing to the odds-makers is the hitting strength of the Laker batting order. There isn't a soft touch in the lineup. Facing the Thieves last Sunday was this batting order: Bob Kennedy, Harold Annett, Russ Smith, Bob Montabello, Rod South, Paul Gravel, Jerry Daniels, Ron Gangelhoff, and Roger Perling.

Of this group, Gravel and Perling and Montabello are the nonnatives in the lineup. Gravel and Montabello are from Bemidji, and Perling is from International Falls via BSC. That Gravel is the famed "Gabby" who is wellknown to local Prowler fans and athletes of several seasons ago.

While Smith and Montabello and South are the reputed "power" hitters of the Cass Lake, in the games to date Daniels has been doing the most damage. Against Winger a couple of Sunday's ago, Jerry poled out a pair of home runs.

The Lakers will be here for a Sunday afternoon game on July 24.

A Big Thursday

Four of the city's competitive teams will be rating this Thursday as one of the most important on the calendar. And rightly, too.

We're referring to the Bridgeman's vs. Hartz softball game at the East Side diamond; and the Ben Franklin vs. Times trapshooting match at the trapshooting grounds north of town. The outcome of the two encounters will have a bearing on the respective softball and trapshooting league leads.

The softball tilt will find the Hartz Stores and their pair of pitchers, Kermit Malberg and Ham Myhrer, attempting to turn back the high-riding Bridgeman's and John Drury.

In a doubleheader played last Tuesday evening, Drury, turning back the years, pitched manager Lowell Collins' club to victories over the Len's and the Hamm's. It appears that the Bridgeman's, with Bobby Carlson playing first base and Drury pitching, are vulnerable to a bunting attack down the first base line. Of course, the Hartz batters may have trouble getting the bat on Drury's slingshot delivery.

And in the north end of town on Thursday, the Times will have their troubles in defeating Gene Gaer's Ben Franklin trapshooting squad. The two teams are deadlocked for the league lead, and the match on Thursday will conclude the first round of play and install the winner as the favorite to win the league championship. This Ben Franklin squad — Gene Gaer, Bob Baker, Dr. Jim Disse, Bill Ranta, Bill Pederson, Dr. Ralph Helm, and Don Lawrence — will be tough to beat on Thursday.

The Times, in the six matches to date, have amassed a total of 716 points, for an average of 119. The Franklins, in six matches, have collected 698 points, for an average of 116.

That three-bird bulge in the averages won't make the Times' squad over-confident, of that we can be sure. Probably the best strategy for the Times on Thursday would be to extend invitations to Jim Disse, Bill Ranta, Bob Baker, Ralph Helm, and couple of the others, for an out-of-town fishing trip!

Improvements

An item in the Bemidji Sentinel advises that the Bemidji Curling club will make a 176x46 addition to their curling rink this summer. This addition, made possible through the funds received on the insurance of an old rink that collapsed some years ago, will give the Bemidji curlers a six-sheet rink.

And it is planned to have ice-making facilities installed in the rink this summer, too. With these artificial ice sheets, Bemidji should be an attraction for Iron Range and Canadian curlers.

Population Total of U.S. Near 180 Million

The census bureau said Thursday the population of the United States has reach 179½ million, having increased by more than 28 million in the last 10 years.

It came up with this rough total, still subject to revision, on the basis of counts of 17,733,190 persons and estimates of those still to be tabulated.

The vast increase of 28 million since 1950, a record for any decade, was attributed to a soaring birthrate and a continued low death rate, rather than to such factors as immigration.

In the 10 years between 1940 and 1950 the increase was 19 million. In the 1930-1940 depression decade, the increase of 8,900,000.

The nation's 10 largest states in 1960, on the basis of the preliminary tabulation, in order: New York, California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio, Texas, Michigan, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Florida.

Florida recorded a 76.6 per cent population gain in the last 10 years, to lead all the states in this category. Nevada was the No. 2 gainer on a percentage basis, with a climb of 75.8 per cent to 281,348.

Minnesota's population rose from 2,982,483 in 1950 to 3,393,302 in 1960, an increase of 13.77 per cent. North Dakota's rose from 619,636 to 626,796, up 1.18 per cent. South Dakota's rise was from 652,740 to 676,738, an increase of 3.68 per cent. Wisconsin's population rose from 3,434,575 to 3,925,854, a 14.36 per cent increase.

Population losses were reported for West Virginia, Arkansas, Mississippi and the District of Columbia.

Minnesota Ranks 3d in Pedestrian Safety

Minnesota tied for third place in its population division in the 21st annual Pedestrian Safety program sponsored by the American Automobile association (AAA). Minnesota tied with with Massachusetts behind winning Connecticut and second place Colorado for its pedestrian safety activities in 1959.

From 1956 through 1958 Minnesota had ranked second in the national program.

"Traffic accidents killed 118 pedestrians in the state last year," said Supreme Court Justice Thomas Gallagher, president of the Minnesota Safety Council and AAA Pedestrian Program representative for Minnesota. "This was an increase of 10 pedestrian deaths over 1958 which had the lowest number of pedestrian fatalities in the state in the past five year."

The number of pedestrians injured rose slightly from 1,975 in 1958 to 1,981 last year.

Gallagher, who was given special recognition by AAA "for outstanding leadership in pedestrian safety," cited two Minnesota communities for "taking constructive steps" in pedestrian safety. These cities—Thief River Falls and Fairmont — received special citations from AAA for their pedestrian programs.

Use Chlordane to Control Ants in House or Outside

Having ant troubles?

University of Minnesota's extension entomologist John Lofgren has some remedies to suggest.

Drench each ant hill with liquid chlordane concentrate or chlordane wettable powder mixed with water. If the ant hills are so close together in the lawn or in the garden that it is impossible to treat each one separately, broadcast a chlordane spray, or spread the granular form of chlordane with a lawn spreader.

To control ants in the house, Lofgren suggests a ready-to-use household grade two per cent liquid chlordane or ½ per cent dieldrin. Apply the chlordane or dieldrin with a paint brush. Treat baseboards, the edge of the counter and other areas where you see the ants travel. Treat the nest area also, if it is possible to locate it.

"The highest result of education is tolerance. Long ago men fought and died for their faith; but it took ages to teach them the other kind of courage — the courage to recognize the faiths of their brethren and their rights of conscience. Tolerance is the first principle of community; it is the spirit which conserves the best that all men think. No loss by flood and lightning, no destruction of cities and temples by the hostile forces of nature has deprived man so many noble lives and impulses as those which his intolerance has destroyed."

Friendly Filipinos

In his speech to the Philippine Congress last week, President Eisenhower reminded the rising smaller nations of Asia of the virtues of "constructive nationalism" and the contribution each of them can make to the world. Referring to colonialism he stated that since 1945, "33 countries that were once subject to Western control have peaceably achieved self-determination." In contrast to this free world record, "twelve countries have been forcibly deprived of their independence" by the Communist bloc, he stated.

For the President this visit to the Philippines was a welcome homecoming. Over a period of four years he had served in the Islands a quarter of a century ago, and the ovation he received upon his arrival helped a great deal to relieve the disappointment of Japan.

The Philippines served as an excellent sounding board from which to remind the people of Asia of our record in dealing with colonies. The record refutes completely and effectively the charges of Communist leaders that we have imperialistic designs, and our good relations with the islanders before and after they secured complete independence is the best kind of a testimonial to our unselfish interest in their development.

Costly Wrench Sets

Senator Paul Douglas took out after the Army and Navy recently, charging them with wasteful spending. He said he could buy a wrench set in an auto supply store for $3.89 that the Army was paying $29 for. The Navy had bought 500 lamp sockets for $10,550 which he priced at a retail store at only $125. He included the Air Force in a general statement charging that extravagant purchasing costs the Defense Department two to three billion dollars a year.

This is a campaign year, and these charges by Senator Douglas will be laughed off as just some more campaign oratory. And maybe it is. But we are satisfied that what he says is basically true and similar charges could have been directed at almost any department of our government during any administration.

Government is wasteful. We are certain that appropriations for state and federal services could be cut 10 per cent without forcing a curtailment of any essential service if the affairs of the government were well managed. Those things come only as a result of taxpayers' revolts. But for the time being, the spenders seem to be secure in the driver's seat.

Good Neighbors Meeting

The recent visit of Canada's Prime Ministers Diefenbaker to Washington, and his talks with President Eisenhower, attracted little attention. This visit, nevertheless, was tremendously important and probably should have had more publicity than it received. As good neighbors with whom we have so many things in common, we probably are too much inclined to take our friendship for granted.

In recent years there have been some disturbing differences in our relations with Canada. We are competitive commercially and we both have farm surplus problems. We have a common interest in continental defense and in the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, but we are not equal partners in terms of cost and command, and harmony has not always prevailed. The Diefenbaker government came into power with a Canada-for-Canadians program that represented an understandable fear of American control of Canadian industries and resources.

In terms of our many common interests these differences are trivial, but they have been irritating to many good people on both sides of the international border. And the Diefenbaker talks with Eisenhower were of great importance because these differences were discussed frankly, and as a result, there is a better understanding of each others problems.

In the increased confusion of so many of our international relationships it is most encouraging to read the Canadian reactions to the recent meeting of their Prime Minister with our President. Typical is the following comment by the Ottawa Journal:

> "Canadians must have liked the way in which Washington welcomed their Prime Minister; a welcome of extraordinary warmth, revealing not merely the esteem in which Americans hold Mr. Diefenbaker, but the measure of their deep friendship for Canada.
> "And we liked the way Mr. Diefenbaker reported on his welcome; a report not marred by vainglorious adjectives, but with the nouns and verbs of facts.
> "It would have been easy for Mr. Diefenbaker to have had his head turned by that Washington guard of honor and 19-gun salute, to strike the pose of the conquering hero who had "talked turkey" to Eisenhower. What Mr. Diefenbaker gave the Commons instead was a factual report on what had happened and what was said when a friend called upon friends and was able to talk to them with candor.
> "This is so much better, so much more manly and realistic than the role some would have had Mr. Diefenbaker play: the role of descending upon Washington with a chip on his shoulder, breathing fire and brimstone about our "sovereignty."
> "Our sovereignty is not in danger, and won't be if we are sensible. Where our real danger lies is in the notion, seemingly held by some, that we should be strutting about with the airs of a Big Power, or in the notion that Americans stay awake at night plotting against our future.
> "Canada is not a Big Power, and fear about Americans wanting to gobble us up, first economically and then politically, is just nightmarish nonsense.

Foreign Languages

Dr. Benjamin Fine, education editor of the North American Newspaper Alliance, reports that a sweeping revision of the nation's foreign language teaching program is in the making. At a recent meeting of a committee of 'eminent educators' changes were recommended that would entirely revamp language teaching from elementary grades through high school. Among them were these suggestions:

1. Gifted students should start a foreign language course in the third grade and continue with it for 10 years, or until they finished high school.
2. The common practice of taking a foreign language for two years should be discontinued. All college-bound students would be required to take at least one language for four years.
3. New teaching methods should be introduced with the emphasis on hearing, speaking, reading and writing, rather than on grammar translation.

These suggestions are not new but they will bear repeating. Our schools are now placing more emphasis on foreign languages than they did before Sputnik, but present courses are admittedly inadequate. One of the obvious shortcomings of the program here and elsewhere is the lack of competent teachers. Too many of our present teachers are the products of the pre-Sputnik era of our public education and that explains many of our deficiencies.

But this is not an insurmountable problem in a foreign language program. Excellent teachers are available in Europe, men and women who speak several languages fluently and are well grounded in English. We are certain that an excellent foreign language teacher could be brought to Thief River Falls from Europe, one who would be qualified to conduct classes at all grade levels.

The difficulty, as we have sensed it, would be to get the consent of our Minnesota education authorities. They do not warm up to the idea of foreign competition in this field. But we believe it would be worth trying. The school authorities have been known to act reasonably.

Just to keep the record straight, summer is now arriving and will be with us the next three months. We hope we enjoy her company. Spring has been wonderful.

A former champion boxer told a Senate committee last week that a fight he lost in Madison Square Garden in 1947 was fixed. He was only play-acting, he said, when the referee stopped the match in the fourth round and gave the nod to his opponent. Well, are we supposed to act surprised?

Census bureau officials modestly admit that they were remarkably right in their guess that our population now would number 180 million. That was last week's total. By 1980, we are assured, there will be 252 million of us, we say hopefully. If our medical advisor would suggest that we might live that long, and if the Civil Defense boys who are struggling manfully to help us survive against terrific odds, would give us some encouragement, we would be inclined to pick up a few quarter sections of pasture land.

The Westbury Case

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The Westbury, New York, school board acted with questionable wisdom when it withheld two academic awards from a graduating high school boy because he refused to accept an American Legion citizenship award.

The board said Stephen Bayne, president of the high school's student organization and winner of prizes in music, Spanish and science, "did not exemplify the highest type of leadership" and was not worthy of prizes in history and English which he had won. These were presented to two other students who subsequently returned them after discovering they were, in reality, second choices.

It is not clear from news accounts just what policies of the Legion Stephen "can't respect" but it is clear that the youth is not only a top student but one with a mind of his own. He obviously has developed and is determined to stick to his own set of principles. These characteristics, plus intelligence, usually are considered elements of leadership and not something for which an individual should be penalized.

Stephen was wrong in publicly embarrassing both Legion and school officials by interrupting the award ceremonies with his refusal. He could have returned it later with an accompanying explanation. But the board was wrong in making it appear that unless an individual agrees with Legion policies he or she does not deserve well-earned academic recognition.

When fertilizer multiplies your corn yield three times, you know the extra plant food is paying its way. Gahart Decker at Monticello a few years ago had an unfertilized corn plot that went only 40 bushels per acre. Next to it, he fertilized according to soil test and harvested 122 bushels per acre—or 82 bushels above the check. Nowadays, Decker's fertilizer application usually includes about 80 pounds of 0-0-60 per acre broadcast before planting, a bag of 12-24-0 at planting time, and sidedressing with 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre during the growing season. This treatment is based on soil tests and recommendations from the Wright county extension office.

With good management on good sites, a stand of Norway Poplars could produce about $30 to $35 worth of wood products from each acre, annually, according to Harold Simon, district forester at Faribault. Simon bears this out from recent measurements he took in a Norway Poplar stand set out on the Harold Vaux place in 1913. Simon found that 33 trees on ¾ of an acre measured out to a net volume (after subtracting cull trees) to 19,800 board feet, or an average annual growth of 573 board feet per acre annually.

A way to check the speed of water gushing down slopes: Geo. Schroer, near Danube in the Renville soil conservation district, put a drop box structure about midway up a long watercourse. The structure stopped an erosion problem. And slower moving water meant less silting at the lower end of the watercourse, as had occurred up to that point.

Learning while young is the policy of 4-H crop project members in Lac qui Parle county. According to Robert Leary, assistant county agent, a local fertilizer plant donated fertilizer for demonstration use by 18 project members. Each youngster tested the soil and Leary set up special fertilizer kits giving the exact requirements as shown by test. The demonstrations will help show all who see them the result of careful soil management and use of extra plant food.

More than 1340 rural land owners signed "No burning" pledges in Carlton county this spring. Youths in two 4-H clubs rounded up the signatures as a part of a contest sponsored by the county Keep Minnesota Green committee. Ivan Holden, chairman of the committee, said "there is no way to measure the untold good this work may have done in preventing forest fires and creating awareness of the fire danger." First prize in the contest went to the Twilight 4-H Club, Moose Lake, which averaged 18 pledges per club member. Top individual winner was Allen Colberg, 9, who obtained 221 pledges alone.

You might think a ditch is a ditch, but how it is designed is mighty important where drainage is concerned. Merle Dipple, Hallock, will tell you so. He farms in a watershed where 18,100 acres drains through an old ditch. Yet, Dipple's farm is partly flooded each year. So after cooperating in the Kittson soil and water conservation district, he asked SCS worker Clarence Treumer to help redesign the old ditch. A new one — while still not entirely adequate — gave water a chance to run off properly. None of Dipple's land flooded this year, while other fields nearby did.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—Is there a grace period for late payments of installments on GI loans?

A—No. Veterans should make their GI loan payments on or before the date they are due. An extra charge may be made by GI lenders when payments are received late.

Q—I am going to college under the Korean GI Bill. If I take a part-time job this summer will I have to report those earnings to the VA?

A—No. Students taking classroom college training under the Korean GI Bill need not report outside earnings, and outside earnings to not affect allowance checks in any way.

Q—A neighbor of ours, the widow of a war veteran who died of a service-connected cause, has a 15-year-old son who has a physical impairment. Would this boy have to wait until age 18 to start training under the War Orphans Education program?

A—No. Recent changes in the law now make it possible for physically handicapped children who are otherwise eligible to begin special types of War Orphans training when they reach 14.

Q—My husband died recently of a service-connected condition, and I am now drawing death compensation payments from VA. I have a chance to take a secretarial job. Would my earnings in a job decrease the the amount of my compensation?

A—No. Your income would have no effect on your death compensation. Income limitations do apply, however, to pensions based on deaths not connected with military service.

Q—When I come out of service next month I will be eligible as a Korea veteran for a GI home loan. Will I lose this eligibility if I sign up for re-enlistment?

A—No. You would not lose eligibility for a GI home loan by re-enlisting. However, you would be bound by the February 1, 1965, deadline for such a loan, like any Korea veteran.

Q—If I should add the total disability income rider to my World War II GI insurance policy, and become disabled, would the amount my beneficiaries would receive from the policy in case of my death be reduced in any way?

A—No. Disability payments made under the rider in no way decrease payments to beneficiaries of your GI insurance policy.

Q—Is a "peacetime" veteran with a disability rated 50 per cent entitled to additional compensation for a wife, minor children, or dependent parents.

Q—I was in a prison camp during World War II. I have a dental condition traceable to my service, but for which I do not receive compensation from VA. Is there a deadline in my case for applying for VA outpatient treatment?

A—No. As a former prisoner of war, with a service-connected noncompensable dental condition, you may apply at any time, and receive as many treatments as needed.

Public Opinion

Hitterdalen Roros, Norway
June 11, 1960

Editor, the Times:

Something we had dreamed of, "a trip back to Norway" became reality for us when our plane lifted from Minneapolis airport. A sunny Sunday noon on May 16. Monday at 9:30 p.m. we landed on Sola airport at Stavanger and our first Atlantic flight was over! We had enjoyed lovely weather, good food and comradeship all the way.

We left Stavanger next morning to take in the 17 de Mai festivities in Oslo, where we arrived about noon. Due to the holiday the regular flight to Oslo was off for the day, so we took the flight via Trondheim, then south again to Oslo. Upon learning it was father's first visit home in 58 years, the flier circled out and called to his attention the Roros countryside, as a special courtesy.

Since, we have visited relatives and old friends in many towns. We have been present at the opening of the "Stor Ting" almost like our Congress.

We have climbed the hill side to where nestled in majestic beauty lies the old family saeter buildings called "Scott Mikkel Vollen."

Here father relived many memories of his boyhood. The old spring house still stands, with the boundless supply of fresh water bubbling up and flowing away to the brook tumbling down the hillside.

We have seen a lot of multe and Titing blossoms already. The multe makes a very good tasting preserve. The titting is served as a tart relish with meats and is delicious.

We have attended three confirmations in our families here, which is a gala day. At Brekken church the two visiting Americans were extended good wishes and presented with testaments in memory of our visit to Norway.

We have enjoyed sightseeing tours too, one taking us into the scenic Funnesdal Valley in Sweden and not to forget rowing the boat for the fish catch one calm, sunny morning!

Up here snow still lies in places but the days are warmer now. It is never quite dark at night, so a person can get about without lights!

Yes, we've had a delightful time here and leaving again will be sad but as father says, "to farm here or live here again, I couldn't even think of that". So our roots are planted elsewhere and we'll be looking forward to seeing you all again.

Andrew O. Feragen and daughter Gladys.

Hamerski Reports on Crop Status in Area

Following is the weekly crop report, as of June 17, prepared by E. A. Hamerski, superintendent of the Winnipeg division of the Soo Line:

Alexandria to Thief River Falls

A slow soaking rain of about 1½ inches was received the early part of the week. This was followed by warm, sunny days resulting in ideal growing weather. Favorable conditions have enabled haylands and pastures to make luxuriant growth. First cutting of alfalfa is under way. All planting is completed. Farmers are generally optimistic for good crops.

Newfolden to Orleans

Top and subsoil moisture is plentiful following the rain which deposited up to 1¾ inches precipitation on this area. Potato planting nearly completed, with outlook excellent. Weather, with temperature on the cool side, was favorable for stooling of small grains. Forage crops are doing very well.

Viking to Rolette, N. D.

Excellent growing weather accompanied by rains of ½ to 2½ inches enabled crops to make great strides. Planting of all crops is completed with the exception of potatoes. Crops which have emerged show great promise. Forage crops are making rapid growth. Top and subsoil moisture plentiful.

Overly to Norma

Little moisture received this week; and a good soaking rain is desired, although top and subsoil moisture remains adequate for the present. Wheat and barley are stooling out very thick, which will draw heavily on subsoil moisture when grain reaches the heading stage. Rye continues to look very good. Pasture lands and hay are excellent.

Dahlen to Orrin

Moisture conditions are excellent following general rain, from ¾ to 2½ inches which was received this week. Flax is the only crop which is still in the planting stage, with all other grain crops up and looking good. One report has been received of some worm damage to wheat, barley and corn. Summer fallow and spraying of weeds are the farmers' main concern at present.

General

The general concensus of opinion expressed is that crops are looking especially good this year. Weather conditions have been ideal for crop development. Heavy stands are the rule; and with further timely rains to replenish moisture supply and continued favorable weather, bumper crops could be realized.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Ever Have That "Sinking" Feeling?

You probably know that "Chip" Wallace was just appointed swimming instructor at the Boys Club.

Seems in his first group, he had three youngsters who were hesitant even about the shallow end of the pool. They said "we'd sink." Of course, Chip didn't try to force them—he demonstrated. He jumped in, popped right up, explained that body buoyancy had pushed him back to the surface.

However, one of the youngsters shook his head in disbelief. "Gee," he said, "I sure hope Mr. Buoyancy is still down there when I jump in."

From where I sit, whoever said "experience is the best teacher" was right. For instance, I think all of us know—through experience—how important "tolerance" is between neighbors. In little things too, like my respecting your right to choose a favorite beverage—and your respecting my choice of an occasional glass of beer. That way we'll swim not sink—as friends!

FIFTY YEARS AGO the village of Oklee was a new settlement on the branch of the Soo Line starting service between Thief River Falls and Duluth in 1910. Most of the area north of the village had been settled only a few years following the opening of the Indian reservation in 1904. The village expanded rapidly and became an important trade center for that area.—Photo Courtesy Oklee Herald.

Pine River Man Donates $500 to Valley Show Fund

Support to the Winter Shows building fund is coming from some unexpected sources outside the 15 county area supporting the Winter Shows. An example of this support is that Mr. and Mrs. Otto B. Griffin, Pine River, Minnesota, who have pledged $500 to the building fund.

They live outside the 15 county area served by the shows but they have benefited from the mid-winter exhibition. Griffin is a leading Berkshire hog breeder.

Business firms in the Twin Cities who have interests in Northwestern Minnesota have already made commitments to the building fund. Meetings have been planned, for the near future, in Minneapolis and St. Paul where leaders of industry will be invited to gain firsthand information about the building program and its potential to influence and strengthen the position of agriculture in Northwestern Minnesota.

Minnesota Residents Support Battle on TB

Progress in the control of tuberculosis is emphasized in the annual report which Josiah G. Neal will present to the executive board of the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association Friday.

The report shows that in 1959, Christmas Seals raised $761,760.60 in Minnesota. Fifty-four per cent of the funds raised in each of the 81 counties administered by the state organization, remain in the county for local health work.

Six per cent goes to the National Tuberculosis association, and 10 per cent is retained by the state association for case-finding, health education, research and rehabilitation. The three metropolitan counties, Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis, are also affiliated with the state organization, but conduct their own campaigns and operate their own programs.

The report states that 1,057 new cases of tuberculosis and 130 deaths from the disease in 1959 were reported by the state department of health. This is an increase of 25 deaths over the previous year, but a decrease of 91 in new TB cases. Tuberculin testing in all age groups increased from 80,904 in 1955 to 207,916 in 1959.

Commr. Clark Advises Local Booster Group

State Development Chief Cites Need of Sustained Effort

James W. Clark, commissioner of the Minnesota department of business development, was the speaker at a meeting of the directors of Jobs Incorporated and the Chamber of Commerce, held at the Rex Cafe Tuesday evening. The meeting was called for the purpose of strengthening local efforts to increase industrial activity in this area.

Mr. Clark discussed the state's program and the experience of other cities with their development efforts. Most important in activities of this kind, he said, are factual presentation of information of interest to prospective businesses along with sustained effort and enthusiasm that carries the activities on through periods of discouragement.

A long question and answer period followed his talk. He discouraged "buying" new industries by concessions that could not be made available to all business, and he opposed fund raising until a particular need for funds had been developed. He favored pledges of financial support that could be called for on thirty days notice. Contributions should be solicited as investments rather than as donations he said.

There was also a discussion of the need for a community fund drive for charitable purposes, the Community Chest having been discontinued. It was the concensus that a united effort should be made to organize for fund-raising purposes through one solicitation and the chairman was authorized to name a committee to encourage the organization of such a program. The need for a payroll withholding plan to make such a drive successful was generally recognized.

Newfolden to Hold Community Picnic Thursday, June 30

Newfolden's very active summer recreation program will be highlighted by a community picnic to be held at the Newfolden high school playfield at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 30. This will be a pot luck picnic—bring food, dishes, silverware, and the kiddies. Free ice cream will be served; coffee and pop will be available.

The first event of the evening will be a tug of war between the Newfolden town beef and the farmer muscles. John P. Halvorson will run the event: Alton Carlton will pick the town team and Orville Elseth will pick the country team. The losing team will pay 25 cents to help pay for costs of the picnic.

Other events will include horseshoe, sack races, three legged races, wheelbarrow races for the children under 14, and climbing a greased pole for money tacked on top.

A three-inning soft-ball game between the American Legion and city council teamed against the school board and Lions will be held. The losers will pay 25 cents.

Stanley Homaas will start the Legion auxiliary and council wives off against the Lions and school board wives in a two out of three series of volley ball. Evelen Haug will head the auxiliary-council team and Agnes Carlson will select the Lions-board team. The losers better have a quarter handy.

The Newfolden recreation program is under the direction of Frank Kohoutek, formerly of Drayton, North Dakota. He and his family will be introduced by general chairman, John P. Halvorson.

The entire program is being sponsored by the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, School District 441 and its board, the city council, and the Lions club. Games of all kinds are sponsored for youth and adults. You are urged to check the schedule and take part.

If it rains Thursday, June 30, the picnic will be postponed until the following Thursday.

Guard Co. 'D' of TRF [illegible] Return from Camp [illegible]pley This Saturday

One week of intensive squad training and four days of tactical platoon training have been completed by the officers and men of "D" company, second battle group of the 136th Infantry from Thief River Falls which will return Saturday, June 25, from Camp Ripley.

The members of Delta company have fired all of their weapons including rifle, pistol, machine gun, 81 mm. mortar and recoilless rifle on the ranges and the rifle and weapons squads have been trained and tested in tactical maneuvers. For four days the group was on bivouac sleeping in pup tents in a simulated frontline situation.

Training has been taken to prepare the unit as an integral tactical unit and "D" company has an excellent training record. Much training is received at the local armory but tactical proficiency is achieved through the summer camp program.

The officers and men of the company have been asked that employers of men from the Thief River Falls area be thanked for their cooperation in allowing them to attend camp.

Pay for the unit this year will be in the form of $2 bills and, with nearly $8,000 for the unit's payroll, the bills will be making their appearance in many stores starting this week-end.

Bernice Troumbly Attends Trainers' Course in 1st Aid

Local Teacher Returns from Red Cross Course at Lake Okaboji, Iowa

Miss Bernice Troumbly of this city was one of the state's first aid instructor trainers for the American Red Cross, who were in conference June 11-18 at Lake Okaboji, Iowa, one of the six National Red Cross aquatic school sites.

Pupils registered at the Aquatic school, included young men and women at college level, ranging from 18 to 28 in age.

Miss Troumbly was also an active participant in the school's sessions that included such phases of first aid training as using teaching skills, skills practice and interpretation and manual study for new techniques.

Harold L. Whitehead, first aid and water safety field service representative in Minnesota for the Red Cross, was the aquatic school director.

Mary Demetrellou, Greek student at Lincoln high school during the 1958-59 school year, wrote that Connie Ekeren of Thief River Falls, who is staying in Greece this summer under the AFS program, will live with a family in Mary's home town, Patra Achaia. The former student wrote that she is taking additional educational courses and teaching courses in English to her countrymen.

1.12 Inches of Rain Arrives This Week

.72 Inch Was Recorded Here Wednesday Night

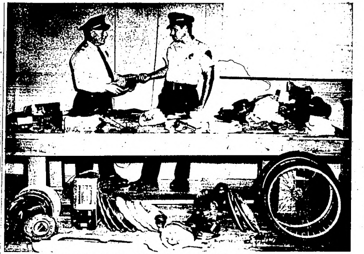
The understatement of the year is contained in today's forecast which calls for "poor drying conditions until tomorrow."

The forecast also predicts considerable cloudiness with scattered showers today and tonight. Highs today are expected to be in the 70's and lows tonight from 45 to 55.

A trace of rain was registered at the KTRF weather station Monday. Tuesday's rainfall amounted to 0.1 inch and 0.72 inch has fallen during the 24 hour period ending this morning.

Light and variable winds today are expected to become northwesterly tonight.

Sunday's high of 76 has been the warmest reading of the week, with daytime readings in the 60's and lows in the 50's.



LOOT recovered so far by city police following the questioning of at least 25 teenage boys is examined by Capt. Larry Runger, left, and Officer Dick Nelson, right. Runger credits Nelson solving a series of auto thefts, breakins, shoplifting cases and other crimes by the boys in Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls. Included in the more than $400 worth of valuable clothing taken by the older boys were a number of hats, shirts and sweaters and trousers. The target of the younger boys was mechanical things including tools, gasoline engines, wheels, guns, an automobile radio, fender skirts and hubcaps, vending machine, camera and portable radio. Investigations are still going on by police officers and more boys are being implicated.

Council Hearing on Storm Sewer Job Set This Evening

To Get Property Owners' Reaction to Projected Work from 4th to 6th st.

A public hearing has been set for tonight, June 23, beginning at 7:30 o'clock on the proposed storm sewer project in the area from Fourth to Sixth sts. on Davis and Dewey aves. and Red Lake blvd.

According to the feasibility report of Doug Stewart, consulting engineer, the area would be drained by two outlets to the Red Lake river at Fifth and Sixth sts. Total cost of the project has been estimated at $13,300 with $9,750 to be raised by special assessments against benefited property owners and $3,550 as the city's share.

An adjourned meeting of the city council will follow the hearing. James E. Olson of the bond firm of Juran & Moody, St. Paul, will meet with the council to give further information on the sale of $225,000 in waterworks improvement bonds.

Matters first discussed at the regular meeting June 21 which will be taken up will include the proposed curb and gutter project in the Markley ave. S. area between Hughes and James sts., sealcoating of downtown streets and airport runways, taxi strips and ramps and the possible installation of a filter at the airport to remove iron in the water.

Frank Johnson returned Monday to Hillsboro, Oregon, by plane after visiting friends and relatives.

Local Teen-agers on Stealing Spree

What at first appeared to be an isolated theft by a Thief River Falls teenage boy has mushroomed into a year-long spree of crime by at least 25 boys.

Capt. Larry Runger, acting chief of police, gives much of the credit for unravelling the series of shoplifting, auto thefts, breakins and other crimes to Officer Dick Nelson.

As Nelson and other officers have questioned individual boys, the youngsters have implicated others and the list of stolen property recovered has piled up at the police station.

In general, the younger teenagers have stolen mechanical things including gasoline engines, bicycle wheels, hubcaps and fender skirts from automobiles, tools, go-kart wheels, radios, watches, cameras, an air pistol and a revolver and holster. One of the more valuable items was a $21 baseball glove.

The older teenagers have chosen less spectacular but valuable clothing including $12.95 sweaters and shirts, hats and other items of apparel. Some was taken on shoplifting forays, other items were taken during two store breakins.

Most articles were taken in Thief River Falls stores but Red Lake Falls merchants also owned some of the merchandise collected by city police. Among the local business places hit by the shoplifters was at least one which has felt itself as "one place no one dares to take anything."

Captain Runger has asked that parents "keep an eye on what their children are bringing home." The number and size of articles makes them difficult to conceal around the homes and should be readily detectable.

Police indicated Wednesday that the case is far from closed and, as the boys talk and implicate others, the pile of merchandise grows.

Bagley Legislator 40 Years Announces He Isn't Candidate

State Rep. Walter E. Day of Bagley, who has served for 40 years as a member of the lower house of the state legislature from the 65th district, announced this week that he will not be a candidate for the office in the 1960 election. He stated that the condition of Mrs. Day's health is his main reason for not seeking reelection.

Mr. Day said that he is making his announcement early in order not to interfere with the plans of others. His retirement is expected to result in a warm contest for the office, one of two representative posts to be filled in the 65th district. The other position is held by Rep. Ben Wichterman of Plummer, who is expected to seek reelection.

Mr. Day's formal statement reads in part as follows:

Car Parking in City Is Council Topic Tuesday

Two Businessmen Object to Parallel Parking on East 2d

Overtime parking, double parking, diagonal or parallel parking and the unsuccessful attempts to enforce laws in regard to these violations took up much of the city council's time at the regular meeting Tuesday evening, June 21.

Harry Simons, representing the Hartz organization, and James Parkins, proprietor of Parkins Corner Drug, spoke to the council opposing the proposed change of parking on Second st. between LaBree and Horace aves. from the present diagonal system to parallel parking.

Simons told council members that the problem is greater between LaBree and Main aves. where the street has not been widened. The extra three feet of width created by narrowing sidewalks on Second st. between LaBree and Horace aves. made the street amply wide, Simons declared, and no danger exists with the present parking arrangement. He suggested the widening of Second st. by narrowing the sidewalks as the proper solution. He pointed out a loss of parking space for customers would result from the parallel arrangement.

Parkins backed Simons' plan of widening the street by narrowing the sidewalks and said that he had never known of a fire truck being blocked by cars parked diagonally. "Making it hard for customers to find a place to park down town will encourage the construction of a shopping center outside of the present business district," Parkins declared, adding that this would bring about the destruction of the downtown area as it has in other cities.

In answer to Alderman E. B. Benson's question, "Are we as a council going to show preferance for the merchants in these blocks by not having parallel parking for them as others now have?" both Simons and Parkins declared that no "preferance would be shown if parking were maintained as it is at present.

No action will be taken in the matter until the recommendations of the police and fire departments are received.

Mrs. Alan Thompson, clerk of the municipal court, was present at the meeting to explain changes which would be necessary in

Judge H. Kjos Points out Need for Foster Homes in Community

Judge Herman A. Kjos of Pennington county probate and juvenile court stated today that there is a continuing need for foster homes in this community. He stated that many children who appear before his court, or those returning from institutions, have had their difficulties with the law enforcement agencies because their parental home is inadequate to meet the needs of the child. If foster homes were available, children could be helped in their own community, and in many instances would not need to enter a state institution for correctional purposes.

As an example of the need, Kjos pointed out that he knows of a 14-year-old boy who is confined primarily because of truancy. The court is reluctant to have the boy returned to his home at this time, as the conditions in the home, which played a part in the boy's problem, have not materially changed.

The need for foster homes presently, he said, is for boys between the ages of 12 and 16. Their difficulties with the law varies. If there were eight or ten homes available in this probation district, it would be a real resource for these boys.

Judge Kjos invited parents who wish to become foster parents to contact the county welfare office. There they can discuss the requirements for becoming a foster home, the financial return and the satisfaction and problems of sharing their home with a child. State law requires that all foster homes be licensed through the county welfare department.

Children considered for placement in foster homes are carefully studied. Prospective parents would have all necessary information on the child to take into account in deciding if that particular child would fit into their home.

Children considered for a placement are considered to have potential for developing into youthful, worthwhile citizens. These children would be of average physical and mental development.

Lions View Movie on Army Reserve

Schlechter Shows Film; George Werstlein Honored

Colonel Milton Schlechter of the U. S. Army Reserve provided the program at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

He presented a sound movie film, "Fire Power", telling the story of past wars in which this country has engaged, and pointing out the need for adequate striking power, as well as the function of the reserve forces in conserving manpower.

In its business session, the club approved a selection of pieces of playground equipment to be given by the Lions for use in city parks. Action followed a report by Lieut. Robert Burkhardt, committee chairman.

Following the meeting the members adjourned to the Northern State bank, where Norman Peterson, club president, and James Parkins, district governor, presented a life membership with a plaque to George W. Werstlein, a charter member and past president of the club, and active in the organization since its establishment in 1938.

Ten Are Penalized in City Court This Week

Nine persons were fined in municipal court this week after pleading guilty to a variety of offenses before Judge H. O. Chommie. A tenth person forfeited bond.

Two persons were brought in by the highway patrol. Kenneth E. Thoreson, Goodridge, was fined $25 for speeding while Myron A. Gutterud, rt. 2, was fined $25 for careless driving and his driver's license was suspended 60 days.

Two persons were brought in by the county sheriff. Eldon E. Klipping, rt. 1, Red Lake Falls, was fined $20 for being drunk on a public highway. Klipping was a passenger in the car driven by Elmer L. Feragen, Goodridge, which left the road east of Goodridge last Saturday, resulting in personal injuries to both men. Feragen, in a special hearing Wednesday, pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge and was fined $35.

The other sheriff's case was that of Dale W. Glass, city, who was fined $30 for being drunk and disorderly.

All other cases were brought in by city police. Warren N. Lee, Grygla, was fined $10 for running a flashing red light, while Olaf C. Olson, Goodridge, was fined $15 for running a stop sign.

Olson was fined an additional $50 for driving after license revocation and his license plates and registration card were ordered impounded.

Throwing garbage on a city street cost Carryl O. Thompson, city, a $15 fine. Throwing his fists cost Kenneth D. Olson, city, $25. He forfeited bond, while Floyd Donarski, Goodridge, who was also charged with fighting, was fined $20.

Council Discusses Parking Problems Tuesday Evening

the bookkeeping of the court if a system of increasing fines for habitual overtime and double parking offenders were put into effect. She agreed that such a system could be set up but told the council it would require more clerical time than is now possible.

There was agreement by council members that the Chamber of Commerce program to have members and employes park off the streets had not been effective and there was also agreement that some firms owning several cars were avoiding the law by moving them when the two-hour time limit is nearly expired.

The matter was taken under advisement only after the words, "parking meters," had again been mentioned several times.

Streets and vehicles were again brought up when the council directed the city attorney to prepare an ordinance limiting loads on residential streets for reading at the regular July meeting. A limit of six tons per axle during most of the year and four tons per axle during the spring will probably be set.

Roy Lee, council president, suggested that street plans be prepared this year for 1961 work to make it possible to have hearings and take care of other matters before the construction season resumes.

An engineer's feasibility report was favorable in the matter of curb and gutter installation in a small area on the east side. This was brought about by a petition signed by most property owners asking that the work be done on the west side of Markley ave. from Hughes to James st. and on both sides of James from Markley ave. to the alley. The report suggested this project could be combined with other projects of like nature. The cost would be about $1,185. The matter was tabled until the adjourned meeting tonight.

A letter from property owners on Kendall av. S. asking that a "Slow" sign be set up in the 800 block was referred to the police department for special investigation. Those submitting the letter said that the large number of children in the area are being endangered by speeding motorists.

Highways also entered the discussion when Bill LaFave, president of Jobs, Inc., brought up the matter of the construction of highway No. 1. LaFave told the council that the highway department had promised to include the Pennington county portion of the highway in its 1961-62 work program and had now set it back a year. He suggested the council send a member with the delegation from Jobs, Inc. and the Chamber of Commerce to St. Paul to ask that the work be restored to the 1961-62 work program.

A letter from the state department of lands and right-of-way in regard to the proposed park area east of the Eighth st. bridge was read. It requested that the land, for which title is now being held by the Thief River Falls Foundation, be transferred to the city which would deed the tract to the state for use as a park. LaFave suggested that a letter be written by Robert Wurst, city attorney, requesting that the transfer be made directly from the Foundation to the state to eliminate the confusion and cost that would result from bringing the city into the matter.

Sealcoating downtown streets and the blacktop areas at the airport were also discussed. Repair work is imperative this year on downtown streets, according to a letter from Stewart & Walker, consulting engineers, who suggested steaming cracks in the streets and refilling them with tar before laying a sealcoat. A letter is expected later this week from the state highway department regarding the sealcoating of highways through the city and the projects may be combined. The matter was tabled until tonight's adjourned meeting.

A letter from the airport commission was read stating that the state department of aeronautics recommends sealcoating the runways, taxi strips and ramps and will pay two-thirds of the cost. The city's share would be about $1,700. This matter was also tabled until tonight.

A request by the airport commission that a filter be installed at the airport to remove iron from the water was also tabled until June 23. The unit would cost about $675 of which the city would pay one-third and state two-thirds.

A letter from the county assessor informed the council that the city board of equalization will meet Tuesday, July 12. The council set the time of the hearing at 8:30 a.m. and the board will adjourn at 4:30 p.m.

The first meeting of an ordinance was heard setting the vacation time of city employes with 20 or more years of continuous service at four weeks.

The council approved the suggestion that Harry Hendrickson, who has assumed the post of city purchasing agent, be sent to examine the purchasing system of Fergus Falls.

L. H. Thorstenson, deputy city clerk, was appointed temporary city clerk on a trial basis until Jan. 1, 1961. His salary of $450 a month is retroactive to May 16, 1960.

Three bids for a sewer cleaning machine were opened but were tabled for further study. The Municipal Equipment company of Hopkins submitted bids of $4,813.30 for one type of machine and $4,120.80 for another machine. The American Pipe Cleaning company of Minneapolis submitted a bid of $4,130.37 for its machine.

Building permits totaling $5,450 were approved by the council. They included: Peter Panas, 217 Zeh st. W., dwelling remodeling, $1,500; David Drotts, 312 LaBree ave. N., business remodeling, $1,000; Stanley Solheim, 212 Markley ave. S., domestic garage, $1,000; C. I. Stromberg, 903 Duluth ave. N., domestic garage, $700; George Erickson, 205 Kendall ave. N., domestic garage, $750 and Carl Skjerping, 421 First st. W., domestic garage, $500.

Licenses granted include: Gunder Grovum, renewal of pool and billiard license; Edward Langlie, renewal of plumbers and electrician's licenses; Carl O. Onkka and Vincent T. Greells, bowling alley, on and off sale of 3.2 beer and cigaret licenses.

Subject to the approval of the building inspector and furnishing a bond, Bill Reese was given council approval to move a 14 x 25 foot garage from 428 Riverside ave. to the area near Kife's cafe outside the city limits.

Resolutions were adopted approving the payment for city construction and purchases. They included: $1,366.12 to Stewart & Walker, Inc., plans and specifications for the 1960 waterworks improvement project; $3,122.78 to O. P. Electric service for electrical work in connection with the waterworks project, and $2,660 to Forkenbrock Motor company for the new street department truck.

The council approved the transfer of $10,000 in excess electric reserve funds from a Northern State bank checking account to a certificate of deposit account.

Bonds were approved for: Edwin O. Langlie, plumbers; Calvin A. Ripley, plumbers; Gordon P. Reierson, fidelity; Ranum Construction company, performance bond bid; Swingen Construction company, performance bond bid, and Oscar Schenkey, performance bond bid.

A letter from Rep. Odin Langen in regard to the city census was read by the city attorney. It stated that it is possible there are fewer people in some residences than in the past, that people are starting homes of their own at an earlier age and that parents are maintaining homes after children leave resulting in an overall reduction of residents per housing unit than in the 1950 census. The matter will not be examined further unless additional information is obtained.

Robert Wurst, city attorney, who repersened the city at the recent C.A.B. board hearings in Minneapolis on the discontinuance of North Central airlines service to the city, reported on the hearing. He felt that the hearing went well for Thief River Falls and reported on the hearing of other affected cities. The council voted to send formal letters of appreciation to L. B. Hartz, Stuart McLeod and W. E. Dahlquist who represented the city's case.

A report on the city water supply from the state department of health showed that there is a high degree of safety and changes could be made to make the system even more acceptable.

In a letter from the manager of the liquor store, Gilbert Hovland, janitor of the store, resigned his position effective July 22. A request that Hans Hanson be appointed to the job on a part time basis was approved.

AWARD winner in National City, Calif., suburb of San Diego, is George L. Mayer-Oakes, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayer-Oakes of that city and grandson of the late Dr. G. H. Mayer-Oakes of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Mayer-Oakes. George was chosen recently as one of 11 1960 graduates from Sweetwater high school in National City to share in scholarship awards totaling $18,000 donated largely by service clubs of the California city. George, who will attend college in San Diego, lived in Thief River Falls with his mother in 1943-44 while his father served with the U. S. Army air force.

Rep. Walter Day Is Retiring from Legislative Post

"My first thought is to express my gratitude to my friends and supporters of the district for the efforts they have made in my behalf over the year. I want to say that I appreciate their support and it will not be forgotten.

"When I was first nominated, the group that got me started supported me and helped me to carry on successful campaigns were almost all older men than I; some of them much older. Today, almost all of that group have passed on to their reward. To them I wish to make a bow and humbly say "Thank you."

"The reader of these lines will wonder when that was. World War I was still in progress in 1918, women did not have the right to vote, prohibition had not come yet, there were no state highways or state highway department as we know it today. There was no tax on iron ore (except local taxes for local purposes), no state income tax, no gas tax. That year I bought my first auto license and paid $5.00 for a three year period.

"State school aid was a small fraction of what it is today. Cost of our local schools was carried largely by levies on real estate and personal property. Taxpayers were grumbling of high taxes at a time when millions of dollars of profits were made in Minnesota that left the state with little or no tax being paid upon it.

"I felt then and do now that it was hardly fair to expect real estate and personal property to carry such a large share of the cost of schools and government. I can agree that our system of taxation needs to be revised but, as bad as some say it is, I am sure it is better and fairer than it was 42 years ago. No changes have been made in our tax laws since I have been in office except after the most bitter controversy as happened in our last session. I firmly believe that 'the ability to pay' principle must be preserved in any changes made.

"Here is hoping that better legislation will follow me and that they will pass better laws for Minnesota and the 65th Legislative district."

with his family to Thief River Falls, assuming the post of president of the Northern Chevrolet Co., as well as becoming interested in other business enterprises.

In the spring of 1935 he was appointed to serve as mayor, filling the vacancy resulting from the resignation of Rev. E. L. Tungseth, who had been elected to the state senate. Later, in the 1943 city election, he was elected alderman-at-large.

During his years of residence here, Mr. Rinkel was active in a variety of civic and fraternal affairs. In addition to serving as president of the hospital board, he was a founder and president of the Thief River Falls Foundation, local civic and charitable agency, as well as heading the former Civic and Commerce association, and serving for many years on its road committee.

Active in fraternal affairs, he was a 50-year member of the Kem Temple of the Shrine in Grand Forks and of the Masonic Blue lodge, as well as having been a member of the Elks lodge.

Surviving his death are a son R. Chris Rinkel of St. Paul and two daughters, Mrs. Norman Roeber of Los Altos, Calif., and Grace S. Rinkel. He was preceded in death by his first wife, who passed away many years ago, also by his second, the former Miss Hanna Launa, who died a few years ago in Arizona, while they were spending the winter there.

ANOTHER LOOK

During the years of World War II, economists, educators and others found that they had grossly underestimated the number of babies to be born and that their figures, based on past experience, were not even a good guess. The school building boom was on.

Now that most of us have adjusted our ideas on the number of classrooms needed and the growth of the total population, there are indications that we may have to adjust our thinking downward again — at least in some areas.

The projection of population figures and other statistics, as Dr. George Gallup and the defunct Literary Digest can testify, is a dangerous business. Dr. Gallup is now a much more cautious man in his prognostications.

The census figures released recently caught many optimists and wishful thinkers off base and may call for another look at projected costs of some governmental agencies and school districts.

To avoid such a distasteful task could possibly lead to a situation which faced many people, including residents of this city, some years ago. They found themselves unable to pay taxes on their property and lost at least a part of their holdings through tax sales to pay off the obligations.

In projecting the indebtedness of government bodies, and these include those of states, counties, cities, villages and the educational institutions, caution in expenditures might very well be indicated until more definite information is at hand. Those necessary things which are presgard to their populations did not shortages of the past should, of course, be purchased if possible. But beware of large expenditures for items which might be useful IF populations increase. They should not be included under the guise of present necessity.

This does not mean that we should be pessimistic, only more cautious and realistic. Are the populations of some areas going to increase as some have hoped as they looked at the world through rose colored glasses? Do projected figures give a true reflection of populations or do the compilers of figures look too much into the past and do a too-zealous job of hoping "it happened before; ergo, it will continue to happen?"

Are some of today's expenditures, based on the future's "expanding population," going to burden the fewer-than-expected taxpayers of tomorrow too much? Spending for tomorrow with nothing to back it up except the hope that there will be more people to split up the bill can be dangerous. Heeding other less-optimistic indications which do not coincide with what some people would like to have happen may not make one popular but at least it is honest.

It is unfortunate that the expectations of some areas in regard to thei rpopulations did not come true and no amount of wailing at this point can do any good. But just saying that "everything is wonderful and will past accomplishments is not be wonderful" or pointing to enough. The saying, "Grow or die!" has never been more timely than at the present time when every state and every community is competing for new businesses, industries and, of course, more people.

If there is reasonable assurance that a state, county or community has not grown because it was apathetic, had not "sold" itself to potential residents, then a concerted, continuing and well-planned campaign by everyone concerned is indicated.

Only through a concerted job of selling can growth be resumed in some areas and communities. On the local level, a community can be made more appealing if everyone wants his home town to be a good place in which to live and work—and that doesn't mean just erecting signs at the corporate limits calling to the attention of passing and disinterested motorists in faded letnumber of "friendly" residents ters that there are a certain residing in this community, "The Golden Buckle of the Kumquat Belt."

Communities are sold by the satisfied people who live in them and, as many businessmen are discovering, "selling" doesn't mean just "waiting on customers."

Selling today is more than just telling people that something good is offered — you have to make good the promises or they won't buy. A good window display and advertisements may bring customers (and new residents and industries) to the desired location but they have to be shown that it's not all "talk" before they buy.

FU Opens Campaign for 'Yes' Votes in Wheat Referendum

Urges Farmers to Vote for Marketing Quotas and Price Props July 21

A get-out-the-vote campaign for the "biggest farmer turnout" on the wheat referendum July 21 has been launched again this year by the Farmers Union and its cooperatives.

This is the eighth year that Farmers Union has urged wheat farmers to vote YES in favor of marketing quotas and price supports, and so far the farmer support has been better than 90 per cent in favor of continuing the present wheat program.

At stake this year is an estimated difference of an average support price on the farm of $1.80 a bushel for wheat and $1 or less without price supports, or about $10 an acre. Importance of a big vote was emphasized by M. W. Thatcher, chairman of the wheat referendum committee, who said that "how wheat farmers vote this year may decide what kind of a farm program we live by in the next 10 years when the new administration takes over in Washington next year."

If more than one-third of the wheat farmers vote NO, and thus reject marketing quotas, there will be no price support in 1960, and farmers would face a $1 a bushel market, in competition with corn. Traditionally the YES vote in these Northwest states, averaging better than 90 percent, has carried the nation's total well above the necessary two-thirds YES vote.

Farmers should check their grain bins often as the weather gets warmer. High temperatures plus moisture in the grain spell fun and good living for the insect world, but trouble for farmers. A great solution, say South Dakota State college researchers, is drying the grain before storage.

After years of extensive and successful testing, Ace Hardware proudly announces a new house paint that can save home owners hundreds of dollars and make it necessary to paint your house only once every ten years. This new paint made of acrylic plastic, has been tested for years in all kinds of weather, in all parts of the country. Ace Acrylic also provides excellent resistance to moisture blistering.

PAINT BLISTERING PROBLEM SOLVED

Blistering, long the home owners biggest headache in home painting, no longer presents a problem with Ace Acrylic House Paint and Ace Wood Primer. For using this unbeatable combination on new wood or on old surfaces from which the paint has been removed, it resists unsightly blister damage. Blistering is usually caused by moisture vapor from inside the house. This vapor sometimes works its way through the wall pushing ordinary paint away from the wood. In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our dear son, husband and father, Ray Bredeson.

Just one short year ago today
God took our son, Daddy and husband away.
He left us with loved ones near and far
And yet how terribly lonesome we are
Who loved you so and always will.
There's a place in our hearts no one can fill —
So now we wait for that great day,
Pray, Dear God, not far away,
When together again we can always be,
Up there with god, through eternity.

Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Bredeson,
Mrs. Ray Bredeson, Dick and Jack. 1150p

Nazarene Church Pastor to Leave

Rev. D. L. Runyon Family to Go to Carrington, N. D.

The resignation of Rev. D. L. Runyon, pastor of the Thief River Falls Church of the Nazarene since 1958, was announced today. His last Sunday in the local pulpit will be Sunday, June 26. Rev. Runyon and family will then move to Carrington, North Dakota, where he has accepted the pastorate of the Church of the Nazarene.

Since coming to Thief River Falls two years ago, Pastor Runyon has led the local congregation in a program of definite progress. Most noteworthy was the purchase of the present church property located at First and Markley in March of 1959.

Currently the Sunday school of the church is enjoying a 30 per cent increase in attendance over the corresponding period of a year ago. This growth is also reflected in other areas of the church as well.

Announcement as to Rev. Runyon's successor is expected within the next few days.

Hearing Slated in Fargo on Handling of Grade 'A' Milk

The Thief River Falls branch of Land O'Lakes Creameries was notified this week that the U.S. department of agriculture has scheduled a hearing in the Gardner Hotel in Fargo Tuesday, July 12, at 10 a.m. on a proposed order to regulate the handling of Grade A milk in the marketing area tentatively designated as Minnesota and North Dakota. Milk producers and processors from this area will be represented at the hearing. Another session will be held July 19 at the Clarence Parker Hotel in Minot.

Only 10 per cent of U.S. milk production was sold as cream in 1959, the USDA reports. The other 90 per cent was sold as whole milk.

Wasn't That Wonderful?

Referring, of course, to the Minnesota Gophers' 2 to 1 win over the University of Southern California in the finals of the NCAA baseball tournament at Omaha, Neb. on Monday night. The victory, in ten innings, gave coach Dick Siebert and the Gophers their second NCAA baseball title in the past four years. Minnesota won the title for the first time in 1956.

And by their victory on Monday night the Gophers should put to rest the canard that Minnesota athletes cannot compete on even terms with the athletes of other states. It has been the custom the past years for the metropolitan writers to excuse the performances of the Minnesota football teams by stating that the Minnesota boys, the native sons, that is, do not have the maturity and the high school training to compete with the boys from other states, the short season up here being labeled the bugaboo to adequate high school development of the athletes.

Well, it is surely fine to have coach Siebert take a squad composed of Minnesota boys, mostly, and win a national baseball championship. And what is shorter than a Minnesota baseball season? It could be that the caliber of coaching that the Gopher baseball squad receives has some bearing on the success of the Minnesota baseball program.

We are convinced that the Minnesota high school athletes are as capable as the high school athletes of other states, short season or no.

He May Return

Made the short trip to Grand Forks' Municipal ball park one day last week for a look at the Winnipeg Goldeyes vs. Grand Forks Chiefs Northern league game. The two teams split a doubleheader.

Our primary purpose of making the trip over there was to see Winnipeg's Von McDaniel in action. McDaniel is the youngster who, as an 18-year old high school senior, joined the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff and hurled some spectacular victories. In his year with the Cards he posted a record of five wins and seven losses.

Strangely, though, McDaniel lost his pitching magic, due perhaps to the fact that he was "pressing," and the Cards were forced to send him down to the minor leagues. He never did regain his pitching rhythm, and the Cardinal baseball tutors advised Von to shift from pitching to the infield or the outfield.

With the Winnipeg club, McDaniel has been placed at third base, and at present he is batting in the clean-up spot in the Goldeye batting order. With Whitey Kurowski, the former Cardinal third baseman, managing the Winnipeg club, McDaniel will receive expert coaching at third base. Von, who is a younger brother of the St. Louis Cardinals' Lindy McDaniel, is determined to again reach the major leagues. And he may do it.

Incidentally, it is interesting to watch these Northern league teams in action, for they are manned by youngsters who are ambitious to move up the Organized Baseball ladder. Over the years the Northern league has proven to be an incubator for such major league stars as Hank Aaron, Orlando Cepeda, Bob Turley, and others.

Enter Canoe Derby

Gordy Bjerken and Amorin Olson have had their entry in the Minneapolis Aquatennial canoe derby accepted, and will be on hand when the derby starts on July 6.

Gordy and Amorin were winners in the two boat derbies held here a couple of years ago. The two boys have tremendous endurance, and while they will be handicapped by the lack of experience in "big time" canoe derby competition, we can be sure that Gordy and Amorin will fulfill the expectations of their sponsor and their fans.

Thursday's Predictions

Our predictions for the "big" matches on tap today is as follows: the Times trapshooters to edge out the Ben Franklin team, if the weather is rough and blustery; and the Bridgeman's, due largely to the strategy of manager Mukkett Collins, to defeat the Hartz Stores team in softball on the East Side diamond.

Many Governors to Go to Glacier Park Parley

An 18-car Great Northern Railway "Governors' Conference Special" train carrying eight governors, top news media personalities, government officials and members of their families will leave Chicago Friday for Glacier National Park, site of the 1960 conference.

The special train will make only one scheduled stop, at St. Paul, on its 1,527-mile run to Glacier Park, in the Montana Rockies. Arrival will be Saturday, June 25, 23 hours after departure.

Operating as a section of Great Northern's Empire Builder, the special will consist of 12 Pullman sleepers, two dining cars and two observation lounge cars, including an Empire Builder "Great Dome." The train will run over the Burlington Lines between Chicago and St. Paul.

Among the 190 passengers aboard the train will be eight governors and more than 50 top representatives of national newspapers, magazines, news associations and television and radio stations.

The newsmen will be part of the largest press corps ever to attend a Governors' Conference. Sessions will be held June 25-29 with headquarters in Many Glacier Hotel in the park.

Governors scheduled as passengers are John Patterson of Alabama; Harold W. Handley, Indiana; William G. Stratton, Illinois; George Docking, Kansas; Foster Furcolo, Massachusetts; Christopher Del Sesto, Rhode Island; Buford Ellington, Tennessee, and John D. Merwin, Virgin Islands.

This year's conference, the first ever held in a national park, coincides with the celebration of Glacier's golden anniversary.

Special significance is attributed to this year's meetings because of the national political conventions which follow.

Many of the conferees and newsmen will depart for the Democratic convention in Los Angeles after the Governors' conference.

Among newsmen attending will be Edward Murrow of the Columbia Broadcasting System; Richard Harkness of the National Broadcasting Company; Lawrence E. Spivak of "Meet the Press"; W. H. Lawrence and James Reston of the New York Times; columnists Doris Fleeson and Marquis Childs; Allen Drury of the Reader's Digest, and John Steele of Time and Life.

Speed Held Factor in 30 Per Cent of All Fatal Mishaps

Speed Control Is for Driver's Own Protection, Says State Safety Chief

"Speed control is for your protection. Cooperate with law enforcement officers and obey posted traffic laws."

This advice was given motorists today by Mark Markson, chief of the highway department safety promotion section, as he urged Minnesotans to support the "Blueprint for Safety" speed control program for June. The program is part of the nationwide effort to combat traffic accidents.

"To hear some motorists complain, you'd think that speed regulations were made just to make life tough for drivers," Markson said. "The fact is that there's very good reason for every regulation made."

"Speed regulations represent the combined thinking of traffic engineers and police, and before a speed limit is established, many factors are considered," he explained.

He pointed out that posted speed limits give the speed that is safe under ideal conditions of weather, road, traffic, driver and vehicle. If any one of these conditions is not up to par, the driver must compensate by reducing speed.

"Motorists have shown that they aren't competent to judge speed in all situations," Markson added. "Their faulty judgment is evident in the fact that speed is a factor in 30% of all fatal traffic accidents. They are just going too fast to react safely when an emergency arises."

"It is only common sense to recognize the fact that the faster you go, the faster things happen, and the harder you hit," Markson said.

He summed up his advice by emphasizing that drivers "should be their own policemen. It makes a law officer's job easier, saves taxpayer dollars, and most important . . . it saves lives."

Interstate Road Program Revealed

$50,547,000 to Be Spent In the 1963 Fiscal Year

A 50,547,00 interstate highway construction program for Minnesota for fiscal 1963 was announced today by State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman. This program will continue the interstate construction on virtually the same dollar level as planned during the 1962 fiscal year.

The 1963 program on the regular trunk highways—the ABC program—is expected to be announced in a few weeks, according to Zimmerman.

Included in the improvements are 38 miles of concrete base and surfacing, 92 miles of grading, 38 miles of gravel and gravel base, 32 miles of fencing, lighting, signing and planting and 113 bridges. This does not include other necessary work on ramps, legs and frontage roads or other miscellaneous construction.

Much of the work is in the Twin Cities area, with none in Northwestern Minnesota.

Traffic on Rural Highways Shows Increase in April

Motor vehicle traffic on Minnesota's rural trunk highways, based on data obtained by automatic traffic recorders at 27 locations, increased 4.8 per cent in April as compared with April of 1959, according to a report by the Minnesota Highway Department.

The greatest percentage of increase was noted on U.S. 61 at Dresbach, in Winona county, with a 20% per cent gain. This was probably due to the removal of travel inconveniences which were necessary last year because of construction work, since completed.

The largest number of vehicles were recorded by the counters north of Anoka on T.H. 10, where the average daily traffic for the month was 10,365.

Pheasant Census Shows State Total Is Below Average

Game Officials Report Breeding Stock Down 40 Per Cent from 1958

Minnesota game officials today indicated that breeding populations of pheasants around the state are "slightly below the 10 year average but down approximately 40-45 per cent from the bumper year of 1958."

Summarizing census data obtained during the past several months by game wardens, game managers and biologists was Maynard Nelson of the Madelia research station.

"Regions where populations appear to have held up best are in the six county area of Otter Tail, Grant, Traverse, Big Stone, Stevens and Swift in the west; Lincoln, Pipestone, Murray, Rock and Nobles in the southwest; and Renville and Sibley in the south central," explained Nelson.

Excessive moisture last fall and again this spring prevented farmers from plowing down much of the corn stubble until late this spring. Some nests were established in the cover and plowing is expected to destroy most of these. Observations indicate hay mowing will be about one week late and this may improve nesting success enough to offset abnormal losses in corn stubble.

May proved to be wet throughout most of the pheasant range and flooding occurred in the south central prime range. Pheasant reproduction seems to be closely associated with May rainfall. Heavy precipitation results in lowered reproduction and vice versa.

Department field men will be conducting brood counts beginning the latter part of June. Hunting regulations will not be announced until sometime in August.

U.S. Fire Losses in May $87 Million

Estimated fire losses in the United States during May amounted to $86,940,000, the National Board of Fire Underwriters reported.

According to Lewis A. Vincent, NBFU's general manager, this loss represents an increase of 6.5 per cent over losses of $81,597,000 reported for May 1959 and a decrease of 11.4 per cent from losses of $98,106,000 for last April.

Losses for the first five months of 1960 now total $491,142,000, an increase of 1.7 per cent over the first five months of 1959, when they amounted to $482,999,000.

"Today's effort to wrap children in cotton wool and protect them against every risk of school life contrasts with the way children were raised in pioneer days. No parent would then have dreamed of sparing his son the risk of possible accident by not teaching him how to shoot a rifle. Survival in pioneer days depended on being a handy shot; the risk of a child's hurting himself had to be taken.

Peace in Algeria

President de Gaulle seems to be making some progress in his efforts to settle the Algerian revolt. This area of North Africa has been troublesome for many years and a peaceful settlement of the differences between the Algerians and the French would be very welcome to the peoples of the free world at this time.

France no longer is a colonial power, and the people of France probably would have been better off today if they had lost their colonies many years ago. The colonies have kept France poor.

De Gaulle is not trying to hold Algeria as a colony, but with the support of the large number of Algerians who are French, he hopes Algeria will become a part of France, with full citizen status in the Republic. Alternatives would be complete independence or independence with membership in the French Union.

It is encouraging to know that progress is now being made toward the approval of a plan to solve their problems by peaceful means. They probably never could have been solved under conditions enforced by military action.

Washington Weeps

Citizens of Washington, D. C., are unhappy because they are voteless and have no direct voice in federal government. Up to now we are not decided as to whether they are deserving of our sympathy.

They complain because the government owns, tax-exempt, 43 per cent of the city's land area. Foreign governments, and other tax-exempt groups, drawn to Washington because it is the national capital, own another 9.8 per cent. The city therefore has only 47.2 per cent of its area as a tax base.

But Congress appropriates large sums of money to the city in lieu of taxes, and our guess is that the property owners of Washington have no more reason to complain than have the taxpayers of any other large city. Washington is a beautiful city and seems to be well maintained. There is no evidence of penny-pinching in the municipality's housekeeping.

It seems that everyone on the receiving end of a government pay check shares in the belief that the government is shamefully lacking in appreciation.

Great Hindsight

Presidential candidate Kennedy had ready answers for questions asked him on a TV show one night last week. What did he think of the way the administration was handling Castro? He was satisfied with what was being done. But he was not satisfied with what had been done. We have a Castro because we tolerated a Batista. Shame on Eisenhower for tolerating a Batista.

It wasn't clear to us how candidate Kennedy proposed to deal with the Batistas who spawn the Castros. Meddling with the internal affairs of our neighbors is risky business at best, and from our observation it is better that we let the neighbors settle their own differences.

But assuming that Kennedy is right and that the Eisenhower administration really is responsible for Cuba's Castro, let's keep in mind that Ike inherited a few problems that can be traced back more directly to the bungling of his predecessors.

There is Berlin for instance, which certainly cannot be charged up to the ineptness of the Republicans. We all agree that Yalta was a mistake and that Joe Stalin outslickered our representatives in that deal. But as we see it Yalta is not an issue in the present campaign, nor is Batista. It is now too late to intervene in Cuba four years ago to save Cuba from Castro.

In Kennedy's favor, let it not be said that he is lacking in hindsight.

Hustle Will Help

The wage increase that the administration forced upon the steel industry last year was contrary to the best interests of both American industry and American labor. Steel workers were already well paid by high American standards. The pay increase probably could be absorbed by the largest and most efficient steel companies, but not all companies could absorb it and the result is that our steel industry is less able than it was to meet foreign competition.

But the harmful effect of that wage increase was not limited to the steel industry. It was far more damaging to our national economy as it established a pattern for wage increases in other industries. The wage boost for the steel workers was used as justification for a pay boost for railroad workers, and now a cowardly Congress has voted an across-the-board wage increase for all federal employees. No one but a vote-buying politician could justify such a pay increase at this time.

So around we go on another upward swing of the inflation spiral, and this time, much more than before, the American worker is going to feel the adverse effects of this folly.

From now on cost increases and price increases are going to result much more directly in increased unemployment. As our costs go up we are going to become less and less competitive in the world markets, and as we become less competitive, our share of the products sold in the world markets, including our own, will steadily diminish. As our hourly wage scales go up, and we get still farther out of line with production costs in other countries, our pay checks will get smaller and the fewer of the inflated dollars that we do get will buy less.

There is one way by which this result could be cushioned and that is by increased efficiency. Work practices that impede production and work rules that are not in keeping with machine-age progress should not be tolerated. In self defense and in justification of above-world-level wage scales, organized labor should lead the fight for maximum efficiency and automation.

That is our only hope for survival as a leading industrial nation. We have enjoyed the highest living standard in the world because of the efficiency of our mass-production methods. But we no longer have a monopoly on machines, and we rapidly are losing markets to the more efficient machine operators of other countries.

We have been living in a fool's paradise and we are headed for a rude awakening from a pleasant dream. We are about to discover that we are not a nation of supermen and that to maintain our position as one of the great industrial nations of the world we will have to get back to work and put in a lot of hustle.

Red China Victory?

Jacques Nevard of the New York Times, reporting from Hong Kong, looks upon the cancellation of the Eisenhower visit to Japan as a gain and prestige builder for Red China rather than for Khrushchev and the Russians. According to Nevard the anti-American demonstrations in Tokyo were looked upon generally by Far East observers as a Chinese rather than a Russian show.

As a result of this 'victory' he thinks the Chinese Reds are now in a much stronger position in the Communist world and will have more voice in the determination of policies. This, Nevard thinks, could be bad, stating:

"The basic theory behind the Chinese nurturing and support of the Japanese reaction against the U.S. security pact was openly announced nearly a month before the collapse of the Paris summit meeting.

"In newspapers and magazines, Peiping has made clear that it believes capitalist countries—which it considers dependent upon imperialistic exploitation of underdeveloped nations—can be isolated because people's resentments against capitalism are reaching a high point throughout the world. To buttress this belief it offered in evidence developments in Cuba, Africa, Turkey, Panama and South Korea.

"Based on this evidence, it is the Chinese position that the time is now ripe for final anti-imperialist wars and revolutions, as predicted by Lenin.

"It is this view that is behind Peiping's position in the current fight over doctrine being waged on the theoretical level between Red China and the Soviet Union. China feels that there is more to gain now by constant pressure against the West because, in its estimate of the situation, capitalism is in its death throes. The Soviet Union, at least Khrushchev and his adherents, apparently are still convinced that the best path to victory lies in bargaining with the West.

"The big question now is how much ground the Chinese position will gain in the Kremlin in view of its demonstrated success in Japan."

Automation Problems

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

New York has held its first state conference on automation. At the suggestion of Governor Rockefeller, a group of business and labor executives, public officials and technical experts got together for quiet, off-the-record discussion of how best to gain the advantage of intense mechanization while still protecting individuals from serious and prolonged hardships.

Both labor and management representatives agreed to continue the meetings at intervals and seek mutually beneficial programs. The New York plan is somewhat similar in principle to the Kaiser steel company's committee approach to its work rules difficulties. A committee of executives, union officers and a public representative is trying to reach agreement on modification of union rules which allegedly interfere with efficiency.

The quiet approach to automation and mechanization problems may encourage reasonable discussion instead of belligerency. At least that is the hope of its proponents. Labor leaders charge that some management groups use charges of union "featherbedding" practices primarily for anti-labor propaganda, rather than for sincere efforts to resolve differences amicably. Nevertheless, labor and management have a mutual stake in efficient operations, and some means must be developed to tackle the waste-work problem constructively.

"This is a weather guage, sonny," he said. "How can you possibly tell the weather with a piece of rope?" the tourist asked. "It's simple, sonny," was the droll answer. why Mercury is the better low-price car!

MORE VALUE. Just look at these Mercury advantages over other low-price cars:
You ride smoother because Mercury has up to 8 inches more wheelbase . . . and is up to 494 pounds heavier. You're more comfortable because of Mercury's extra shoulder room, leg room, and foot room. You feel safer because Mercury's brakes are bigger (up to 26%), and visibility is better (up to 21% more). Mercury has at least two dozen extra values. Why not enjoy them all, and save a little money, too?

PRICES START $63 TO $66* BELOW EVEN THE LOWEST-PRICED V-8 POWERED PLYMOUTH FURY OR CHEVROLET IMPALA.

And we're not talking about a 'stripped' Mercury. This price comparison is based on a de luxe-appointed Monterey with luxurious nylon interior and deep, soft wall-to-wall carpeting.

This amazing price story is the result of Mercury's dramatic 1960 price reductions (as much as $174 lower than last year, including extras that are now standard equipment).

Every Mercury is lower priced than last year. All Montereys are now low-price cars. They are priced below, or within a few dollars of, the other de luxe V-8 series in the low-price field. Come in. See for yourself.

LEARNING NOT TO HEAR

by Dr. Paul La Renz

Have you ever noticed how babies react to sound? Sometimes a baby will stop playing suddenly, turn his head, and seem to listen. You might not have noticed the cricket chirping, because you were listening to a news broadcast on the radio. But the baby heard the cricket, even with the radio blaring away. This is because new things and new sounds are irresistible to him. But, if he hears that cricket sound again and again, and nothing interesting ever happens as a result, he stops paying attention to it. The sound is just as loud as before, and the baby's hearing is just as keen. But he has learned to not-hear by not-listening.

As he grows up, he becomes so good at not-listening that he goes right on playing while you shout at him. But when his favorite TV program is on at top volume, he manages to hear the ice cream man's bell eight blocks away. In the same way, your car mechanic has learned not to listen to the engine's roar as he listens to the fainter sound of an ailing piston. Mothers can sleep through a thunderstorm, but leap out of bed when the baby whimpers. Sounds of cars, clocks, footsteps, hissing radiators and dozens of other things pour into our ears all day long, but we have learned to not-listen to most of them.

We live in such a sea of sound that none of us could pay attention to anything for long if we did not learn to ignore the less important noises around us. Exactly how we do this is not known. Scientists do know that the nervous system has a traffic control center which keeps out the unimportant sound and lets the important messages go through, but it must be trained to this job properly. The new hearing aid user soon finds that he lives in a very noisy world. He finds that with his aid he can hear much more than he cares to hear. To get the most good from his hearing aid, he must learn to sort out the useful sounds from the useless noises. You could call this learning how to hear again. But it also involves learning to not-hear. You must learn to not-hear again in order to hear well.

CHEVROLET
OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—
Chevy middleweights get 1/3 more work done in a day!
Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.
If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

Rani Says Goodbye to Friends Here Before Leaving for Far East

MOCHAMMAD SJACHRANI

Mochammad Sjachrani, popularly known as Rani, who is leaving Thief River Falls Saturday on the first leg of his trip back to his native Indonesia after having attended Lincoln high school the past year as an American Field Service student, sent the following message to the Times, expressing his appreciation of the friendly treatment accorded him by local people:

It is hard to believe that the time has been running so fast and that I only have two and a half days left in this nice town. Yes, on Saturday, the 25th I have to leave this town for Duluth, from Duluth on the 29th I will travel to the East—Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Washington, D. C., and will fly back home from New York August 2. Almost everybody whom I know asked me if I am anxious to get home to see my parents and family again. Of course I am, but I still don't want to leave you. You had been so nice and friendly to me, and had helped me in many ways—especially in English, practically all American people are my English teacher. You had given me so many presents etc., it is hard for me to say good-bye to nice people like you.

Through this local paper I would like to thank Mr. and Mrs. George A. Mostue and boys for taking me into their home as one of their children. Mr. and Mrs. Mostue are (I won't say were, because they will always be) my parents—my American parents; I was staying free this past year, they bought me clothes as they did for their own children, cooked me the same food, taught me the things which American children are supposed to do, etc. There was no exception I feel at home with them.

To the Rotary club of this town between me and their children, and to the local AFS committee and Lincoln high school I thank you very much for your wonderful works with AFS in New York which have given me this opportunity to visit and study in this country. I thank Rotary club because this organization has been sponsoring this exchange student program since its start in the town, and so it also has given me the possibility of my visit to this country. I thank Mr. Iverson, the President of local AFS committee for giving a good schedule of my speeches to groups in this town and others, so it kept me away from giving speech more than once a week, and for sending me to other towns for AFS meetings or other purposes. I thank the local AFS committee as a whole and of course the Lincoln high school teachers and students, I thank you so much for their help.

I would also like to thank the Thief River Falls Times for their issues concerning myself particularly and AFS generally, and also for issuing these few words.

Besides those I mentioned above, I would like to thank those who gave me the gifts and helps this past year. I thank everybody in this town for their kindness and friendliness to me. I will always remember you as nice and friendly people. I enjoyed my stay in this part of the United States. My experience in this country has been one of the lights in my life.

And now I have to say goodbye and thanks again for everything, long life the people of Thief River Falls, hope I'll see you again some.

Good-bye,
Mochammad Sjachrani

Marshall Co. ASC Opens '60 Checkup
31 Workers Now Making Performance Check

The annual job of checking performance on farms participating in the acreage allotment, price support, and Conservation Reserve program in Marshall county is now beginning, A. E. Strandquist of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office announced today.

The work is being done by 31 reporters who are hired on a seasonal basis and specially trained for acreage measurement work.

Strandquist urges cooperation of all farmers in assisting the reporters with their work. Farmers, he said, can help by having someone who is familiar with the farm available to help the reporter if the operator is away.

Crops being measured at this time in the county are wheat, soil bank base crops, and sugar beets. The job of the reporter is to outline planted acreage on an aerial photograph. The photograph is returned to the county office where the acreage is computed by the office staff by means of a planimeter, a wheel-type instrument which accurately computes the area outlined.

Cantaloupe and Melons Good Buys
'U' M. Marketing Agent Reports on Food Market

Many of the fruits coming to Minnesota markets this week should solve the dessert problem for family picnics and barbecues.

Watermelon from Texas, cantaloupe from Arizona and California and fresh pineapple are in liberal supply and reasonably priced, reports Mrs. Eleanor Loomis, extension consumer marketing agent at the University of Minnesota. Santa Rosa plums, early varieties of California peaches and strawberries from Michigan are also appearing on markets.

Radishes and leaf lettuce are the most plentiful homegrown vegetables this week. Abundant shipped-in vegetables include California long white potatoes, cucumbers, vine-ripe tomatoes from California and Mexico.

Chicken fryers, turkey, arm and blade pot roasts, chuck, round and sirloin steaks and eggs are among the best buys in protein foods. Chuck steaks are an average of 20 cents a pound lower than round steak and 30 cents lower than sirloin. Chuck steaks are suitable for broiling and frying indoors or for grilling outdoors, Mrs. Loomis says. Link sausages and picnics are the best buys in pork.

Look for specials on frozen TV dinners, canned peaches and pineapple, frozen strawberries and blackberries and frozen fruit drinks. Many of the concentrated frozen fruit drinks are good sources of vitamin C—especially lemon and limeade, strawberry, raspberry and pineapple frozen punches, Mrs. Loomis says.

PIONEERING WITH CHRIST

SCHOOL "Pioneering With Christ" was the theme this year of the daily vacation Bible school of the Evangelical Free Church of Thief River Falls. The school, which closed last Friday, was the best yet, according to Pastor Joseph Swan.

The picture shown above is of a part of the school pupils giving their salutes to the American and Christian flags prior to marching through the covered wagon to their morning classes.

Mrs. Lester Gustafson was superintendent of the school, and Mrs. Everett Kompellen was chairman of the Vacation School Committee.

Homemaker Needs to Know Names of Fibers

A woman can increase her vocabulary today by reading the labels found on clothing.

A new textile labeling law, effective since early in March, set up 16 generic groups and required fabric labels to give the generic group of the fibers present. These names are new to most homemakers, but should be understood in order to get full benefit from the law, according to Athelene Scheid, extension clothing specialist at the University of Minnesota.

Polyester is the generic name for Dacron, Kodel, Mylar, Teron and Vycron. The generic name Spandex cover the elastic fibers Lycra, Vyrene and Tycron. All polyester fibers come from one basic chemical formula. Spandex fibers come from another.

Polyester fibers resist wrinkling and dry quickly. Pleats can be heat set. The fibers are strong and wear well, are elastic and resistant to sunlight, mildew, moths and pilling. They are used for wash-and-wear fabrics, curtains, knits and blends for suits and slacks.

Care of polyester fibers is easy. Wash in moderate temperature water with a non-soap detergent or mild, neutral soap; rinse thoroughly. Chlorine bleaches may be used. Oily stains should be treated with solvent or cool water and detergent before washing. Washing may set the stains if they are not pretreated. Garments of polyester fibers may be drip dried, or machine dried for a short time with controlled heat. If pressing is necessary, use low heat.

Spandex is an easy word to remember. Simply juggle a few letters and you get the word "expands". This is exactly what the fiber does. In addition to being very elastic, Spandex fibers are urable, resist perspiration and body oils, are light weight and exceptionally strong. These qualities make Spandex fibers good for swim wear and foundation garments.

Spandex fibers require the same care as similar elastic fibers with rubber. They should not be exposed to excessive sunlight or heat or to oils, fats and greases found in lotions, creams and body oils. Wash Spandex frequently in warm—never hot—water with a mild detergent or special concentrate for elastic.

Car Hits and Kills Cow at Marcoux

A Larimore, N. D., motorist reported to the highway patrol Sunday night that his car struck and killed a cow on Highway 2 four miles west of Marcoux Corner.

The car was damaged in the collision, damages being estimated at $300 to $400.

A highway patrolman said several cows had wandered onto the highway. Before they could be rounded up, other cars experienced near-collisions with the animals.

FENCE-SITTING

Fence-sitting isn't the safest occupation for the small fry, even if it is fun.

But fence-sitting for grown-ups is neither safe nor fun!

A man has to take a stand. He must let the world know his convictions. He must live them!

The principles in which we believe can perish while we dawdle uncommitted, uncertain or unchurched.

Behind the iron curtain men who are determined to overthrow freedom and faith hide neither their communism nor their atheism.

Here in America on a Sunday morning, no man can afford to sit on the fence IF he believes in God, and in the right to worship Him in the Church of his choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

By CEDRIC ADAMS

SOMETHING YOU MAY NOT KNOW: There are basically three kinds of color-blindness (red-green, yellow-blue, and total color-blindness) and about 99 per cent of those afflicted are in the red-green group. In this country an estimated two million persons are color blind. Most of them are men, however, but although some women have it, they are more apt to transmit the defect to their children than to suffer it themselves . . . Have a short poem! There's one thing I've learned for certain, a lemon I won't abandon: People who do the most kicking, usually don't have a leg to stand on.

BEST OFFERING this month for Let's Have Better Office Mottoes: "We don't want 'Yes Men' Around Here—Everybody Agree?" . . . The high cost of living: It now takes $2.07 to buy what a dollar bought back 20 years ago in 1940 . . . Did you know that you can use any watch for a compass by holding it flat with the hour hand pointed toward the sun? South will always be halfway between the hour hand and 12 o'clock on the dial . . . Overheard: "She broke off with him because of his regular habits. He drinks regularly, gambles regularly and cheats regularly."

QUANTITY used to be the important factor for iron mining in Minnesota. We had plenty of iron ore. Nowadays, though, while we still have plenty of iron ore, we can't sell it because QUALITY has become the important factor. Iron ore today has to meet high quality standards just like any other product. If you can't measure up quality-wise, you have tough sledding. That's why Minnesota's mining companies are trying to attract investment money . . . so they can build processing plants which will improve the quality of Minnesota's iron ore.

YOUR LIBRARY BOOKSHELF will soon be given over to paperbacks, it seems. More than 6,000 are now available in the soft-cover editions and the number of "good" books bound in the soft covers is growing rapidly. Psychology enters into their sales, with weighty volumes scaring off readers while the paperbacks look less formidable. Students, too, are reading more books because of the paperback editions. In many cases, it is often cheaper to buy a best-seller in paperback than to borrow a hardcover copy from a rental library. It means that the paperbacks have now become prestige books.

Council Thursday Night Asks Bids on Issue of $225,000

At at adjourned meeting of the city council Thursday evening, June 23, it was decided to call for bids for $225,000 in waterworks improvement bonds. Bids will be opened July 18 at 8 p.m.

James Olson of the bond firm of Juran and Moody, St. Paul, was present at the meeting to discuss the matter with the council. The bonds will mature over a 20-year period.

No action was taken on the petition for curb and gutter for the west side of Markley av. S., from Hughes to James st. and on both sides of James from Markley to the alley.

The council voted to purchase a used manual adding machine for use at the airport and to turn over the electric machine now at the airport to the municipal court for its use.

No action was taken on the matter of sealcoating the runways, taxi strips and ramps at the airport but the council approved the installation of a unit to filter iron from water at the airport. The purchase and construction, which will amount to $675, will be a supplement to the contract with the Davidson Well Drilling company which recently deepened the well. State funds will pay for two-thirds of the cost and the city's share will be $225.

The council accepted the bid of the Municipal Equipment company of Hopkins to furnish a sewer cleaning machine for city use at a cost of $1,813.30. Other bids included one from the same firm for a different kind of machine at a cost of $4,120.80 and from the American Pipe Cleaning company of Minneapolis which bid $4,130.37 for its machine.

The council was informed that no word had been received from the state highway department relative to the sealcoating of state highways in the city, and sealcoating downtown streets will be delayed until this information is at hand. Approval was given by the council to a project of steam cleaning cracks in the pavement and filling them with tar before the winter season.

Following adjournment of the meeting, the council went into closed session to consider unannounced matters.

Henrik Shipstead, Senator 24 Years, Succumbs Sunday

Henrik Shipstead, 79, former United States senator from Minnesota, died in his sleep Sunday at an Alexandria nursing home.

A vigorous isolationist, Mr. Shipstead served four terms in the senate—from 1922 to 1946—before he was defeated in the Republican primary by then Gov. Edward J. Thye.

Mr. Shipstead waged his last campaign almost entirely on his opposition to American participation in the United Nations and to extension of further government loans to foreign nations.

Mr. Shipstead and the late Sen. William Langer of North Dakota were the only members of the senate who voted against United States ratification of the United Nations charter.

Mr. Shipstead won his first three terms in the senate on the Farmer-Labor ticket, his last as a Republican. He was the first Farmer-Laborite elected to the senate.

In recent years the senator was ill with Parkinson's disease. He spent a brief period in Willmar state hospital in 1956 and in March 1957 was committed to the state hospital at Fergus Falls.

In July 1959 he left there and went to the Nelson Rest home at Alexandria.

Services will be at 10:30 a.m. Thursday in the First English Lutheran church, Alexandria. Burial will be in Kinkead cemetery, Alexandria.

Juvenile Thievery Probe Continues

Additional Loot Being Discovered by Police

Investigation into the city's latest upsurge in shoplifting and petty thefts continued this week.

Police said this morning they still have several names to check out in the case, which has so far revealed thefts of articles valued at close to $1000 or even more. The relatively small, loose thread which started the case became a large skein once the thing began to come unravelled, and the pile of contraband in the police station grows ever larger.

Just what action will be taken against the offenders is, at present, unknown, pending the completion of questioning of those yet to be brought in in the case.

Meanwhile, said Capt. Larry Runger, the stack of statements given by those questioned, even though written in shorthand, is reaching large proportions.

Council Hears Storm Sewer Job Objectors

Action on Project Deferred Following Hearing Thursday

Opposition to the proposed storm sewer project which would drain the area of Davis and Dewey avs. and Red Lake blvd. between Fourth and Sixth sts. was voiced at a hearing by the city council Thursday evening, June 23. The council took the matter under advisement and adjourned the meeting until July 19 when it will be examined further.

Two main objections were voiced by spokesmen for the area; that they could see no benefit to residential property by the project and assessment and that some owners of residences on Davis av. would have to pay too large an assessment for the benefits they would receive.

D. H. Stewart, consulting engineer for the city, opened the session with an explanation of the area drainage problem. Stewart told the audience of a situation at Dewey av. and Sixth st. and for the entire length of Davis av. Part of the area drains into the sanitary sewer system, he said, and this must be stopped because the sewage treatment plant is overloaded. He explained that the previous figure for assessment published in the Times ($173 for a 50 x 140-foot lot) was only the first thinking of the council and that a new system, which he emphasized was not final, had been set up.

The total project was estimated at $13,300 by the engineer. State aid funds in the amount of $4,300 would be used and the city's sare of the cost would be $3,000 leaving about $6,000 to be raised by special assessments against benefited property owners.

Stewart said that tentative plans called for assessments to be computed in two ways: Davis av. property owners would pay three times as much for benefits to a 50 x 140-foot lot as owners of other property. Using such a system, owners of a standard lot on Davis would pay an estimated $162 while others would pay $54. Those who owned lots which are not the standard depth of 140 feet would pay less.

Milton Reierson, fifth ward alderman and chairman of the tax and assessment committee, explained that assessments could be paid over a 15-year period with 6% interest being charged. The first year payment on an

Women Foresters Note Golden Anniversary

St. Ann's Court 855 of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters celebrated its 50th anniversary on Sunday, June 19. The ceremonies started at 10:30 a.m. with a high mass with Rev. Keough Patnode as celebrant. Members received communion in a body.

A memorial service was conducted by Christine Giefer for the 23 deceased members; for the organizer of the court, Rev. Adolph Dingman; and for High Court Past Chief Ranger, Mary McCullough. The processional was played on the pipe organ by Beverly Kleinwachter as members proceeded to the front pews. The names of deceased members were read as a vigil light was lit alternately by two juvenile foresters, Rosemary Votava, who had a deceased great-grandmother and by Sandra Protz, who had a deceased great-grandmother and an aunt. Godelyne and Bernice Troumbly arranged the Blessed Virgin's Altar for this service using in the center a beautiful crucifix given to the court for this occasion by Mary Strom. A prayer for the deceased members was offered by the Court's Chaplain. To conclude the service the "Ave Maria" was sung by a group of girls from the St. Bernard's school choir accompanied by Beverly Kleinwachter.

Barbara Votava at the guest book registered approximately 60 members and guests. St. Ann's Court 855 has 158 adult members and 141 juveniles residing in 16 various states including Alaska and Canada. Frances Engelstad served punch from a large crystal bowl which was placed on a serving table decorated with yellow roses and ferns. A large bulletin board and display table which contained interesting news clippings, pictures, articles new and old used by the court and a very interesting Scrap Book covering the Juvenile Court's activities since its beginning in 1944.

At 1 p.m. the banquet opened with prayer by Rev. Keough Patnode. The menu was planned by Angeline Breznay and Frances Engelstad. It was prepared and served by Aurelia Lawson and her daughter, Mary Ann.

The program began with the Forester Ode and the Pledge of Allegiance by the audience. Chief Ranger Joan Schob then introduced the guest speaker, Monsignor A. I. Merth, pastor of the Sacred Heart church in East Grand Forks, who had been the Court's chaplain for nearly 25 years; present chaplain, Rev. Patnode; the two charter members, Sophie Kunkel of St. Cloud and Georgian Thiverge of Rainy River, Ontario; the present officers of the Court; the past Chief Rangers present who were Marion Mabey, Blanche Protz, Florentine Kozojed and Christine Giefer.

Vocal selections by Marion Mabey and Gloria Bushaw were enjoyed. The history of the Court was divided into two parts. Louise Dorn, a member of the Court since 1915 read the history of the first 25 years and Mildred Gall, the present recording secretary, related events of the last 25 years.

Fifty-year membership pins were presented to the two charter members. Perfume pencils with an attached Forester emblem were given to Doris Goulet for having the most Forester members in her family; to Georgian Theverge for coming the longest distance and to Mary Ann Lawson for being added to the membership roster at this anniversary. Barbara Votava was presented with a gift for her many years of service to the Court as an officer since she joined in 1916. These special gifts were presented by Chief Ranger Joan Schob with the assistance of Janet Bedard, a juvenile member.

Council Hearing Is Held on Storm Sewer Project

assessment of $54 would be about $6.84 and payments would decrease about 20 cents each year, it was estimated.

The first member of the audience to be heard was H. O. Berve, attorney representing a number of taxpayers of the affected area. He presented a petition against the project which bore 52 signatures and said that these people felt they have sufficient drainage, don't need the project and object to being assessed for something that would not benefit them.

Roy Lee, council president, told the audience that water from a catch basin in the area is now draining into the sanitary sewer system and is overloading the treatment plant. "If that catch basin is plugged to keep surface drainage water out of the sanitary system, it will have to drain somewhere," he said. "You say that you have enough drainage but you have no drainage into the storm sewer system." He went on to say that surface water draining into the sanitary system had caused flooding in the basement of the Eagles hall and another building in the area.

E. B. Benson, alderman of the ward in which the storm sewer would be constructed, said that the $173 assessment figure should never have appeared in the paper and that the new figure of $54 may throw a different light on the matter.

Harlan Huseth, 603 Red Lake blvd., declared that Davis av. needs the drainage and Red Lake blvd. does not. He observed that his boulevard is now blacktopped and asked if there would be any way to drain Davis without affecting the other parts of the area.

Frank Schmitz, 511 Dewey av., said that many people didn't know just how far the project was going and that some of the petition signers were from the area north of Sixth st. which would not be affected.

M. R. Levorson, 522 Red Lake blvd., said that the people on his street don't need a storm sewer and asked what benefits he would receive. The matter of truck traffic on residential streets of the area then arose. Several residents declared that trucks go north on Red Lake blvd. for two blocks, then over to Dewey av., tearing up both streets. Alderman Lee suggested that residents turn in the license number of these trucks and was answered by Schmitz and others who said that there was "no teeth in the law and the truckers know it." Alderman Lee said that the council is now considering a system of zoning streets which would take care of that situation.

Schmitz then brought up the question of assessments for the few residences on Davis av. for the proposed storm sewer and for future surfacing. It was explained that the homes are in a commercial zone and would have to pay the same assessments as the owners of elevators and other commercial establishments on the rest of the street. Schmitz observed some of these people might lose their homes because of high assessments and declared that "old folks are being bled for improvements." Others then also expressed the opinion that they felt residence owners on Davis av. should not have to pay as much as commercial property owners.

Robert Wurst, city attorney, then explained that the law states that people can be assessed for the benefits received and that all property on Davis av. is in a commercial zone. He asked, "Who can say how much each property owner benefits?" pointing out that it would be impossible to set up any kind of assessment role if all the factors of how much each owner's property is used are considered.

Following the hearing, the council adjourned until the July 19 meeting when the matter will be considered further.

The Library Corner

By Eleanor Olson

Gerschwin's theory that summertime living is easy doesn't seem to apply to northern Minnesota where the period between frosts is so short. All our activities become super-energized to squeeze them all into the balmy daylight hours we dreamed of all winter. As a result even our leisure time takes on frantic overtones and our reading must be quick and easy. Mysteries, light novels and the current laugh-provoking studies on our social scene are favorites at the Library.

With so many projects shouting for attention in the house and yard however, this popular demand for "speedy" reading doesn't provide the answer to my reading needs. I must have a book that I can pick up and lay down again without the nagging desire to read on and on to rescue the trial beset hero or heroine. But linked with this I must also have a book that is thought-provoking enough to keep my brain from getting rusty from disuse. If such a book just incidentally lifts my summer cooking from the doldrums of potato salad and hamburgers or makes me more aware of the magic world of flowers, trees and sky all around me, so much the better.

Actually there are a number of books which fill these seemingly impossible requirements. One, an old favorite that I reread from time to time is Louise Dickinson Rich's "We Took to the Woods." It has a delightful background of the remote backwoods of Maine and a wonderful recipe for old fashioned oven baked beans. Mrs. Rich's newer book, "The Peninsula," is written from a cabin just behind the tideline of Maine's rocky shoreline and describes the lobster industry in detail. (A refreshing change from our own inland existence.) Hal Borland's "This Hill, This Valley" is a perfect picture of the cycle of the seasons in the New England countryside.

But my newest find for truly satisfying summer reading is Gladys Taber's "Stillmeadow Sampler." (This is her fifth book; I shall go on to read the others.) Like a letter from an old friend, her picure of life in her pre-revolutionary house in Connecticut is rich in its reminiscences, rewarding in tidbits about the pets, the neighbors and life in the village. I'm intrigued by her recipe for stuffed cucumbers and I ponder her philosophy for living in a world menaced by the threat of nuclear warfare while I sweep the garage or hoe the garden.

I shall never meet Shirley Booth, the Broadway actress, personally, but meeting her in Mrs. Tabor's living room was exciting. I am adding Faith Baldwin to my list of "to reads" because Mrs. Tabor's description of her ties in with the enticing glimpse I've had of her through her small column in one of the "gorcery store" magazines. And I've added some of Mrs. Tabor's own favorite books to my list as well.

Although Gladys Tabor repeats herself now and then you won't mind any more than I did if you want a book you can pick up and lay down. Mrs. Tabor is obviously writing as we read, between projects.

HAIL
Where? When? Wish We Knew!
But we do know this. It doesn't make good sense to invest a lot of time, money and hard work in a crop and then have hail destroy it in a few moments. It makes better sense to call us about some low-cost hail insurance.

Thieves Defeated by Bagley Sunday 2 to 1

Scoring an unearned run on a pair of outfield errors with two men out in the eighth inning, the Bagley Merchants broke a 1-all tie to give lefty Dennis Fallon a 2 to 1 win over the Thieves and righthander Bob Hallameck in a tense Northern Minny league game played at Bagley on Sunday night.

On Wednesday night the Thieves will travel to Fosston for a scheduled Northern Minny league encounter.

In other Northern Minny league activity Sunday, Cass Lake scored a 11 to 1 win over Erskine in a game played at Cass Lake; Fosston trounced Winger, 15 to 6, at Winger; and in an afternoon game at Gonvick, Bagley rolled up a 22 to 0 win over Gonvick.

In Sunday night's duel between Bob Hallameck and Bagley's Dennis Fallon, the Thieves' righthander held a considerable edge in the pitching statistics.

The two teams rocketed along in scoreless baseball for five innings. Bagley had garnered but two hits off Hallameck, both being wrong-field singles by righthanded hitting Curt Josephson. The Thieves collected their first safety when Glenn Carlson rapped a ground ball over second base, and which was knocked down by Don Bloomdahl but the Bagley second sacker could not recover in time to make the play to first.

In the sixth, the Thieves broke the scoring drouth when Gary Klungness led off with a walk. Dale Klungness forced Gary at second, pitcher to shortstop. Arlan Hjelle was called out on strikes. Dale banged a single into center field, scoring Dale Klungness.

Bagley, after threatening in the fifth inning, having men on second and third with one out only to have Hallameck throw out Josephson on a tap to the mound and strike out Jerry Riewer, scored the tying run in the seventh inning. With one out, Jim Lawrence beat out an infield hit to first base. Ross Fortier, batting for Bloomdahl, was a strikeout victim. Fallon, a southpaw swinger, poled a three-two pitch into left field for a triple, scoring Jim Lawrence with the tying run.

In the eighth inning, with Jerry Riewer and LeRoy Riewer being retired, Bill Lawrence gained a life when Dale Klungness muffed a well-hit fly ball, with Lawrence sprinting around to second base on the miscue. Tom Sorenson, a righthanded batter, then sliced a fly ball into right field that Duane Hodsdon failed to pull in as the ball curved near the foul-line. Bill Lawrence scored on the play, and Sorenson advanced to second. Tom Walhowe ended the inning, grounding out, second to first. The Thieves argued strenuously that Sorenson's fly ball was in foul territory when it was muffed, but the umpire's decision of fair ball prevailed.

Marshall County ASC Planning for Wheat Referendum

Farmers to Voice Views on Continuing Marketing Quotas in Vote July 21

A Marshall county wheat allotment of 96,784 acres for 1961 was announced today by Edward A. Johnson, chairman of the Marshall county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. The allotment is Marshall county's share of the national wheat allotment of 55 million acres.

The county allotment will be apportioned to wheat producing farms in the county by the ASC committee. The work of assigning allotments to individual farms will be completed early in July. Each farmer will be mailed an official notice of his wheat allotment before the wheat marketing quota referendum to be held on Thursday, July 21.

In the wheat marketing quota referendum at least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas if they are to be in effect. If quotas are approved, all farmers in the commercial wheat states with more than 15 acres of wheat who exceed their acreage allotments will be subject to marketing quota penalties on their excess wheat. Wheat growers who comply with the "feed wheat" program are exempted from the quota program. Growers who comply with their allotments will be eligible for price support at the full level available.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1961 wheat crop, penalties will not be in effect, but acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support. Growers who comply with their wheat allotments will be eligible for price support at 50 per cent of parity.

Voting places for the referendum will be announced later.

In Pen-Ro-Shall league play on Sunday, the Thief River Falls Bums and Badger marked up victories to continue to hold first place in the league standings. The Bums, with Freddy Jensen and Larry Ward sharing the pitching duties, defeated Grygla, 7-2, in a game played at Grygla. The heavy-hitting Badger team defeated Goodridge, 13-5, in a game played at Badger. The Plummer Red Sox surprised the Greenbush team to score a 5-1 decision in a game played at Plummer, with the loss dropping the Greenbush squad out of their three-way tie for the league lead.

The league teams will have an open date next Sunday, but several exhibition games are being scheduled. The Bums will participate in the Fourth of July celebration at Greenbush, and will engage the Greenbush club in an exhibition tilt.

Fine Fellows

A delegation of the Ben-Franklin trapshooting team, just about the entire squad in fact, paid a courtesy visit to the Times' office on Friday morning. They left a card of condolence, bearing a sweet sentiment, at the sports desk. You see, we picked the Times' trapshooters to beat the Franklins in last Thursday's match, by about three birds. And the result was a 117 to 114 win for Gene Gaer's squad.

The win moved the Ben Franklins into first place in the league standings as the trapshooters begin their second round of competition. In Thursday's win, Gene Gaer had a 14-8, Jim Disse a 22-1, Ralph Helm a 19-4, Bill Pederson a 17-7, and Bob Baker a 21-8. That totals 117. The Times compiled their 114 score on Bob Mattson's 20-2, Clarence Mattson's 21-3, Bill Dahlquist's 18-6, George Mostue's 19-4, and Jim Rude's 16-5. So it's congratulations to Gene Gaer and his pancake-eating gang of trapshooters, and let this be a lesson to us!

The most consistent marksmanship, though, was turned in by the high-average Wilson Bros. squad as they defeated the Starekow Clinic. The Wilson's had an aggregate of 124 and an actual bird mark of 113. Stan Wilson scored a 24-1, Sandy Wilson a 24-1, Cy Schantzen a 23-2, Merv Skadsen a 22-6, and Al Tonder a 20-4. The Wilson's are in third place in the league standings, having five wins and two losses, but they surely are entitled to be ranked as a "dark horse" contender as the second round opens.

Collecting Their Winnings

The Ken Johnson studio bowling team of Crookston earned eighty dollars in prize money in the WIBC tournament held in Denver, Colo., several weeks ago. Bess Lang and Mary Washnesky, top-flight local bowlers, participated in the tournament as members of the Johnson squad.

In addition to competing in the WIBC tourney, Bess and Mary competed in several independent tournaments in the Denver area, and the pair collected some loot as a result of their consistent bowling.

But are they spending their winnings? Decidedly not. The money is being placed in a reserve fund to be used for next season's trip to the WIBC tournament, which will be held in Fort Wayne, Ind.

Need Sponsors

Gordy Bjerken and Amorin Olson, local canoeists who had their entry accepted by the Minneapolis Aquatennial canoe derby committee, are doubtful starters in the Paul Bunyan 450-mile derby. And for the reason that they do not have a sponsor.

A thirty-five team lineup was announced on Sunday, and included in this list was Stan Otness and Dave Carlin of Fosston. Thirty-three teams failed to obtain sponsors, and in this group are Bjerken and Olson, and they have been notified they will not be able to compete unless they can secure their own sponsor, or the Aquatennial is able to provide additional sponsors before June 28. The cost of such sponsorship varies from $225.00 to $385.00, depending upon the length of time the team is in the race.

Miscellany

Four of the Minnesota Gophers' baseball players—Jim Tantz, John Erickson, Dave Pflepson, and Bob Wasko — have signed professional baseball contracts. Tantz, a pitcher, and Erickson, an infielder, have joined the Washington American league organization; Pflepson, an infielder, and Wasko, a pitcher, signed New York Yankee contracts, and have been assigned to the Fargo-Moorhead Twins of the Northern league. . . . Major league scouts in attendance at the Minnesota state high school baseball tournament last week expressed interest in the pitching potential of Crookston's righthanded Jim Turner and North St. Paul's lefty Don Arlich. The two boys are only juniors, so the scouts could not make overtures. . . . That John Groven who coached the North St. Paul team into the state tournament, and to a consolation championship, is a native of the Mentor-Erskine area. John, or Red as he is more commonly called, was a high-scoring basketball player for George Thorbrogger's Mentor team some years ago. Red enrolled at Concordia following the conclusion of his high school career.

Mpls. Washburn Is Again State Champ

Defeats Little Falls in H. S. Baseball Finals

The Minneapolis Washburn team made a successful defense of its Minnesota state high school baseball championships on Thursday night by scoring a 4 to 1 win over the Little Falls Flyers in the finals of the 14th annual state high school baseball tournament.

In other games played Thursday, Hutchinson gained third place by scoring a top sided 14-2 win over the Crookston Pirates of Region Eight; and North St. Paul won consolation honors with a 1 to 0 win over the Austin Packers.

In the championship finals, the heavy-hitting Washburn squad clubbed Little Falls' veteran southpaw, Louis Eich, for twelve hits, but only in the sixth inning could the Millers bunch their hits effectively, scoring three runs in that frame to break up a 1-1 tie.

Mpls. Wash.	001 003 x	4	12	1

Exchange Student to Greet Connie Ekeren on Arrival in Greece

Last year's American Field Service student attending high school in Thief River Falls was Mary Demetrellou, of Patras, Greece, wrote the following interesting letter to the Rotary Club of this city. Her Thief River Falls home was with the Dr. J. W. Ewings.

Dear Members of Rotary Club:

It has been so long since I wrote you, (and I apologize for that) that I hardly know where to start writing.

Well, after my coming over here I started giving English lessons to beginners of the English language. I do like this sort of work, and believe me I never get tired of teaching, although I teach for eight hours every day. You may wonder now how I get along with teaching, and if it is hard for me. Well, at first it was hard, but later after I attended some special courses given to the English teachers by an American professor, everything seemed easier. His lessons were based chiefly on recent experiments in English language teaching in non English-speaking countries. He also gave us manuals and guides for teachers dealing with classroom problems. Those courses helped me a great deal, and more over after I took these courses I started to think more seriously than ever before about improving my methods of English teaching.

Last fall I started going to an English College three hours every week, and there I study in order to get a diploma. If I get this, next year I'll be able to teach second and third grade.

Well, I think I should also tell you a little about the A.F.S. committee that we have in my town. It consists of the five of us kids—the returnees students of A.F.S. All of us have been very active, and we meet twice a month to discuss everything new, or to prepare the articles for our monthly pape rthat we issue in order to raise money for A.F.S. We write articles taking the subjects from the American life. Our paper is read by almost everybody. We have also worked very hard in order to find many families to [illegible] American students for the summer program of A.F.S. This summer we'll have about 8 exchange students in my town. One of the students that we'll have is Connie Ekeren. I was so glad to hear that Connie will come here. When I first heard it I couldn't believe my ears. Isn't that something for me to see somebody from T.R.F.? Her host family is a wonderful one. They have a lovely girl, and two nice boys. This morning I was over to their house, and they told me that they had just gotten a letter from Connie. They are looking forward to meeting her. I am sure that Connie will have a wonderful time staying with them, and Connie will get to all interesting parts of Greece, because her host family is rich and they travel a lot.

We are trying now to arrange our winter program. I think that we will have two students for the winter program. That will be wonderful and we think that this is the only way, so people all over the world will be friendly.

I am glad to say that our little government is strong, and people don't think much of Kruschef, especially after his visit to Paris, where as we think he went purposely to insult America, and to give publicity to Russia. But we are afraid that he did the opposite. He just hurt Russia. That was all.

I think I wrote you quite a lot, and you'll get tired by the time you get through with my letter.

Before I close I want to tell you that I miss all of you very much, and that I would give anything to visit T.R.F. again. But that almost seems impossible, because of the great distance that separates us. Don't forget now, if some day any of you come to Greece, please look me up. I'll be glad to do everything for you, when you are over here.

Yours Sincerely,
Mary Demetrellou

Taxpayers Assn. Reports on 1959 Legislature Term

State Lawmakers Set up New Record for Spending, Association Points out

Not only was the 1959 extra legislative session the longest in the state's 101-year history, but the lawmakers also set records for spending, and enacted the highest rates for income, inheritance, and several of the excise taxes, the Minnesota Taxpayers association report in its latest research bulletin.

These facts were cited in the 36-page financial and administrative review of the 1959 legislature, recently released by the Research Council of the association.

Harold T. Miller, research director of the association, points out that the 1959 legislature . . .

Increased approppriations for the four major money bills plus the miscellaneous appropriations by nearly $54 million—to a high of $490,560,296, or 12.6 per cent over the $436, 602,390 provided for comparable bills in 1957.

Increased the open and standing appropriations, which do not need to be reenacted each legislative session, by more than $8.3 million—up 29.3 per cent over the $28½ million appropriated for the 1957-59 biennium.

Reduced appropriations to be financed from borrowed monies, such as those for state buildings, by $7.1 million. However, the 1959 legislature did provide over $57.7 million for this purpose as compared to the record-breaking high of $64,921,939 enacted in the 1957 session.

All appropriations, exclusive of highway expenditures and federal aids, were increased by over $55.1 million—to $585,215,610, or 10.4 per cent over the $530,073,129 provided by the 1957 legislature.

"More and more people are evidencing real concern over our increasing state spending, says Mr. Miller, "for they realize that this higher spending, which is surpassing our economic growth, can only mean higher taxes for everyone."

Price Support of 85c Bu. on Rye in Marshall for '60

The price support rate on 1960-crop rye in Marshall county has been set at 85 cents per bushel for rye grading No. 2 or better, or grading No. 3 on the factor of test weight only, A. E. Strandquist, manager of the Marshall county agricultural stabilization and conservation office, announced today.

As in past years, the rye price support program will be carried out through purchase agreements or loans on farm-or-warehouse-stored grain. Support will be available from harvest time through Jan. 31, 1961. Loans will mature April 30, 1961.

The county rate is subject to being adjusted for any future freight rate decreases that may occur during the 1960 period of price support availability. This will be done to maintain fair relationships between county and terminal rates, Mr. Strandquist said.

Farmers interested in storing price support rye in a terminal warehouse may obtain information about terminal rates at the county ASC office. These rates reflect the freight and handling charges needed to get the rye to terminal markets.

Weekly Report of Soo Line on Crops Status

Alexandria to Thief River Falls

Cool, rainy weather prevailed this past week, providing from ¼ to 4 inches of rain over the area. Haying operations have been hampered by frequent rains. All grain crops are showing rapid, heavy growth except corn which is a little late due to cool weather. Soybeans are looking good. Sunny, warm days are needed now to dry up low wet spots where excess moisture has accumulated and to bring crops along.

Newfolden to Orleans

Haying has begun with farmers reporting heavy yields. An average of 1½ inches of rain was received on this subdivision this week. Moisture conditions are excellent. Nearly all small grains are looking very good. Some flax was planted quite late. Potato planting is practically completed; and with continued favorable weather, potato crop should be plentiful.

Viking to Rolette, N. D.

All grains have emerged and outlook is excellent. Potatoes and sugar beets are progressing well. Farmers are occupied with summer fallowing, weed spraying and cultivation of row crops. Top and subsoil moisture is excellent with ¼ to 1½ inches of rain received this week. Haying operations are in progress but have been interrupted by showers. Weather conditions have been excellent for development of all crops and prospects are bright.

Overly to Norma, N. D.

Precipitation ranged from none to ½ inch this week; and although moisture is adequate for the present, a good soaking rain would be welcome. All crops are progressing rapidly with prospects being especially optimistic for the rye. Forage crops are doing well. Thus far, no damage has been reported of any kind to grain crops.

Dahlen to Orrin, N. D.

An average of about ½ inch of rain received this week. Moisture supply is adequate for the present. The weather has been favorable for crop development and all grain crops look excellent. Haying operations to begin this week with heavy yields in prospect.

General

Nearly all crops are looking very good at this time. However, some flax was planted quite late and corn is a little late due to cool nights. Haying operations are being delayed by frequent rains. Moisture supply is very good on the First, Second and Third Subdivisions, and adequate for the present on the Fourth and Fifth Subdivisions where additional moisture would be welcome as thick stands of grain draw heavily on the moisture. Rye crop looking especially good on the Fourth Subdivision.

H. W. Peterson Is Named Manager of Garden Valley Co.

Appointed Last Week by Board; Orrin Ness Named Plant Superintendent

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Garden Valley Telephone company held last week, Harold W. Peterson was elected general manager to fill the vacancy left by the resignation of Carl M. Ostby who has served the past 15 years. Orrin H. Ness was appointed to the position of plant superintendent vacated by the elevation of Peterson. There were six applicants for the position of manager.

Peterson has been an employe of the company since 1928. He has worked his way up thru the ranks to the position of responsibility he now will be holding. He began work with a line construction crew. Later he was lineman or service man at Poppley and also at Red Lake Falls. During the period of rebuilding the Garden Valley plant and conversion to dial operation he was in charge of that work. The last four years he has served as plant superintendent.

Orrin (Bud) Ness who is taking over the plant superintendency has served with company for 11 years. He served as service man at Fosston and during the dial conversion he served as temporary plant superintendent. Later he attended a school for dial switchboard men at the Stromberg Carlson factory in Rochester, New York, and has since served in the capacity of Central Office equipment man.

What Went Wrong In Japan

The inability of the Kishi government to maintain order and its admission that it could not assure the safety of President Eisenhower if he appeared publicly in Tokyo was a serious reverse for our country in the Far East. Our defense against Communism in the Pacific was based largely on a partnership for peace with Japan. In view of what has happened, the status of that partnership at best must now be considered uncertain.

Letters received by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barzen from Kiyoshi Tanabe, Japanese student who lived with them when he attended school here three years ago, contain interesting reports on the Tokyo rioting and the opinions of a young man who certainly is friendly to our country. Following are portions of these letters dealing with the early stages of the rioting and the Hagerty incident:

Dear All:

I said I was busy at school but not in the true sense. As you know, that political confusion is upsetting our academic routine. We have over an hour hot debate in our class at least once two or three days a week these days. Until the twentieth of May, the topic was whether or not the security pact between the U.S. and Japan should be approved. But then it's been changed to whether the way it was forcibly passed through the congress is alright or not.

I don't think there are too many Japanese who are against the tie-up between the U. S. and Japan. But there were some points that should have been changed and made clear of doubt. That's my opinion, too. Kishi was reluctant to do that, and because it had been discussed in the Congress since February, he got sick and tired of waiting and took on the means unwise.

Another reason he did it was he wanted to have the pact approved before President Eisenhower comes. Of course, it would be much better that way, but the pact was too important to be influenced only by his visit. Officially his visit is going to be held in commemoration of the centenary of the first U. S.-Japan contact.

Kishi have made more enemy now by his foolish conduct which he would not have otherwise. I myself don't join the demonstration, but now lots of my friends and even professors are taking part in it. The theme is 'Protect the congress and democracy from dying out!' On the fourth of this month, general strike was successfully held, and there were not many people who were against it, or complained about it. So the status quo is very bad with Kishi. Every intelligent person is now against his policy.

I had been thinking that Eisenhower's visit should have no association with this political confusion in Japan, but it does not seem so now. Students, not many but radical ones, are planning a demonstration with his visit. I still think the security pact deal is the problem inside Japan and should not influence and be not influenced with his visit.

I personally would like to welcome him in the best way possible. I have been working on my close friends for cooperation, but most of the radical ones are out of reach. Now I think it would be just fine if Eisenhower cancel the visit, but the situation does not seem to allow him to do so, and the Japanese government would not withdraw its invitation, because if so that shows the political unstableness on its part.

I still think there won't be too much demonstration because I believe Japanese people should be politer, and it's a hope, too. But for all that, Permier Kishi should not force his way further. I should be very ashamed if anything happens to Eisenhower's visit, and I'll try my best to influence people in my way.

Dear All,

"I am sending this letter because I am worried about the situation caused by News Secretary Hagerty's visit. I think you are pretty mad at the way he was treated and that's quite natural. If one of our high officials gets a treat like that, we'll certainly be mad.

I know the history once written cannot be rewritten, and I admit what happened is what happened. Not only I but almost all the Japanese feel sorry and ashamed of the incident. However, I don't think it's entirely useless to give you datas and feelings on our side before your judgement.

You probably are already used to the name "Zengakuren", Federation of University Student Councils. All the university students have to belong to it (like closed shop) through every university's student council. Naturally I am a member of it. So I have a right to say something in its activities, but like most of the engineering students, I have neglected my duty, since I was too busy.

It was alright that way until recently, since there were not much of activity. Just some professional officials were active without much result. Then Premier Kishi resorted to the surprise passing of the bill.

Most of the students got mad and came to feel they had to express their opinion some way. Then professional "Zengakuren" officials took advantage of the situation, and "Zenkakren" has come about with such a big movement. But its' body now has become too big for them to have control over.

"Zengakuren" has from very radical trotskyites to mild plain students. And I can say it gets split in different ways every single day. It has only a few communists (they happen to be officials) and most others are just Premier Kishi's opponents, and quite many of them against just Kishi's bill-passing.

At Haneda Airport when Hagerty arrived, there happened to be most radical ones with the labor union leaders. They demanded Hagerty to meet one of their leaders, which was out of reason I think from the diplomatic standard. Those who were participating in the demonstration got mad by the instigation. They were stirred up by mob psychology and you can guess the rest of the story and you know it through newspapers already.

Fortunatley none of the engineering students in my university joined the act. I knew one who for sending demonstrators to the airport but now sorry for the result. I don't know why, though, the government did not send more policemen. That accident could have been prevented by strong police force.

President Eisenhower is leaving U S just in an hour from now. And I think the government learned a good lesson and does a better job when President comes.

In Japanese Constitution, there is a clause like your bill of rights which admits a gathering of people. So demonstration is inevitable. The demonstration in Tokyo, and all in Japan is getting larger and larger day by day. Newspaper says yesterday about 200,000 people made a demonstration against the congress in Tokyo. In whole Japan about 1,200,000 joined the demonstrations. It's very humiliating state for a democratic country that politics should be influenced by out-side-of-congress power. However it's something like a fire on the oil. If an unwise means taken, the fire will get really out of hand. President Eisenhower is coming, and I am just praying that nothing will happen to him to cast more ashame on Japan. I have a sort of hunch that things will go fine, because most of Japanese are regretting what has happened to Hagerty and to Japanese. But to make it sure, Premier Kishi is wise to withdraw the bill in the upper house, and start the session again after President Eisenhower's visit. Then everything, I take oath, will go fine. I am trying to pursuade my friends in either case to stop any rude conducts against Ike. But the number of people I can reach out is so small. I am very mad at my fellow AFS returnees who just don't take any action now and indifferent to all political things. A person like me is so uncomfortable to live in Japan now, but I am trying my best to keep up the friendship between U. S. and Japan. I hope you understand me. My mother and father are pro-Kishi, and they are so sorry about what has happened with Hagerty. They wanted me to say apology."

Kiyoshi

We hope Kiyoshi will write more letters telling of the problems in which we have a common interest.

That he was right in stating that the rioting reflected the disatisfaction of many good people with the Kishi government and was anti-American only to the extent that the dissatisfaction of the people was used by a small group of Communists, is borne out by other reports. Along that same line the Wall Street Journal makes the following interesting observations:

> Without in the least minimizing the seriousness to the U.S. position in Asia by what has happened in Japan, we would like to suggest that insofar as Japan herself is concerned all may not be as bleak as it may appear.
> One clue is the reaction of the Japanese themselves to the recent riots. Already Americans living in Tokyo are being overwhelmed with what are clearly spontaneous expressions of regret both over the riots themselves and the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit. They have come not merely from "officials" Japanese but from business associates, friends, cab-drivers and those met casually on streets and in shops.
> Another is the unusual behavior of the rioting mobs themselves. In the midst of the violence, American passers-by went unmolested personally. Press reports from Tokyo note that almost all the outcries and waving placards were directed against Premier Kishi, not against President Eisenhower or America; Except in the left-wing press even the attacks on the U.S.-Japanese security treaty have contained surprisingly few attacks on the U.S. as such.
> To anyone familiar with Japan these paradoxes are understandable, even while remaining paradoxes. President Eisenhower's visit got us inadvertently, and ineptly, embroiled in an internal political struggle involving both Premier Kishi personally and the larger political issue of what Japan's future role in the world should be. Certainly the Communists seized upon and used the issue of President Eisenhower's visit, but the political struggle would have flared up anyway.
> So we feel safe in saying that the rioting which wrecked plans for President Eisenhower's visit represent only a small part of public opinion in Japan, the out-and-out Communists who organized them and the followers who participated for other reasons. And probably only among the Communists were the riots aimed directly at the U.S. The majority in Japan, we are confident, feel as much "loss of face" in the outcome as do we Americans.
> But there is something else also to put on the hopeful side of the ledger, more important because it is more fundamental. That is the simple fact that Japan's physical security and economic future depend upon the United States. If we need Japan, Japan needs us more.
> And we think it reasonable to suppose that the great majority of the Japanese people are well aware of this, reasonable to hope that they will not be misled by vague appeals of pacifism or Communist propaganda. At any rate we think it can be a reasonable hope if in our own attitude and policies the U.S. now takes some care to nourish it.

It is well to keep in mind that the people of Japan have had very little experience in self-government. The recent experiences with uncontrolled rioting will lead to a better understanding of such things as the right to peaceful assembly and the need for law enforcement as the real safeguard of personal liberty.

The prospect for developing an effective partnership for peace with Japan is strengthened by the fact, as the Wall Street Journal points out, that Japan needs us just as much as we need Japan.

School Bus Men Hold Parley at Detroit Lakes

High taxes for government activities not only are hindering development of business, industry, jobs and farm markets in Minnesota and elsewhere but are stealing away individual rights and liberties, the Minnesota School Bus Operators' association was told at its annual convention in Detroit Lakes June 20.

The speaker, J. N. Christianson, St. Paul business executive, reminded his audience that the United States, "in a mere 400 years, has outdistanced nations with a heritage of over 4,000 years through the medium of private enterprise."

"By apathetically allowing our government to escape its fundamental purpose to do only those functions that could not be better done by the individuals themselves," Christianson said, "we are weakening our muscles at a time when we cannot afford to be anything but strong."

Christianson directed his remarks at both state and federal governments.

Gordon Forbes of St. Paul, assistant public relations counsel for the Minnesota Railroads association, spoke on transportation problems facing all private operators and reviewed acts of the 1959 Minnesota Legislature and their effect on the transportation industry.

Presiding over the session, which was attended by school bus operators from over the state was Kenneth Lee of Red Wing, president of the association.

Trainmen Settle Long Wage Dispute

Agreement Is Reached with Nation's Railroads

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen — largest of railroad operating unions—and the nation's railroads settled their 14-month-old wage dispute Wednesday, it was announced in Chicago.

The settlement calls for a 4 per cent—or 10.208 cents an hour—wage increase over a two-year period. This follows a pattern set earlier in the railroads' agreements with the engineer and conductor unions.

The 107,000-member union had sought a 14 per cent increase in wages. The railroads countered with a proposal to decrease wages by 15 cents an hour.

One half of the increase will take effect July 1, 1960; the other March 1, 1961. Present hourly wages range from $2.25 to $2.84 for the workers, who include brakemen, flagmen, baggagemen, yardmasters, switchtenders, dining car stewards and some conductors.

Plans Set for July 21 Vote on Wheat Quotas

9,359 Acres Wheat Are Allocated to Pennington for '61

A Pennington county wheat acreage allotment of 9,359 acres for 1961 was announced today by Patrick W. Culkins, office manager of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee. The allotment announced today is Pennington county's share of the national wheat allotment of 55 million acres.

The county allotment will be apportioned to wheat-producing farms in the county by the ASC committee. The work of assigning allotments to individual farms will be completed early in July. Each farmer will be mailed an official notice of his wheat allotment before the wheat marketing quota referendum to be held on Thursday, July 21.

In the wheat marketing quota referendum at least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas if they are to be in effect. If quotas are approved, all farmers in the commercial wheat states with more than 15 acres of wheat who exceed their acreage allotments will be subject to marketing quota penalties on their excess wheat. Wheat growers who comply with their allotments will be eligible for price support at the full level available.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1961 wheat crop, penalties will not be in effect, but acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support. Growers who comply with their wheat allotments will be eligible for price support at 50 per cent of parity.

Voting places for the referendum will be announced later.

Fireworks Seller Fined Wednesday

Northern Minnesota Area Now Receiving Better Mail Service

Postmaster Arthur E. Summerfield today announced a major improvement to mail service in Northern Minnesota, consisting of incorporating the following counties into a Metropolitan Area plan of operation:—Beltrami, Cook, Lake, St. Louis, Koochiching, Itasca, Carlton, Aitkin, Hubbard, Cass, Crow Wing, Lake of the Woods and Wadena. Additionally, parts of Becker and Otter Tail counties are served by the Duluth Metropolitan Area plan.

The improvements are the result of an extensive study and planning by regional postal officials under Director C. E. Knudson.

The Metro Area plan contemplates that all preferential mails that are mailed before 5 p.m. with the area will be delivered the next day to any post office within the same area. There are 238 post offices in the Duluth Metro Area; all will receive overnight service. There are some exceptions to the plan. Some of the small offices where distances involved make it impracticable to schedule Metro standards.

Duluth, Virginia, Grand Rapids, Bemidji and Brainerd have been designated as sectional centers. Each center serves a number of other offices in its territory by collecting the mails dispatched from these offices. In the sectional center mail is processed for dispatch to other sectional centers, railway postoffices, highway postoffices and air fields. Transportation between sectional centers is provided by trains and highway trucks. The entire transportation pattern in the state was devised to accomplish the objectives of this plan.

Overnight service is also provided to and from the northwestern counties in Minnesota. Sectional centers at Thief River Falls and Crookston provide for an interchange of mails with the Duluth Metro area. The counties of Roseau, Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Clearwater, Red Lake, and Mahnomen are served

Highway Patrol at Full Strength on July 4th Weekend

Real Safety Job, However, Is up to the Individual, Says Governor Freeman

Governor Orville L. Freeman announced today that the Minnesota highway patrol would be out in full force during the three-day Fourth of July week-end to protect law-abiding motorists from the careless driver.

"Patrol Chief Leo M. Smith has announced that the highway patrol will be at maximum strength during this coming holiday, and use of patrol planes, radar and other electronic devices, as well as motorized units will enable patrolmen to keep a close watch over the heavy traffic flow expected during the weekend," Governor Freeman said.

The patrol's two seven-man "saturation units" will concentrate their intense and specialized type of enforcement in the critical traffic areas throughout the state, the Governor said.

"But the concentrated efforts of law enforcement agencies will not be enough to keep our highways safe from tragedy," Governor Freeman added. "The real job will be up to you, the driver. Accidents are prevented only when the driver himself, controls the impulse to speed, avoids drinking while driving and passes other motorists only when it can be done safely."

He went on to stress the fact that the 1960 Minnesota traffic record is "running neck-and-neck" with last year's toll of human lives, and emphasized this as a grim reminder that "the celebration of Independence Day doesn't mean we can remain independent of our responsibilities as motorists."

More Rain Makes TRF Total 6.61 In. for Month of June

Crookston Area Received More Than Five Inches in Cloudburst Sunday Night

Three periods of rainfall this week have raised the month's total precipitation to 6.61 inches but this falls short of what some other communities in northwestern Minnesota have had.

The largest amount here, 1.22 inches Sunday night, was only a slight dampening compared to the more than five inches recorded the same night in the Crookston area within a few hours. An additional 0.45 inch fell Monday in Thief River Falls followed the next day by 0.12 inch more.

Sunday night's heavy rains were accompanied by strong winds and a spectacular display of lightning. The winds and lightning were all some areas got that night with no precipitation recorded at Grand Forks and only traces in other sections adjacent to the ones which were deluged.

According to Marlan Johnson, assistant county agent of West Polk county, damage to crops was not considered serious but he warned that warm weather now would hurt crops in poorly drained areas.

According to the KTRF weather station, the high this week was Sunday's 84 and has been followed each day by decreasing daytime temperatures. Wednesday's high was 61. Night time readings have ranged from 62 early Sunday morning to 45 today.

Partly cloudy today and tonight and locally cooler tonight have been forecast with highs today from 60 to 70. Light northerly winds and little change in humidity are expected today.

Tomorrow, it is expected to be mostly fair with higher afternoon readings.

Registration for this will start at 4 o'clock and more than 500 graduates of the school, many coming from far distant points, are expected to attend. Street activities and a dance will provide evening entertainment.

There will be special services at both of the Oklee churches Sunday morning and evening. The entertainment will start at 1:30 p.m. with another school band concert and a drill by the Bridgeman Half-Pints. Improved Mail Service Given in North Minnesota by the Thief River Falls and Crookston sectional centers. Postal officials are encouraged with this new and improved service. Further studies are contemplated with the objective to connect the entire state into a Metropolitan Area plan.

This program for better mail service was activated during May. The test results are most satisfactory, according to regional officials.

Postmaster General Summerfield has a goal of next day delivery of mail between any two points in the country. The postal services improvements in this area represent a major step toward achieving that goal by providing overnight delivery within the entire area.

Postmaster General Summerfield points out that all of the improvements to speed delivery of mail in this state have been accomplished with a substantial saving in over-all cost, although the basic objective was only to effect an improvement in service.

Kenny Foundation's Funds Mismanaged, Atty. General States

Huge sums of money intended to help the physically handicapped apparently were drained off for personal profit, a Minnesota attorney general's report on the Sister Elizabeth Kenny foundation charged Monday.

The most prominent names in the long-awaited report were Marvin L. Kline, former Minneapolis mayor who resigned as the foundation's $18,000-a-year executive director, and Fred Fadell, hired by the foundation to do publicity and promotion work.

Summarizing the 32-page report, Attorney General Walter F. Mondale said it appears that Kline "dominated and controlled the management of the affairs of the foundation to an extent that he was enabled to derive unconscionable personal profit from his position."

The report, based on a four-month sudy by a task force of investigators and accountants, included a "schedule of salary and certain other financial benefits" accruing to Kline from 1946 to 1959.

It listed a grand total of $773,013 for Kline during the 11-year period. Included were $336,874 in salary, annuities valued at $100,000, "deferred compensation premiums" worth $150,000, pension credits worth $46,163, a director's contingent fund totaling $26,225, and $113,750 in "fees paid by Fred Fadell and Associates."

Mondale noted that the staff of the Kenny Institute is "the finest of its kind in the world and the most valuable asset of the foundation."

The foundation is responsible for fund raising and is separate from the institute, which operates clinics and conducts research in behalf of physically handicapped.

Lauds Marshes at Thief Lake Refuge

Canadian Authority Reports to Robt. Farmes

One of the world's leading authorities on waterfowl refuges and author of two leading books in that field has commended the Thief Lake refuge as having "one of the finest bulrush marshes I have ever seen."

In a letter to Robert E. Farmes, area game manager, H. Albert Hochbaum, director of the Delta Waterfowl Research station at Delta, Manitoba, praised the Thief Lake refuge as "good as any waterfowl marsh in Canada in regard to waterfowl production and hunting." Hochbaum visited the Thief Lake and Mud Lakes refuges June 21 during his study of the value of marshes in the economy of the nation being conducted under a Guggenheim fellowship.

"I especially enjoyed my time at the Thief Lake refuge," Hochbaum wrote, "and I like the plans and program you have going there. I hope you can carry these forward at a good pace."

Leave Young Fawn Alone, Is Warning

Game Wardens Can't Take Them Off Rescuer's Hands

State game wardens report they are receiving more than the usual number of requests to relieve people of fawn deer which have been "rescued" from the wild.

Chief game warden Francis W. Johnson indicates his force of wardens have been plagued in recent weeks with calls from well-meaning citizens who have picked up fawns. Said Johnson, "Our wardens neither have the time nor the facilities to care for fawns. Folks should realize that most 'lost' fawns are really not lost or abandoned at all! The doe is usually nearby and anxiously watching her offspring."

"Fawns should not be picked up unless it is known that the doe has been killed or seriously injured, such as by an automobile. Further, it is against the law to take wild animals such as fawns and keep them in captivity," continued Johnson.

So please—leave your wildlife especially deer, alone!

Warn Boaters to Beware on Holiday

Most Drownings Due to Carelessness, Is Claim

With the greatest number of boating enthusiasts in Minnesota's history expected to take to state waters over the July 4th holiday, a grim note of warning has been issued by concerned safety officials.

Minnesota's boat and water safety committee today predicted at least six persons will drown in state waters over the extended holiday—most of them victims of outright carelessness.

The committee has joined the national safe boating week council in declaring July 3-9 as "National Safe Boating Week" designed to focus public attention on precautionary measures.

The July holiday is perennially the period when lakes and streams exact their deadliest toll, the safety committee emphasized. Last year, five persons drowned over the three-day holiday, and seven deaths by drowning were recorded in the week spanning Independence Day.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor, Times:

The purpose of this letter is not to show righteous alarm and indignation at the current thievery by a few Thief River juveniles, since, unfortunately, in our day such lack of moral foundation and development has become quite common. Neither shall I point a finger of accusation at any possible causes of the sad plight these juveniles are in. I am interested, however, in what "action will be taken against the offenders."

Since it would not be practical, I shall not be to specific in advising courses of action to the authorities. But the apathetic way in which this country deals with criminals is disgusting, revolting, and we are all responsible for the resulting situation. Yes, I am saying that when other sociological factors—such as the home, church, and school—have not helped sufficiently in molding character, the offender is furthermore let down by the means of "correction" and rehabilitation" with which he is repaid by society for his crime against it.

What can be done to protect society—and indirectly the criminal himself—from these leeches? I advocate a badly-needed reinstatement of the obsolescent, so-called "out-dated" practice, punishment.

Now, I am not so naive as to say that every one of these kids is a serious criminal. (Of course, each has shown that he is a potentially serious one.) I should hope the authorities would know when to make an exception to punishment. Nevertheless, I am questioning the value of the contemporary practice of patting the offender on the head, sending him on his way with a lollipop for added strength, then sitting down and waiting for him to come back having committed another offense, as statistics show he usually will.

Yours truly,
David H. Thorstad

CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the City Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, will meet at the City Council Chambers in the Municipal Auditorium Building in said City, on Monday, the 18th day of July, 1960, at 8 o'clock P.M., Central Daylight Saving Time, for the purpose of considering sealed bids, only, for the purchase at not less than par of $225,000 negotiable coupon general obligation Waterworks Bonds of said City. Said bonds, of $1,000 each, will be dated July 1, 1960, and will bear interest at a rate or rates to be designated by the successful bidder, expressed in integral multiples of ¼ or 1/10 of 1% per annum, payable on January 1, 1961, and semiannually thereafter on July 1 and January 1 of each year, and will mature serially on July 1 in the amount of $5,000 in each of the years 1961 through 1965, $10,000 in each of the years 1966 through 1971, $15,000 in each of the years 1972 through 1977, and $20,000 in each of the years 1978 through 1980. Bonds maturing subsequent to July 1, 1970, will be each subject to redemption and prepayment at the option of the City on said date and any interest payment date thereafter, at par and accrued interest plus a premium of $30, and the bonds maturing in 1975 and later years will also be redeemable on July 1, 1965, and any interest payment date thereafter, at par and accrued interest plus a premium of $10 for each bond redeemed prior to July 1, 1970. Principal and interest will be made payable at any suitable bank designated by the successful bidder. The City will furnish and deliver in Thief River Falls, Minneapolis or St. Paul, Minnesota, without cost to the purchaser and within 40 days after award of sale, the executed bonds and unqualified approving legal opinion of Messrs. Dorsey, Owen, Barber, Marquart & Windhorst of Minneapolis, Minnesota. Delivery elsewhere may be made at the purchaser's expense.

Each bid must be unconditional and must be received at the office of the undersigned Clerk before the time of said meeting, and must be accompanied by a cashier's or certified check or bank draft in the amount of $4,500, to be retained as liquidated damages if the bid is accepted and the bidder shall fail to comply therewith. The bid offering the lowest net interest cost (total interest from date of issue to stated maturities, less any premium offered) will be deemed the most favorable. No bid for less than par plus accrued interest from date of bond issue to date of bond delivery will be considered, nor any bid which provides for additional or "B" coupon interest to be paid in a total amount greater than $5,000. Oral auction bids will not be received. The City Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid.

Dated June 23, 1960.
By Order of the City Council
L. H. THORSTENSON, City Clerk
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

N.D. Senate Race Outcome in Doubt

Davis Leading Burdick by Very Small Margin

North Dakota may not know definitely the name of its new junior U. S. senator until the state canvassing board reviews the returns from Tuesday's special state-wide election.

This became a likelihood late Wednesday as tabulation of belated rural returns practically wiped out the narrowing margin of Gov. John E. Davis, Republican, over Rep. Quentin Burdick, Democrat.

When returns had been totaled from 2,214 of the states 2,310 precincts Davis had a scant 719-vote lead, the count standing Davis 101,630 and Burdick 100,911.

The unreported 96 precincts are largely in rural areas that are believed more favorable to Burdick, who appealed for support from farmers by blasting Secretary of Agriculture Benson's administration of the fram program.

Thieves Get 22 Hits to Whip Fosston 15-7

In a high-scoring free-swinging Northern Minny league game played at Fosston on Wednesday night, the Thieves, clubbing the offerings of righthanders Stan Otness and Dick Schuchardt for 22 hits, rolled up a 15 to 7 win over Fosston. The win moved manager John Drury's team into a tie for second place in the league standings with Cass Lake, with each team having four wins and two losses. Cass Lake dropped a 7 to 4 decision to Bagley in a game played at Bagley on Wednesday night.

The Thieves will meet the Erskine Merchants at Erskine on Sunday night, July 3.

The locals made short work of gaining a lead last night, scoring twice in the first inning. Dale Klungness led off with a ground single to left field; Arlan Hjelle was out, pitcher to first base; Bob Hallameck placed a triple to left-center, plating Klungness with the game's first run. Glenn Carlson's infield out, second to first, scored Hallameck.

In the second inning, singles by Dennis Bakke and Roy Pederson, a walk to Dean Anderson, an infield hit by Duane Hodgson, an infield out and Hjelle's single accounted four three runs and drove starter Stan Otness off the mound.

Dick Schuchardt replaced Otness, and he retired the side, and set down the Thieves in order in the third inning, only to be tagged for four hits and three runs in the fourth inning. The Thieves unloaded a four-run cluster in the sixth inning, added a pair of runs in the seventh inning, and closed out with a singleton in the eighth inning.

Righthander Arlan Hjelle, on the mound for the Thieves, held the Fosston batters well in check, and it was not until the latter innings, when the Thieves had a commanding lead, that the Fosston batsmen were able to bunch their hits effectively. In the third inning, a walk to Lyle Gutterud, a single by Jerry Huable, an infield out, and Dave Carlson's triple to right field, Fosston notched two runs.

Fosston added single runs in the fifth, sixth, and seventh innings, and added a pair of runs in the eighth inning.

American Legion Jr. Ball Team Wins Two Games, Drops 1

Local Club Wins from Warren and Crookston, Loses to Bemidji 8-7

Coach Ralph Skay's local American Legion junior baseball team had a busy home schedule this week, playing three games on the Fair Grounds diamond and winning a pair. In a double-header played on Tuesday evening, the locals scored a 10 to 6 win over Warren in the opener, and then dropped an 8 to 7 decision to the Bemidji juniors in the nightcap. In the Bemidji tilt the locals were held to but two hits by the combined efforts of Jim Gustafson and Lee Fawbush, but the Bemidji hurlers gave up twenty bases on balls. In the first five innings of the game the locals left 15 baserunners stranded.

In a well-played game played here Wednesday night, the local juniors scored a 2 to 1 win over coach Jerry Lindell's Crookston juniors. The game was a duel between righthander Gary Anderson of the locals and Jim Turner of Crookston. Anderson gave up two hits, a single to Lyczewski in the third inning, and a scratch hit down the third base line by the same batter in the sixth inning. Gary Klungness collected the lone hit off Turner when he singled in the first inning.

A defensive highlight of the game was a triple play completed by the locals in the third inning when Eddie Lietzow speared a line drive, flipped to second baseman Paul Klungness for the double out, and Klungness' toss to first baseman Mike McEnelly completed the triple killing.

The local juniors will travel to Hallock for a 6:30 p.m. game this evening, Thursday; and on Saturday evening, in a 6:30 p.m. game, the Baudette juniors will invade the Fair Grounds diamond for a game against the locals.

Jerry Riewer's Bagley Merchants, winning a pair of games on Sunday, moved into a one-game lead in the Northern Minny league standings. In a Sunday afternoon game at Gonvick, Bagley rolled up a lop-sided 22 to 0 win over Gonvick. Righthanders Jim and Bill Lawrence shared the pitching duties for Bagley.

In a Sunday night game at Bagley, the Merchants edged out the Thieves, 2 to 1, in a duel between lefty Dennis Fallon of Bagley and righthander Bob Hallameck of the Thieves.

Cass Lake hammered out an 11 to 1 win over Erskine in a game played at Cass Lake, and kept within reach of the Bagley club. The two teams, Bagley and Cass Lake, met in an important game at Bagley last night, and are slated to play again on Wednesday night, July 6, at Bagley.

The Fosston club moved up into contention by rolling up a 15 to 6 win over the Winger Tigers in a game played at Winger.

Bums, Badger Tied in Pen-Ro-Shall

League Started Second Round of Play Sunday

Pen-Ro-Shall League

Badger	5	1	.833
T. R. Falls Bums	5	1	.833
Greenbush	4	2	.667
Plummer	2	4	.333
Goodridge	1	5	.167
Grygla	1	5	.167

Results of Sunday's games:
Thief River Falls, 7, at Grygla, 2.
Goodridge, 5, at Badger, 13.
Greenbush, 1, at Plummer, 5.

Badger and the Thief River Falls Bums continued in a two-way tie for first place in the Pen-Ro-Shall league as the loop began its second round of play on Sunday. The two teams have five wins and one loss marks.

Badger defeated Goodridge, 13 to 5, in a game played at Badger; and the Bums, with Freddy Jensen and Larry Ward pitching, defeated Grygla, 7 to 2, in a game played at Grygla.

The week's surprise, though, was the Plummer Red Sox 5 to 1 win over Greenbush at Plummer. The defeat dropped the Greenbush club into second place in the league standings. Righthander Jim Weckwerth hurled for Plummer, and the Prowler righthander (he will be a junior in Lincoln high school next year) held the heavy-hitting Greenbush club in check. Weckwerth was given near-perfect support by the Red Sox fielders.

The league teams will be in recess this Sunday, and the schedule will be resumed on Sunday, July 10.

Don Toomey, Sharpshooter

The statistics of the six-team Red River Valley Rifle and Revolver league in the 1960 gallery matches as compiled by the league secretary W. G. Coulter, reveals that Don Toomey, of the Thief River Rifle club, was the Number one shooter in the Sharpshooter class, having an aggregate of 5,478 in the sixty ten-shot strings.

The league, which is comprised of the following rifle clubs: Halstad, Forks Rifle Club, Thief River Rifle club, Fargo, Lake Bronson and Crookston—has been active in promoting rifle shooting in this area for the past several years. Local riflemen who participated in the matches in addition to Toomey, were Ernest Bjerken, Everett Amundgaard, Ted Mills, and George Thorson in Master class; Web Maves, Leonard Hanson, and Floyd Canfield in Expert class; and Duane Jensen and Andy Anenson in the Marksman class.

In the Master class competition, Ray Abentroth of the Halstad club and Oliver Nygaard of the Forks club shared top honors, with each shooter having an aggregate of 5,870. In the Expert class, Don Nelson of the Lake Bronson club at 5,778; and in the Marksman class, George Alberts of the Fargo club had a 5,526. The high handicap winner was Abentroth with a 5,925.

In the team competition, the Forks Rifle club, posting a mark of thirteen wins and two losses, won the league championship. Halstad, with a mark of eleven wins and four losses, was second; Lake Bronson, with eight wins and seven losses, was third; and Thief River Falls, with six wins and nine losses, was fourth.

On Sunday four members of the local club—Everett Amundgaard, Leonard Hanson, Einar Swanson, and Ted Mills, participated in the state Big Bore matches held at Camp Ripley. According to our information, Ev Amundgaard brought back a couple of medals.

The Fight Pictures

The Ingemar Johansson vs. Floyd Patterson world's heavyweight fight pictures will be shown at the 59-Hi drive-in theater for five nights starting tonight, Thursday, and continuing through Monday night, July 4.

From the reports that we have received, the pictures are very good, and they reveal in detail the manner in which Patterson regained his world's title.

As one wag at the coffee bar exclaimed, when told that the Johansson - Patterson fight pictures? You mean the baseball picture, with Patterson pitching, and Johansson catching."

And then there was the remark that noted that when Ingemar was knocked out in the fifth round it marked the earliest that Johansson had gone to sleep since he came to this country.

The Skin Game

An interesting golf match was played at the local course on Monday evening, the results of which proved that "youth must be served", or something.

Stan Larson and Wally DuChamp were taking their vicious practice swings off the first tee when three youngsters — Steve Embury, Ron Kelkstad, and Rick Thompson — approached. Said Stan to Wally: "Wally, why don't you and I take on the youngsters in a two-bit skin game, and teach the youngsters some of the fundamentals of golf?" Answered Wally: "Sounds good, Stan."

The results were that Steve and Ron and Rick shot six birdies during the first round, and Stan and Wally were "out of pocket" a considerable sum.

Shortstop at Crookston

The Minakawa golf course at Crookston will be host to a Fourth of July shortstop golf tourney on Monday.

Entry deadline for the tournament is 6:00 p.m. on Sunday and golfers can place their entry by calling AT 1-4370 at Crookston, or by writing to the Winakwa Golf Club, Crookston.

Glen Fleisch of Bemidji, last season's winner, will be on hand to defend his title. The championship flight is scheduled to move off the first tee at 9 a.m.

The U.S.S. Bainbridge was the U.S. Navy's first destroyer.

Eagles Midgets Lose Two Games

Playing the Erskine midgets on Tuesday morning, coach Gene Sack's club lost a 12 to 5 game; and on Wednesday morning, playing coach Ron Thompson's Crookston midgets, the local club lost to but one base hit, while the locals garnered six hits off the slants of Pete Mickelson.

The Fertile midgets will play here on Wednesday morning, July 6; and on Friday, July 8, the locals will travel to Ada for a league game.

The line scores:

Interstate Highway Jobs Hit $75 Million in State in 4 Years

Minnesota has placed $75,307,100 in interstate highway projects under contract in the four years since enactment of the 1956 federal aid highway act, according to L. P. Zimmerman, commissioner of highways, as he noted the fourth anniversary of the passage of the act.

"This figure," he said, "actually represents work we have undertaken since May of 1957, when th state legislature passed the required enabling legislation to permit the department's engineers to begin active work in the planning and designing of the 888-mile system in Minnesota. It does not include expenditures for engineering and right-of-way acquisition."

Included in the work completed to date are the following projects:

1. T.H. 35, from its junction with T.H. 14 at Owatonna to a point 8.3 miles northerly. This section, the first to be completed in Minnesota, was formally opened to traffic with appropriate ribbon-cuting ceremonies on August 21, 1958.

2. T.H. 35W, from 66th Street in Richfield to 106th Street in Bloomington. This section was dedicated on August 17, 1959.

3. The newly named "Wakota" bridge over the Mississippi river between Newport and South St. Paul, plus approaches, was officially opened to traffic on October 28, 1959.

4. A total of 57 bridges have been completed, with some of them in the above sections opened to travel, while others have been completed and are awaiting construction of complementing roadways.

Among the major projects under construction at the present time are:

1. The Duluth-Superior bridge on T.H. 535, which will cost an estimated twenty million dollars and will be completed next year.

2. The 6th Street bridges on the eastern edge of St. Paul's loop, to cost approximately $3,200,000.

3. T. H. 35W, from 106th St. in Bloomington to its junction with T.H. 13 south of the Minnesota river, will be opened to traffic late this summer.

4. T.H. 494 (78th Street) from 34th Avenue South of T.H. 100 (Normandale Road) in Edina, should be completed this summer.

5. T.H. 90, between its west junction with T.H. 16 and the east corporate limits of Austin, should be opened to traffic this year.

6. A section of T.H. 94, near Fergus Falls, is under contract and may be completed either this summer or early next year.

7. A total of 96 bridges at widely scattered points are presently under construction, in advance of grading and surfacing operations.

"I am very happy with the progress we are now making," said Zimmerman. "If all of the many factors which we must have to assure continuity of this program or at least its current level are present in the years ahead, I can assure the people of Minnesota that the remaining portions of the interstate system will be placed under contract in an orderly and progressive program."

4-H in Marshall County Hold Picnic

Annual Outing Tuesday at Old Mill State Park

West Prairie, Plainview and Boxville clubs won championships in the mixed, boys, and girls divisions, respectively, at the annual Marshall county 4-H picnic held at the Old Mill State park on June 21, reports Harlem Sandberg, 4-H club agent.

In the mixed team division in the first round of playoffs at the park, Happy Corner defeated Argyle Hustlers and West Prairie defeated Viking. Gatzke Busy Beavers drew a forfeit; Gatzke then drew a bye. West Prairie defeated Happy Corner, 13-8 in the semi-final game. West Prairie played Gatzke in the championship game and defeated them 13-9.

In the boys division only the championship game was played at the picnic and Plainview defeated the Boxville boys by a score of 19 to 1. In the girls division, the score at the regulation seven innings was tied 16-16 and in the eighth inning the Boxville girls defeated Gatzke 18 to 17.

The champions received a bat and a ball and the reserve champions received a bat. These are sponsored by the Marshall county 4-H federation.

Approximately 300 members, leaders and parents attended the annual picnic despite the rainy weather; however, the weather did not dampen the spirits of the members as no games were called because of the weather.

MINNESOTA BANKERS HONOR "J. O."

The special tribute was a highlight of the 70th Annual Minnesota Bankers Association meeting in Minneapolis last week, and the ceremony took place at the convention's agricultural luncheon which was attended by about 400 bankers.

"Dr. Christianson has long been a leader in developing the farm youth of the state," President Hanson said, "and the MBA Agricultural Scholarship Program is a living tribute recognizing his many outstanding contributions."

Hanson pointed out that the banks of Minnesota have provided over 250 scholarships to young farm men and women since 1950 under the MBA Scholarship Program. A recent survey shows that about 80% of these two-year banker scholarship students are now on the farms in their own home area. The program began in 1950 and provides $400 per student for two years.

Marshall Co. Has 575 4-H Members

Youngsters Engaged in Total of 1,516 Projects

Marshall county's 1960 4-H enrollment is 575 members, according to final figures released by Harlem Sandberg, 4-H club agent.

This represents an increase of 66 members over the 1959 club year. The 25 county clubs received guidance from 95 adult leaders and 116 junior leaders. These leaders compose the Marshall county 4-H Federation, which promotes club work in the county and forms county policies.

The 4-H members are enrolled in 1,516 projects or an average of 2.6 projects per member. A closer look at the project figures shows the following: Dairy, 39 members enrolled; beef, 21; dual purpose, 1; pig, 25; sheep, 61; poultry, 37; and rabbit, 4.

In the general project division figures are: Electricity, 7; home shop, 93; forestry, 1; home yard improvement, 76; junior leadership, 116; tractor, 60.

In the crops department, two are enrolled in corn, three in potato; fruit 4; garden, 122; small grain, 42.

The activities: Health, 11; safety, 113; conservation, 99.

In the home economics division, figures are: Bread, 32; food preparation, 177; clothing, 160; food preservation, 19; home assistance, 98; and eight in home improvement-family living.

In entomology 18 members are enrolled and 11 are enrolled in the saddle horse project. These are both pilot projects in the county.

Boats & Trailers Traffic Problem

Highway Safety Chief Gives Tips to Drivers

Harry A. Sieben, Minnesota highway safety director, warned motorists today to take care that they don't have a "boating accident" while traveling the modern highway during summer pleasure trips.

"There are 8 million recreational boats, and 2 million boat trailers in use in the nation today," Sieben said. "Many of them will be hauled through Minnesota during the vacation months. Add this to the more than one million cars expected to travel our state highways, and you have a big traffic problem."

According to Sieben, tragic traffic mishaps can be avoided only if boat haulers keep towing vehicles and trailers well-lighted and marked and in top mechanical condition. Other drivers must also be aware of the "doubling up" in length of traffic lanes because of boat hauling, and the increased hazards of colliding with bouncing, swerving boats and trailers.

"The motorists must realize it takes longer to pass this type of traffic," Sieben said, "and the boat hauler must be aware that it takes him a greater distance to stop and restricts his maneuverability in case of emergencies."

Cuban Sugar About-Face

Democratic farm leaders in Congress have reversed their previous stand and now favor giving President Eisenhower broad authority to cut Cuba's sugar marketing allotment in this country. The about-face came after State Secretary Herter told the House Agriculture Committee that there are doubts about the dependability of Cuba as a source of sugar under the Castro government.

Committee chairman Cooley predicted prompt Congressional approval of the authority sought by the administration and this is encouraging news for Red River Valley farmers. It may not result in increased sugar beet acreage next year. That will depend on Castro's future conduct. It is a victory for American producers inasmuch as it does remove Cuba from a position of preference that has come to be looked upon somehow as a permanent right.

And the about-face of the committee is another feather in Congressman Odin Langen's cap.

$10,000 Bequest

The $10,000 bequest to the Thief River Falls Foundation by Frank A. Rinkel gives that organization the lift that was needed to get it off the ground. During the few years of its operation the Foundation has accumulated several thousand dollars in the form of contributions and memorials. The L. B. Hartz memorial fund has been growing from year to year with substantial annual contributions by Mr. Hartz and the employees of his organization. The $10,000 bequest by Mr. Rinkel brings the Foundation into focus and points up the future possibilities for such an organization as an agency through which much good can be accomplished.

There probably is some justification for the complaint that the Foundation has not been adequately publicised. This is a problem that now can receive the attention it deserves. The Foundation is a non-profit agency patterned after the type of organization that has been successful in many other cities. Its purpose is to manage and administer funds entrusted to it for the purposes for which such funds have been contributed. The organization is perpetual; elected public officials and directors of local financial institutions serve in advisory capacities; and there must be public accounting of the Foundation's business. The records of the organization are public records.

Considering the Frank A. Rinkel bequest for what it is, a gift to the community to be used in the public interest, it is an acknowledgement by a good citizen that the community has been good to him. We knew Frank Rinkel well. Our relations were intimate. We agreed and we disagreed. He was a banker at heart and he wanted what was rightfully his.

But he also was a very human, human being, who had carried his share of crosses during his long life and who was sincerely sympathetic with others, young and old, who were experiencing the same problems he had survived. He was never a noisy giver but in a quiet way he was helpful to many.

And that is the spirit in which he contributed to the Thief River Falls Foundation. The Foundation, and the community, need more Frank Rinkels.

Food For Peace

Vice President Richard Nixon used his appearance in North Dakota last week to serve as a sounding board for his views on the farm problem. He expressed himself as favoring a plan that would have been offered by President Eisenhower at the Paris summit talks. This plan would have provided for a disposal of farm surpluses of all surplus-producing nations, through a United Nations distribution program.

The proposal does have merit to the extent that it would unite the surplus producing nations in a common effort and relieve the pressures of competitive dumping programs. In this respect the following reaction of the Winnipeg Tribune is interesting:

> For many years now the fat and lean nations of the world have dreamed and talked about setting up some kind of international food bank. The fat countries, if anything, are fatter with surplus agricultural stocks, and there still are many millions of hungry people in the world. But the food bank still is in the dream and discussion stage.
> Latest to join in the verbal batting is Vice President Richard Nixon of the United States. In an election campaign speech in Minot, North Dakota, he said President Eisenhower intended to present a food-for-peace plan to Nikita Khrushchev at the Paris summit talks and was prevented when the talks collapsed.
> The Eisenhower-now-Nixon plan would bring the food bank under the auspices of the United Nations. Nixon was of the opinion that the scheme should be followed through, regardless of the summit failure.
> And so it should.
> It can't be done by the hungry nations of the world. But it can be done if the fat nations—including Canada—will put talk into action.
> President Eisenhower announced his food-for-peace plan 18 months ago. The United States, Canada, Australia, Argentina and France were to join with other "friendly" nations to set up a food bank.
> But nothing has come of it. Some nations were skeptical. Others were afraid that wheat disposals through the food bank—possibly to be given away in a case of famine—would hurt their export trade.
> Now it is proposed that the plan be taken to the larger theatre of the United Nations where all countries friendly or otherwise, would cooperate in setting up a food bank.
> It may be that the UN, with so many conflicting interests, will be no more successful than the five nations which tried to implement the Eisenhower plan advanced 18 months ago. But it is well worth trying.

Comeback For Hiking?

According to the National Geographic society, walking for pleasure is growing in popularity thruout the United States, and the St. Paul Pioneer Press thinks "Bunion Derbies" may even make a comeback. Going on from there the Pioneer Press observes:

> "At any rate, more and more walking and hiking clubs are being formed, some with memberships of several hundred, to follow old trails or blaze new ones and to acquire some strains, pains, bruises and bumps with which to earn repose. The practice of walking the trails for health, learning and exercise is an old one in England and other old world nations, and certainly hiking in the old America was a common practice—of necessity, if for no other reason. History says that six-day walking contests and transcontinental hikes aroused much public interest after the Civil War.
> "William Wordsworth, the poet, by the way, had walked thousands of miles by the time he was 65—but there were no automobiles then."

Worse things could happen to us than a revival of the old Chowder and Marching clubs. Golf has served as a partial substitute for those once-popular organizations, socially and physically, but motor scooters are beginning to replace legwork, and golf, as a body builder, is in its decline. Skiing was a healthy sport until recently. Now the body is being elevated back to the top of the hill by mechanical means and no physical effort is required.

There is much to be said in favor of a revival of hiking—for other people.

The London Times notes that next year, 1961, will be 1961 even if it's upside down and wonders when next such a date will recur. Got any ideas? Will there be such a year before 6009?

To the Oklee Herald our congratulations for an excellent historical work in the publication of "The Oklee Comunity Story" commemorating 50 years of progress in that area. The book represents the effort of many contributors and will prove to be increasingly valuable as a permanent record of a passing generation. There is much in the book that will be of interest to all residents of Red Lake and Pennington counties and is well worth the $3 it costs.

There are two interesting celebrations in neighboring communities during the coming week-end. Oklee is observing the 50th anniversary of the coming of the Soo Line and the founding of the village. A small town is putting on a really big show. And at Red Lake the members of the Red Lake Band of Chippewa Indians are staging another colorful Pow Wow and they are always interesting. The neighbors will be glad to welcome you.

Freeman and Industry

(Minneapolis Tribune)

Gov. Freeman has been taking some heat for his outburst this week against an official of the Oliver Iron Mining division of United States Steel Corp.

Oliver is proposing to exchange 4,523 acres of land it owns in St. Louis, Crow Wing and Cass counties for 4,239 acres of state-owned land near Mountain Iron. Oliver wants the state-owned acreage to consolidate its holdings near Mountain Iron for a projected taconite plant.

The state land exchange commission—composed of the governor, the state auditor and the conservation commissioner—met Wednesday with a vice president of Oliver to consider the exchange. When the vice president wasn't able to answer all the governor's qustions on the taconite project, the governor pounded the table and accused the official of evasion.

The conservation department has studied the proposed exchange and given its approval, on the grounds that the lands to be received by the state would be more valuable for recreation and conservation purposes than the land to be given up. Oliver would be giving up scattered holdings for more concentrated property it needs for expanding its operations.

We hope the governor's eruption won't jeopardize the apparent program of Oliver for a big taconite plant in northern Minnesota. The declining use of Minnesota ore in relation to foreign ore shipped into this country already has caused a recession in activity on the state's ranges. Partially offsetting this drop in employment, the Reserve and Erie taconite plants have been boosting output and providing more jobs. Minnesota badly needs more such plants.

Gov. Freeman also has been under some fire for his tax policies, which are charged with discouraging new industries to locate in the state. He has answered that his administration is encouraging industrial expansion here.

His new outburst at an influential industry leader is not very impressive evidence of friendliness in this regard.

July 21—Your Pocketbook Date

YOU'VE DONE IT before. You'll do it again. Vote YES in the wheat referendum July 21.

True, even a YES vote won't get the prices you need. But a YES vote means your 1961 wheat income will be at least $10 an acre better than it will be in the free market.

This year your vote will be the most important one you have cast. With national elections not far off, both Republican and Democrat candidates will be watching the referendum results as a sign of what you really want in the way of farm policy. To some candidates, a weak YES vote might indicate farmers support Secretary of Agriculture Benson's price-flexing free market ideas.

So, don't pass the buck. Be sure you vote YES this year. Be sure your wife votes, too. Take her to the polls with you so you both can vote YES. And don't hesitate to get your neighbor and his wife there to vote YES.

The bigger the YES vote the better off you will be when the new federal administration takes over in Washington.

Consult your local ASC office for the polling time and place.

Both of us will vote YES

Dr. Joseph Norquist Tells of Africa Life

Dr. Joseph L. Norquist, former Thief River Falls physician now serving as a medical missionary in Tanganyika, East Africa, has sent the following interesting report on his experiences there:

Iambi Mission Hospital
P. O. Singida
Tanganyika, E. Africa
June 10, 1960

Afew weeks ago I made the longest "house call" I ever hope to make. We left at 3 p.m. and returned home at 12 midnight, having driven 100 miles across hills and valleys, over footpaths and cowpaths in our Jeep truck with a broken front spring. Two men had walked that day to the hospital to try to get help for a woman who had delivered a baby was unable to deliver its twin.

Since she had married into this Wamng'anti tribe, the men had refused to carry her to the hospital, because she was a Mbulu. We arrived at the end of the cow path just at sundown. The father said that she had now delivered the baby but that it had died.

Outside the hedge around their hut lay a lamb that had been slain to appease the gods because of the death of one of the babies. The father dared not enter into the hut until the lamb had disappeared during the night (a hyena would eat it), but he said we could go in. The roof of this mud and stick hut was so low, I had to crawl into its dark interior. Inside there were two small fires. Beside the first fire were two half naked children drinking some sour milk. The diet of this tribe consists of sour milk only. Beside the other fire, lying on the dried skin of a cow was the mother and her little newborn baby. There were no windows, and he strong smoke from the fires made my eyes water until I could scarcely see.

By the light of my flashlight, I could see that there was no obstetrical trouble; but having traveled that far I figured I better do something. She complained of a severe headache, so I gave her some aspirin and rubbed some medicine on her forehead. I tried to squat near the ground to avoid the smoke, but it seemed to be just as thick everywhere. We asked her if she had ever heard about Jesus, and she said once she had gone to a hospital and heard the name. Outside we talked to the father and some other men who had never heard about Christ, but listened intentively as we told them, the Good News.

A few days later a nearby pastor was going to visit this area for the first time. They offered to let us stay there for the night (we were three—an evangelist, a nurse, and myself) but we thought of the many visitors we'd have crawling around and politely declined the kind invitation.

I wouldn't want you to think that all African homes are like this. Another recent house call was in the home of a man with 10 years of schooling plus two years of medical training. This home, made of burned bricks, was clean and fresh. The child's bed was covered with a mosquito net. The cement floor was swept clean. There were no unpleasant odors. There were pictures on the walls and curtains by the windows.

This man, besides being a medical assistant, also owns a grinding mill where people can have their millet and corn ground much more easily than doing it by hand. For two shillings (28c) they can have as much ground in a few minutes, as would take a woman one whole day to do. This man, David Filipo, is studying these days, night and day, to pass his Cambridge Certificate, which is an equivalent of a high school diploma, and would qualify him for college. We are hoping that next year he will be able to receive a scholarship to study medicine in America and return here to be my replacement.

It is easy in a country like this to find great contrasts. Contrasts of sickness and health, filth and cleanliness, ignorance and education. This week two children died shortly after arriving here simply because they were not fed properly. The mothers got the idea that their milk was bad so they stopped nursing. They were fed a corn gruel instead and soon developed a protein deficiency called Kwashiorkor, and just slowly deteriorated. I took movies of them, hoping to show the remarkable improvement after feeding them milk, but unfortunately they had come to us too late.

We are now in the rainy season and won't see rain until next November or December. This makes us very conscious of our use of water. It also means that the woods are not so thick and hunting becomes easier. Yesterday I shot a zebra. The meat of the zebra really tastes good, but since we probably associate this with horse meat, we usually give most of the meat away. The hide will make a nice cover for some chairs.

While I am writing to you I want to thank all those who have been so good about writing letters from TRF. It means so much to us to hear from home.

Yours sincerely,
Dr. Joseph L. Norquist

This is a scene from Michael Todd's, "Around The World In 80 Days," starring David Niven, Cantinflas, Robert Newton, Shirley MacLaine and many more. In CinemaScope and Technicolor. At the 59-Hi Outdoor Theatre Sunday and Monday, July 3 and 4.

Appearing in newspapers of the Minnesota Editorial Association through the cooperation of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service and the University of Minnesota Institute of Agriculture.

More than 5 million trees were planted this spring in a nine-county triangle north of the Twin Cities — marking a major shift in land use. Much of the planting was in fields that used to raise grain, hay, soybeans, or other crops. University of Minnesota extension foresters say most planting is in large-scale plantations, some is for Christmas trees and some is for a variety of forest products. And then there's the land owner that has no specific goal in mind, except that he feels putting abondoned land in trees is better than letting it grow up in sandburrs, quack grass and wild roses.

Water is moving out to livestock pastures in Lincoln county. Farmers there constructed 202 pits and ponds in 1958 and '59, according to Norman Berger, chairman of the county soil conservation district board of supervisors. The pits and ponds water livestock, meaning better use of remote pastures. They also are used for fire protection, emergency water supplies, spray water, wildlife and recreation. Some have even been used for irrigation.

Weeds are the greatest single tree killer in field shelterbelts, a Watonwan soil conservation district farmer believes. Lester Larson believes he has solved the weed problem by establishing a mile of single row shelterbelts this spring. He alternated a tree and a shrug in the row, so he can cultivate the row from either side.

Pumping outlets are becoming more common in drainage projects in south central Minnesota. A. M. Wenner, SCS engineer at Owatonna says that with a pump outlet, the mail tile empties into a sump, well or open pit. The pump lifts water up to a natural watercourse, ditch or lake. This is helpful where natural gravity flow isn't possible, and is paying off on farms which otherwise have 20 or 30 per cent of their cropland too wet.

216 Persons Injured over Three-day Weekend

Seven persons lost their lives in traffic accidents during the three day Independence holiday weekend in 1959, and 216 persons were injured. A total of 348 accidents occurred durng the 54 hour official holiday weekend, which began at 6 p.m. on Friday, July 3 and ended at midnight on Sunday, July 5.

In 1958 the Independence holiday was four days in duration and nine persons were killed. Again in 1960 we have, a four day holiday period which will begin at 6 p.m. on Friday, July 1, and end at midnight on Monday, July 4. Based on this experience nine persons will lose their lives on Minnesota highways during this coming weekend and over 250 people will be injured. That is — unless drivers realize that they must observe the rules of good driving behavior to have a safe trip on this long weekend.

A well-adjusted tractor carburetor can save up to $40 in fuel each year, says the USDA. Another way to save fuel is by keeping the fuel tank shaded to reduce evaporation.

State Citizens Have $9 Billion Insurance

Minnesota families owned 3,723,000 life insurance policies providing $9,094,000,00 of protection at the start of this year, a new high record, the Institute of Life Insurance reports.

This compares with $8,307,000,000 owned in this state the year before and $3,931,000,000 at the start of 1950. The ten-year rise in this state was 131 per cent.

"The past few years have seen the greatest addition to the bulwark of U.S. family financial protection through life insurance in all our history," Holgar J. Johnson, Institute president commented. "In just five years we have seen over $200,000,000.00 of life insurance added, an amount equal to the total in force in the U.S. at any time up to 1948. What is more, a large part of today's life insurance is set up under planned family programs, with much of it arranged for income payment."

Of the total life insurance owned January 1 in Minnesota, $5,823,000,000 was in 1,732,000 ordinary life policies. Purchases of this state amounted to $870,000,000 in 1959, exclusive of credit new insurance of this type in life insurance.

An additional $246,000,000 of life insurance protection was owned at the start of the year in this state in 643,000 industrial policies, the type generally bought at the door in small units.

Another $2,574,000,000 was in group life insurance in this state, under 832,000 individual certificates.

In addition, there was $451,000,000 of credit life insurance, under 516,000 individual policies and certificates in this state.

For the nation as a whole, life insurance ownership was at a record $542,128,000,000 on January 1, under 274,987,000 policies, an average of about five policies per family. The aggregate owned was $46,192,000,000 more than a year before and two and one-half times the amount owned at the start of 1960. This brought per family ownership for the U.S. to $9,500. The average per insured family is $11,900. In this state the per family ownership was $8,400.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Q—I am the daughter of a veteran who died as a result of service-connected injuries and am eligible to take training under the War Orphans Education Act. However, I am not interested in going to college. What other kinds of courses can I take?

A—In addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education Act provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level—technical institutes, some vocational or trade school, business schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields and junior colleges.

Q—I'm a Korea veteran and currently unemployed. Does the VA administer the unemployment pay program?

A—No. Unemployment benefits are administered by the U.S. Department of Labor through state agencies. Job-finding help, consisting of counseling and placement services, is offered by the U. S. Employment Service.

A—Disabled Korea veterans discharged before August 20, 1954, must finish training by Aug. 20, 1963. Those discharged after Aug. 20, 1954, have nine years from separation or until January 31, 1964, whichever comes earlier, to complete training.

Q—Is a disabled veteran taking rehabilitation training allowed time off for days when he can't be in school or on the job?

A—Yes, that is permissible. However trainees must report their classroom or other absences, using the special Certification of Training form for that purpose, and wherever possible, permission to be absent must be requested and approved.

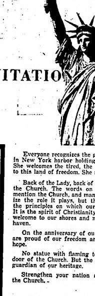
THE INVITATION



Everyone recognizes the great Lady standing in New York harbor holding her flaming torch. She welcomes the tired, the poor, the homeless, to this land of freedom. She symbolizes hope.

Back of the Lady, back of the welcome, stands the Church. The words on the statue do not mention the Church, and many of us do not realize the role it plays, but the Church inspired the principles on which our nation was built. It is the spirit of Christianity which extends the welcome to our shores and makes our nation a haven.

On the anniversary of our independence, we are proud of our freedom and opportunity and hope.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

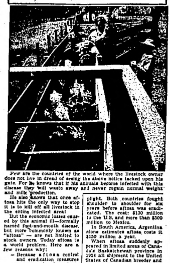
No Admittance! AFTOSA



Few are the countries of the world where the livestock owner does not live in dread of seeing the above notice tacked upon his gate. For he knows that if his animals become infected with this disease they will waste away and never regain normal weight and milk production.

He also knows that once aftosa hits the only way to stop it is to kill off all livestock in the entire infected area!

But the economic losses caused by this animal ill—formally named foot-and-mouth disease, but more commonly known as "aftosa" — are not limited to stock owners. Today aftosa is a world problem. Here are a few reasons why:

- Because aftosa control and eradication measures are expensive to governments.
- Because in a world where too many millions are already undernourished, aftosa is the number one cause of loss of animal protein.
- Because aftosa cuts down international trade by forcing aftosa-free countries to bar animal products coming from infected lands.

Only Australia, the Guianas, New Zealand, Norway, Sweden, and the western hemisphere north of Panama are free of aftosa. Yet even these areas run danger of infection as the aftosa virus can be carried in bones, blood, milk and hides as well as fresh, dried, canned or even frozen meats.

Taxes National Economics

In stamping out six aftosa epidemics between 1900 and 1930, the United States suffered direct and indirect costs totalling almost $200 million!

Therefore when aftosa broke out in Mexico in 1946, the U.S. found the need to protect its own livestock at one with its sympathy for a sister republic's plight. Both countries fought shoulder to shoulder for six years before aftosa was eradicated. The cost: $130 million to the U.S. and more than $500 million to Mexico.

In South America, Argentina alone estimates aftosa costs it $150 million a year.

When aftosa suddenly appeared in limited areas of Canada's Saskatchewan province in 1951 all shipment to the United States of Canadian breeder and feeder cattle was abruptly halted. In the few months before the outbreak was put down Canadian farmers lost millions of dollars of customary revenue.

Pan American Center Set Up

It was in recognition of aftosa's international dimensions that the 21 American Republics jointly founded the Pan American Foot-and-Mouth Disease Center on the outskirts of Rio de Janeiro in 1951.

Administered by the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, and financed through the Organization of American States' Technical Cooperation Program, the Center's purpose is to aid the countries in controlling and eventually eradicating aftosa from the hemisphere.

The Center trains anti-aftosa workers, provides the countries with consultants, organizes multi-national campaigns, furnishes reference laboratory and diagnostic services, and carries out research.

Center experts hope soon to produce a vaccine that will protect livestock for much longer periods than do any in present use. Such a vaccine could mean aftosa's eradication.

Hearing July on Lost River Improvement

Project Discussed at Meeting Held in Oklee Last Monday

Farmers and landowners in the Lost River watershed area met in the school auditorium at Oklee last Monday night to discuss the propose driver channel improvement project, says the Oklee Herald.

The proposal will come before the district court in Thief River Falls Wednesday, July 6, and the Monday meeting was called for the purpose of answering questions and reviewing the project.

Stanley Mortenson of Thief River Falls was the main speaker. Mr. Mortenson is attorney for the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district. He reviewed the history of the conservancy district from its inception in 1920 through the Red Lake and Clearwater improvement projects and its study of the Lost River project.

As the project stands now and as recommended by the Army Engineers, it would involve straightening and deepening the Lost River channel from a point two miles west of Oklee upstream to about the middle of Windsor township in Clearwater county. In addition, a clearing and snagging operation involving the removal of trees and other hindrances to the flow of water is to continue from the lower end of the channel improvement to the point where Lost River connects with Clearwater river.

Estimated total cost of the project is $1,421,000 of which the federal government would pay $784,000 and local participation would pay the balance of $637,000. These costs are maximum estimates and could be considerably lower depending upon contract bidders.

Landowners affected have been advised of benefits as determined by viewers. These benefits range from $1.00 an acre to $11.00 per acre. A "benefit" of, for example, $11.00 an acre, is not an "assessment" of $11.00 an acre. Actual assessment will be based in the cost of construction which is also affected by the fact that local participation is considerably less than half of the total cost. Because of this factor, it is assumed that actual assessments will be far below the figures now listed as "benefits."

Coya Discusses 1958 Campaign in RLF Wednesday

Is Apparently Sounding out Sentiment as to Her Seeking Congress Post

Former Ninth District Congresswoman Coya Knutson and entourage of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kjeldahl and his brother, Sig Kjeldahl, played to a thin house on Main street in Red Lake Falls Wednesday night, says the Gazette of that city.

Speaking over a blaring PA system, Mrs. Knutson told of her television work and cited briefly the evils of gossip relative to her unsuccessful campaign two years ago.

Prior to the speeches, a 12-page tabloid newspaper was circulated on Main street which contained material on the 1958 campaign, the Coya Come Home letter and her attendance record in congress plus the investigation by congress after her defeat. Collections were made from bystanders in order to continue the rallies in the district.

Sig Kjeldahl was the first speaker and defended his brother Bill's integrity and also blasted the press for the Coya-Kjeldahl rumors.

Mrs. Knutson did not state whether she would run in the fall primary for the D-F-L nomination, but these rallies are thought to be feelers for support in the district. Sen. Roy Wiseth received the D-F-L endorsement some weeks ago and August J. Duren of Fergus Falls has also filed as a D-F-L candidate for the same office.

Concluding remark of the evening was made by Bill Kjeldahl who said, "I hope this sort of thing will never happen to you," having reference, no doubt, to the past campaign.

Federal Agency OK's Sale of RLF Power Facilities

The Federal Power Commission Tuesday authorized Northern States Power Co., Minneapolis, to sell electric facilities and Minnesota Power & Light Co., Duluth, to acquire common stock of a subsidiary. The two actions are not related.

Northern States will sell its Red Lake Falls electric system to Otter Tail Power Co., Fergus Falls, for $234,872. Northern States now serves 679 electric customers through the Red Lake Falls system and this service will be continued by Otter Tail Power.

Minnesota Power & Light will purchase 5,000 shares of the common stock of its subsidiary Superior Water, Light and Power Co., Superior, Wis., for $500,000.

County Board to Convene July 11

The Pennington county board will conduct its semi-annual business meeting Monday, July 11. Among other items to be brought up for consideration is the county budget and tax levy for the coming year.

The second annual Soo Line Employe' association picnic will be held Sunday, July 10, at Riverside Park, located below the armory in Thief River Falls.

The grounds will officially open at 10:30 a. m. Various activities have been arranged for the children with free ice cream, hot dogs, pop and coffee being furnished. It is suggested that each family select and bring with them one of the following items, beans, potato salad, jello salad, pickles, cup cakes, cake or cookies, bearing in mind there will be hot dogs, coffe, ice cream and pop furnished.

The food will be placed on a long table where everyone may help himself to whatever he wishes. Those attending are asked to bring sufficient plates, cups and silver ware for their own family and mark utensils in which they bring food so that they may identify it when they leave. An old blanket to sit on is also suggested.

All members and families of Soo Line employes, retired employes and families and widows of employes are urged to get together Sunday, July 10th, for a old-fashioned picnic.

The NEA, with a membership of more than 700,000 is the world's largest professional organization.

Judge Lundgren Filed on Tuesday for Reelection

Judge Paul A. Lundgren filed for reelection Tuesday, seeking a six year term as District Court Judge in the enlarged district that now includes 17 counties extending over a large area of northern Minnesota. There are six judges in the district.

Two other judges, both appointed, are seeking election for the first time. They are Judge John Galernault of Aitkin and Judge James Murphy of Grand Rapids.

No Aspirants for County Office had Filed up to Friday

No candidates for county offices to be filled in the 1960 election had been filed at the county auditor's office up to Friday afternoon. Rep. Burdick Wins N.D. Senate Post by Narrow Margin

Democratic Candidate Defeats Gov. John Davis by About 1,000 Votes

Democratic Rep. Quentin Burdick is the new United States senator from North Dakota.

Associated Press tabulations Thursday showed Burdick leading Republican Gov. John E. Davis by 953 votes.

With three precincts out of 2,313 missing—all three in McKenzie county—Burdick had 104,375 votes to Davis' 103,422.

The outcome may be contested. R. Fay Brown, Republican campaign manager, said Thursday he may file a complaint with the senate if he confirms "some irregularities" at the polls Tuesday.

Only the senate, after passing a resolution, has the authority to conduct a recount or contest the election, Brown said.

Burdick is North Dakota's first Democratic representative. He will be the state's second elected Democratic senator. The last was in 1944.

Polio Foundation Reported 'Broke'

An official of the National Foundation said Thursday in New York that the organization is virtually broke.

Originally set up to combat infantile paralysis, the foundation for several years has been active in other areas of medical research.

Charles Massey, national director of chapters, said expenditures on patient care have remained high while funds raised have dropped drastically.

The foundation set a 65-million-dollar goal for its March of Dimes campaign last January, but raised only about 30 million, Massey said. Contributions have dropped since development of the Salk vaccine in 1955. "If we paid everything we owe, we'd be broke," declared Massey.

U.S. Pay Hike Bill Is Vetoed, Then Repassed

Postal Workers and Others under Civil Service Get Boosts

Local postal workers and other federal civil service employes were smiling this week-end after learning that Congress Friday had overridden a veto by President Eisenhower, and had enacted a bill giving one and one-half million employes salary increases that will cost the federal government an estimated $746,000,000.

It was the second Eisenhower veto out of 169 to be overridden. Most Republicans sided against the President.

The house, acting first, voted 345 to 69 to override. Watching from the galleries was a throng of civil service workers and postal employes—including a bank of uniformed mailmen.

Then the federal worker spectators trooped over to the senate, where postal union representatives buttonholed senators. The union officials confidently told a reporter "it's all over but the shouting"—and they were right.

After several hours of talk, the senate completed the overriding action by a 74 to 24 vote.

The bill gives about one million white-collar civil service workers a 7½ per cent salary increase. Half a million postal employes get an average 8.4 per cent boost because of annual stepup provisions.

For individual workers, it means from $225 to $1,200 a year, depending on present pay scales. The raises took effect immediately for many.

In his veto message, Eisenhower said:

"This hastily-drawn bill violates every concept of fairness, every rule of reason and logic. Were this measure to become law, the already conspicuous unfairness and discrimination in our antiquated federal pay system would be greatly intensified.

"Instead of making progress—by improving the federal pay structure—we would actually be taking a long step backward."

Radio Station at Roseau Proposed

East Grand Forks Men Are Now Studying Field

The needs and services of a small raido broadcasting station were explained to members of the Roseau Civic and Commerce Association and interested business people in Roseau Tuesday night by Marlin Obie and Henry Tweten, East Grand Forks, who propose to establish a station in Roseau.

They said a survey of the market available is necessary before they determine whether or not it justifies establishment of a station. They indicated a need of from $3,300 to $3,500 a month in advertising revenue.

The men said it was most likely that a 250 watt station, operating somewhere around 13 or 14 hours, would be established at Roseau should they decide there was sufficient support.

Plenty of Rain with Cool Temperatures Featured Past Month

This may come as nothing new to residents of the area but, for the benefit of other readers, June in Thief River Falls was wetter and colder than usual.

Those living in the desert, or at least the semi-arid regions of the United States may be interested in the facts that 6.61 inches of rain fall fell at the KTRF weather station during the past month in comparison to 2.09 inches last year and 2.65 inches in 1958. Daytime temperatures averaged 71 degrees compared to 75.2 in 1959 and nighttime readings averaged 49.9, with only four readings in the 80's and the warmest a pleasant 84 the 26th of the month. Readings at night have been nearly all in the 40's and 50's with the coldest night the 5th when 39 was registered.

Following the warmest day of the month June 26, when an 84 was recorded, storm clouds began building up in the early afternoon and were followed later in the evening by strong southerly winds, lightning and 1.22 inches of rain. This, however, was only a little brother of the storm which hit the Crookston area dropping five inches of rain in some places in a matter of a few hours flooding many basements. Crops, however, were reported as undamaged, and were expected to remain unhurt unless too-warm temperatures returned to bake poorly drained fields.

Reveal Wheat Price Support Rate for 1960

Minimum Price Set at $1.86 a Bushel, Culkins Announces

The base minimum price-support for 1960-crop wheat in Pennington county will be $1.86 a bushel, Patrick W. Culkins of the county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office announced today.

This rate is based on the minimum national average wheat support of $1.77 a bushel for the 1960 crop announced last summer. Loans will be available at the minimum rate early in the price-support period. The final national and county rates will be determined on the basis of supply and parity figures as of July 1, and any loans made at the minimum rate will be adjusted as necessary at that time.

As in previous years, the price of the 1960 wheat crop will be supported through loans on farm or warehouse-stored wheat and through the purchase of wheat delivered by producers under purchase agreements. Loans and purchase agreements will be available from harvest through January 31, 1961. The loans will mature March 31, 1961.

In general, the basic support rate is for No. 1 wheat. Premiums and discounts are applied to determine the rate for wheat which is of other grades or has other quality factors. There is a discount of 20 cents a bushel for certain previously announced varieties which have inferior milling or baking qualities.

The county support rate, Mr. Culkins said, will be adjusted for any future freight rate decreases that may occur during the 1960 period of price-support availability.

Herberger Store to Leave Hibbing

Strike by Employes Given as Reason for Decision

A. A. Anderson, president of G. R. Herberger's, Inc., department store chain, said Thursday the company is pulling out of its Hibbing location because of labor trouble.

Members of the Retail Clerks union have been on strike at the Herberger's store in Hibbing for the last month.

"We have been negotiating with the union since April 28 in an effort to reach an equitable contract settlement," Anderson said, "but the union demands are beyond our ability to pay. Mass picketing carried on in the last four weeks has effetively ruined our business."

The Hibbing store, housed in a leased three-story building, had 64 persons on its payroll the day the strike was called. It has been operating in Hibbing for the last 17 years.

Trumpetsound Sets More Signs in Finland

Trumpetsound Gospel signs are appearing on the downtown city streets of Helsinki, Finland. During the months of June and part of July, September and December of this year Scripture signs will be placed on all of the outdoor telephone booths in the central section of the city.

Shown is one of the signs which is seen by the persons daily thronging the streets of the capital city of Finland. In English the sign reads, "What is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul?" Matthew 16:26.

When Ray Martin of Thief River Falls was in Finland early this year, he also contracted to place a Gospel sign on a huge display in the center of the city of Helsinki during the month of December. The sign stands about 25 feet high. It is triangular in shape and slowly revolves day and night. Being in the very busiest part of the downtown area, it reaches about two hundred thousand persons every 24 hours. This sign will bear the message of the Gospel of John 3:16 in the Finnish, Swedish, and Russian languages.

These new signs placed in Helsinki are in addition to 110 other Trumpetsound signs placed up and down the country of Finland from the Russian border to about 100 miles above the Arctic Circle. This work was started in Finland when a Finnish Lutheran Church leader came to America and saw the many signs placed in various states by the Trumpetsound project. Ray Martin then received an invitation to come to Finland and place the signs there and preach in evangelistic meetings in the state churches, tent missions, and to youth groups under the auspices of the People's Bible Society.

After working this close to the Soviet Union, Mr. Martin says that the American sign placed by his project here, "America, Repent or Perish! Christ Died for our Sins," takes on a deeper meaning. "Every American ought to realize that we are in grave danger of falling completely into the hands of the international schemers—and that our hope is not in politics or arms, but in a national spiritual awakening which shall be followed by the spirit of a unified free people with good leaders."

CARELESS SPEED TAKES HIGHWAY TOLL

Travelers Insurance annual summary of highway accidents reveals 900 more deaths and 50,000 more injuries in 1959 than in 1958, for respective totals of 37,600 and 2,870,000. "Since the automobile first appeared on the American scene 62,000,000 men, women, and children have been injured or killed—more dead on highways than our nation's battlefield, more injured than in all the world's wars combined," says the report, which goes on to point out: By far the biggest single cause of accidents was speed, accounting for more than 43 per cent of the deaths, nearly 39 per cent of the injuries. Second biggest killer was the driver on the wrong side of the highway, blamed for 15.9 per cent of all highways deaths. Attempting to cross thoroughfares between intersections brought death to 2,910 pedestrians and injuries to more than 66,000 during the year. Fourteen per cent of the drivers are reported by Travelers to have been under 25 years of age, but they accounted for 29 per cent of the fatal accidents.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor the Times:

During my time in the 9th District, I have found sentiment overwhelming for me to become a candidate for Congress. I have no reservations. Every battle from now on is for keeps. Truth will prevail.

Bossism again is an issue. There never was debate on the district endorsement. It came as an order from the top. If bossism is to continue in this manner, it will not be as meek acceptance from me.

This year is Oklee's Golden Jubilee. My home town became a political football in 1958. I'm sorry to say that an announced candidate for Congress, Roy Wiseth kicked it into a political football today. He apparently feared a kick-off in his own home town . . . I hope my announcement on Oklee's 50th birthday will serve to signify the end of dirty 9th District politics.

Another Letter on Japan

By Kiyoshi Tanabe

Editor's Note:

Our editorial column Monday was devoted to Japan and the incidents leading to the cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit. Two letters written by Kiyoshi Tanabe to Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barzen, with whom he had made his home as a student here three years ago, were included. At the time those letters were written the Eisenhower visit had not been cancelled.

The following letter was written after the visit had been called off and expresses the views of the writer, and probably a majority of Japanese people, on the unfortunate development and its causes. The friendship of Kiyoshi for our country and the American people will never be questioned by those who knew him. The letter follows:

Dear all,

I would have been studying hard if all these things had not happened. Now I feel so down and blue. My hope was finally betrayed. Ike did not come to Japan, while he was welcomed and cheered in the Philippines and Korea.

Mother, from the very beginning you were against Ike's visit to Japan worrying any accident on him might spoil the already grown friendship between U.S. and Japan. While, I was insisting his visit because Japanese people had no reason why they should be against the visit. Then you wonder why they, although actually just a fraction of Japanese, did the very rude things to Hagerty and have made demonstrations which consequently led to the cancellation of Ike's visit.

I think it's my responsibility to give you as true picture as possible and ask for your judgment. I had not been concerned with politics up to the recent time, but the situation now has forced me into it. So I still have no firm opinion how I should stand up and express myself in the present political confusion. However, I think what I can give you are the facts known mainly through newspapers.

At first, Communists and Zengakuren had no practical reason to be against Ike's visit. (You can be sure the number of Communists is very small and they have very little power among Japanese). But what happened in the Congress in the midnight of May 19 changed the course of history. Premier Kishi had been irritated by the slow pace in which the debate on the security pact between U.S. and Japan was going on.

He was the one who visited Ike and promised on the success of the pact in Japan. He had kept denying that he had to have the pact approved by the Congress in time for Ike's visit. But anyway on May 19 he resorted to the very unwise means of surprise passing, without the presence of the opposing Socialists. Even some members from Kishi's party did not attend the session from moral hesitation. Socialists had been engaged in mean tactics opposing the passing of the pact, too. But many Japanese were still thinking the debate was too important to be cut out or shortened. Now I would like to call your attention to the sequence of the date of surprising passing (surprising passing is the bill-passing actions without the presence of opposite party because of no notations of it in advance) to the date of Ike's visit.

There is a law in Japan to allow a bill to be established a month after the approval of the lower house even without the approval by the upper house. That was just what Premier Kishi and his party intended. Kishi's aim was obvious. While people are engaged in the happy celebration welcoming Ike this pact will have become established without much attention from the people. Most of the people wanted to welcome Ike.

First, people were just against the rushing approval of May 19 but once Ike's visit got assured, they also started the movement to call off the invitation. They did not want to show family trouble to the most honorable guest Japan can invite and involve him in the civil storm. Almost none of them had anti-U.S. feeling as reported by U.S. newspaper. Even labor union leaders and Zengakuren announced no demonstration against Ike, with the expectation that Kishi would do something before Ike's visit. So there were lots of demonstrations every day calling for the early action. They are not intended against U.S. but against Kishi, although they kept saying that Kishi should withdraw the invitation, because they cannot welcome Ike with the biggest applause.

But I think Kishi thought the pact was more important than Ike's visit. And the situation got intensed day by day. Finally what happened on the night of the 15th was sad enough to overcome Kishi's stubborness. Even then Kishi chose the pact.

I myself am against any physical demonstrations. But that accident was much shocking to me. The victim was from my university, and she had no physical power to fight with the police. Since then my university has practically no classes. Every day discussions are going on what should be done to bring Japan back to the democratic country. And we are asking for the quick dissolution of the Congress for a general election to make sure what people are thinking about what Kishi has done.

Here again I would like to assure you that Japanese people are neither getting closer to Kremlin or Peiking. What they are seeking for is democracy which was given to us by you Americans after a big sacrifice of the last war. I cannot deny the Reds are trying to make use of the situation for their advantage. However, it won't be successful at all.

My expressions in explaining these things might not have been very adequate. So I want to give you points in summary. Japanese people were not against Ike's visit, but against Kishi's undemocratic way used in the passing of the U.S.-Japan security pact. But unfortunately both of them got mixed up to bring the cancellation of Ike's visit, mainly because Kishi was sticking too long to his own way. You know sometimes democracy is not very effective means to solve things. It takes time but democracy itself is worth giving so much time to. If not, there is not much difference from what is carried out in Russia.

I hear U. S. newspapers are saying that the criticism against Kishi comes only from Communists or those agitated by them. But it's not true. Most of them have nothing to do with Communists or I can say they are haters of Communism for the love of democracy. The movement against Kishi is nationwide, so Kishi, I think, has little time left before resigning. After the war what you have done for us is so much and we are very grateful to that.

No Japanese are thinking that Japan can stand independent from U.S. economically. And this tie is firmer than you think. U.S. is our biggest customer and Japan your second customer in trade. I hear there are movements in the U.S. to expel Japanese merchandise from the U.S. Don't think we are selfish please, but it will lead to a very sad state.

With much love,
Kiyoshi

P.S. I am afraid you might criticize us as selfish because we might sound seeking just economical aid while neglecting security responsibility. I want to have a chance to explain about it some other time.

Flying Club Buys 4-passenger Plane

To Obtain Used Stinson Plane from Michigan

The Thief River Falls Flying club will resume flight activities this month with delivery of their four-passenger plane Sunday.

The plane is a used Stinson Voyager purchased from Gary Klungness, Iron Mountain, Mich. It is powered by a 150 h.p. Franklin engine and is fully equipped with blind flight instruments, VHF omni-range radio and automatic direction finding receiver.

The type represents a compromise between club members who desired an economical plane to fly locally and those who wanted a reasonably fast, load-carrying plane for cross-country flying, often into large airports where radio equipment is a "must."

Plans call for two club members, "Manny" Forsberg and Howard Lube, to be flown to Iron Mountain in Rantanen Flying Service's Mooney Sunday, from where they will fly back in the club plane the same day. The 900 mile round trip will take just a little over a half-day's actual flying time.

Editorials...

He who fears criticism is hopeless. Only those who do things are criticized. The idler is lost sight of in the march of events, but the doer is watched and criticized. To hesitate for fear of criticism loses the battle while the doers march on to victory and triumphs. Indecision is a great harbinger; but to hesitate for fear of criticism is cowardly. If your cause is right, be not afraid of criticism; advocate it, expound it, and, if need be, fight for it. Critics always have been and always will be, but to the strong-minded they are a help rather than a hindrance. —Thomas Jefferson

Big City Votes

A bill that would have permitted wheat growers to accept tighter production controls for higher price supports, was killed in the House last week by a 236 to 170 vote. It is said that this vote makes it unlikely that any changes will be made in the wheat program in the present session.

According to the Wall Street Journal, "it was the votes of Democrats from big city areas that proved decisive, "adding fresh evidence to indications that urban Democrats, harassed by consumer complaints about rising costs of food, are finding it more difficult to accept costly farm-support bills."

The important thing about this observation is not the reference to big city Democrats but rather the recognition of lost prestige and power by the farm bloc. And this loss of prestige and power politically is taking place within our state as well as nationally. Here in this agricultural state of Minnesota farmers are becoming a minority group and unless we amend the Constitution and provide for representation in the legislature by area as well as population, the metropolitan area will soon completely control the state politically.

Speeding Penalties

Minnesota's Police and Peace Officers association has recommended that the number of points charged for speeding be made more flexible. At the present time all speed violations cost six points and the penalty for driving 35 miles in a 30 mile zone is just as great as for driving 80 miles in a 40 mile zone. The association would have the penalty points reduced to four for the less serious violations.

The idea is a good one. We like the theory of the point system and it has worked out fairly well in practice. The change recommended by the association would strengthen the program rather than weaken it, we believe. With the more moderate penalty for the less serious violations officers probably would be inclined to enforce the speed laws more strictly.

Michigan Madness

A Michigan Senator, who must have received a majority of the votes in some election in that state, has introduced a bill to provide for the issuance of "constant purchasing power" government bonds which would not lose value because of inflation. It is encouraging to note that not all the recommendations of the Society of the Silly originate in Minnesota.

The bonds would be redeemable at a value adjusted to any intervening increases in the cost of living. Along with the escalator clauses in wage contracts that provide for wage increases to compensate for cost of living increases, under the provisions of the law authorizing these "index bonds", workers and investors would be able to dance merrily down the inflation road together without fear of the consequences of folly.

It would be wonderful if we could pass a law that would relieve us of all of the responsibility for the high cost of our own foolishness.

Learning The Facts

West Germans, already the richest nation in Europe and soon to become the most powerful, are still keeping the truth about Hitler from their children. So reads a report from Duesseldorf. Textbooks omit the facts about Nazi atrocities, the report states.

Maybe this is not as it should be, but we can understand the attitude of the textbook publishers. They are interested primarily in selling textbooks, and what they don't want is an argument.

Here in the United States we are not in a position where we can throw the first stone. Our textbooks, in the field of history, are far from factual. Most of them, in dealing with disagreeable situations, slant the facts in the interest of self-glorification.

No youngster graduating from high school and exposed to the versions of American History as taught in our elementary and secondary schools, would be well informed in this field until he had supplemented his schooling with much independent reading. No American is informed on American history unless he is also informed on Canadian and Mexican history, and the history of man yother countries that have history of many other countries that have been important in our development.

We probably shouldn't be critical of the West Germans for doing as we have done. And maybe it is just as well that the facts of life are withheld from the young people until they are old enough to adjust themselves to them gracefully.

Governor Orville Freeman has not thanked us for an editorial published in the Halstad Valley Journal and credited erroneously to us. Whoever wrote this particular editorial was convinced that Governor Freeman is a very great man and was profuse in his praise for him. Several of our friends have asked us to account for our about-face. We are not unhappy about the incident. It pleases us mightily to conclude that when the Halstad editor thinks of great men he naturally associates them with us.

Too many of our Minnesota "statesmen" have received national recognition because they have been interesting as odd characters, extremely ambitious personally. It is gratifying, therefore, to learn that Congressman Walter Judd has been selected to deliver the keynote speech at the Republican National Convention. Minnesota has produced several candidates for the office of president of these United States. Our guess is that Walter Judd will be recognized by future generations as the greatest statesman the state has produced in this era.

It was at a PTA meeting and five little first graders marched onto the stage one at a time. Each carried a card with a letter to make up the word "Hello". The first four children took their correct positions. The last little boy came out holding the card with the letter "O". Puzzled, he hesitated to find the right place to go, then to everyone's amusement, walked to the head of the group.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Sanders 4-H

The Sanders 4-H club met at the Black River hall on Friday, June 17, for their June meeting. President Kathy Wold presided.

A food committee consisting of Barbara Wold, Sharon Swanson and Linda Cameron was named to plan the July lunch when Black River will be our guests. Linda Cameron and Sharon Swanson were named to help the junior leaders plan the fair booth. We decided to leave the club tour until after the fair.

The program consisted of group singing led by Kathy Wold and Linda Cameron, and poems by Marcia Nelson and Linda Cameron. Sharon Swanson gave a demonstration on making button holes and Barbara Wold on banana strawberry filup.

Our records are due July 15 and could be turned in at our next meeting, which will be a return program by Black River. We closed our meeting with recreation led by the junior leaders.

Mrs. Svendsgaard read the points the club scored on for the coming year. Mrs. Breznay discussed the booth display for the fair. It was decided at the meeting to have a cook-out this year instead of a 4-H picnic.

Szymanski's were on the program and recreation committees. For the program Billy and Kathy Svendsgaard sang a song, jokes were told by Marie Breznay and Sharon Lindwick and a song was sung by Kathy and Judy Oski.

Lunch was served by the Aandol and Kainz families.

Recreation consisted of folk dancing. —Bruce Hanson, reporter.

Legislative Unit Studies Migrant Housing in Valley

The legislative commission on agricultural problems met recently in Crookston to investigate the housing facilities and work conditions of migratory workers. With a delegation of sugar beet growers, the commission traveled to a number of farms to make a firsthand inspection of housing provided for the workers by the farmers. Members of the commission generally agreed that, despit a wide variance, by and large the quarters are adequate. The large majority of the houses have electricity, running water, gas range, and refrigerator. Each year the migrants spend about two months (June 1 to August 1) working in the Red River Valley sugar beet fields.

Members of the Commission toured the Northwest Experiment Station at Crookston and inspected a potato chip factory and an instant potato factory at East Grand Forks.

Industrial Clinic Slated in St. Cloud

Development Meeting Scheduled Sept. 15-16

A tour of the 180-acre industrial park and a visit to one or more of the recently announced new industries employing over 200 people in St. Cloud, will be one of the features of the fifth annual Industrial Development Clinic scheduled for that city on September 15 and 16, Governor Freeman announced today.

Co-sponsor of this year's clinic will be the department of business development. Its advisory commission, the St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce, and St. Cloud Opportunities, Inc., the governor said.

James W. Clark, commission of the department of business development, points out that nationally recognized speakers in various fields regarding business and industrial development have been invited. Presentations are planned regarding such important topics as community planning, the place of industrial parks in industrial development, and how to handle the prospect.

Tentative agendas and other pertinent information will be mailed to community representatives soon, the commissioner states.

Minnesota Debt Hits Peak of $203 Million

Minnesota's debt, at its history-making new high of almost 203 million dollars, rose by more than 44¾ millions the past year and by almost 45½ millions the past six months, State Treasurer Val Bjornson indicated in submitting his report for the fiscal year which closed June 30.

The exact debt total, expanded mainly by borrowing for state buildings, stands now at $202,957,706.52, up from the June 30, 1959 figure of $158,069,196.54 and the December 31, 1959 aggregate of $157,531,153.14.

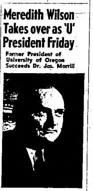
Certificates of indebtedness for building programs at the University, at state colleges and other state institution now totaling $136,336,606.51 are some 44 million dollars above the June 30, 1959 level of $92,208,096.54. Of the $5,000,000 originally borrowed as the state's share in the Duluth seaport project, $4,334,000 remain to be paid, while indebtedness for state parks has dropped the past year from $525,000 to $420,000. Minnesota aeronautics debt, mainly for outstate airport development, has more than doubled, up from $2,619,000 a year ago to $5,347,000 now. Rural Credit deficiency fund certificates of indebtedness, dropping gradually until their final elimination in 1967, are down to $10,850,000 from the 1959 level of $12,700,000.

Trunk highway bonds, retired to the extent of $800,000 the past year, are outstanding now in the sum of $44,400,000 which, with other items, makes up the aggregate of $202,957,706.52 in state debt.

The total of Minnesota's unspendable permanent trust funds, which passed the historic 300-million-dollar mark last fall, has not gone much beyond that at the present time. The June 30 aggregate of $302,218,197.01 is $3,428,532.15 above the comparable 1959 total. Royalties on iron ore mined from state-owned lands and proceeds from state forest tracts still go into the trust funds, but a 1956 constitutional amendment channeled the 50 per cent portion of iron ore occupation-taxes which used to go into University and Permanent School funds into directly available revenues for such educational needs. Total occupation taxes collected last month amounted to just $11,900,000, reflecting 1959 mining operations sharply reduced by the nationwide 118-day steel strike.

Meredith Wilson Takes over as 'U' President Friday

Former President of University of Oregon Succeeds Dr. Jas. Morrill



O. Meredith Wilson took over his duties Friday, July 1, at the ninth president of the University of Minnesota. He succeeds James Lewis Morrill, who retired Thursday after 15 years as president of the University.

President Wilson comes to Minnesota from the University of Oregon, where he had been president since 1954. He and Mrs. Wilson and their six children will live in the Governor Pillsbury house, 1005 Fifth st. S.E., until the new president's home, Eastcliff, 176 N. Mississippi River boulevard, donated to the University by the Brooks family, is ready for occupancy.

Dr. Morrill has been appointed as a consultant to the Ford Foundation in New York. Guy Stanton Ford, Washington, D. C., is the only other living former president of the University. He served as University head from 1938 to 1941.

The new president has had a distinguished career both as a historian and administrator.

He was born Sept. 21, 1909, in Chihuahua, Mexico, where his father headed a Mormon academy. He was educated in Utah and was graduated from Brigham Young university in 1934. After graduate work at the University of London and Heidelberg, Germany, he taught at Brigham Young university and the University of Utah.

President Wilson left his teaching career in 1952 to become executive secretary of the Fund for the Advancement of Education, a position which he held until he accepted the Oregon presidency in 1954.

Kansas permitted to vote in school elections as early as 1861.

Turkey, Ice Cream Plentiful in July

Watermelon Is Also in Good Supply This Month

Turkey, watermelon, ice cream —the makings of many a Fourth of July picnic—will be in generous supply all month.

Marketings of excellent quality birds will be so large that turkey is being featured on the U.S. Department of Agriculture list of plentiful foods for July. Supplies of bronze and heavy whites will particularly heavy. The U.S. Department of Agriculture expects about a tenth more turkeys than the record number brought to markets last July. Most of the turkeys are "family size," as well adapted to barbecuing outdoors as to cooking indoors.

Watermelon season is here—and this year it should be a good one because of the large acreage planted to melons and the good growing weather. Peaches, lemons and limes are other fruits that will be abundant during the month. Most of the peaches in the Midwest during July will come from California and the southeastern states.

The average home in the Twin City area uses about 3,400 kilowatt hours of electricity each year . . . reflects the growing use of appliances and lighting in our homes. Industry, too, relies heavily on electric power. The mining industry in our State, for instance, purchases in the neighborhood of 380 million kilowatt hours each year—the equivalent of the power consumed by over 110,000 average homes. This electric power, purchased by the mining industry, is just a part of more than $200 million spent each year by the Industry and its employees for goods and services produced in Minnesota.

Ice cream will be as plentiful as consumers want it to be because an almost unlimited quantity can be made from the abundant supply of milk. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the average American family eats about two pints of ice cream a week. Consumption is greatest at this time of year.

Peanut butter, vegeable fats and oils are other foods that will be plentiful in July.

You have read about the good deer hunting in Minnesota last fall, but we cannot help boasting just a little. We had an all-time record kill of nearly 105,000 deer with 53 per cent of the hunters successful in bringing home the venison. This is not only tops for Minnesota but is one of the best records in the nation.

And you do not have to worry about a state-wide depleted deer herd. Another mild winter has resulted in another good fawn crop—so deer hunting prospects for this fall again look good.

Our warden force is continuing their drive against fishermen with no license or the wrong license, and having considerable success. Heavy drives will be made during the 4th of July weekend.

The wardens distinguished themselves with their pistols at the annual state shoot of the Minnesota Police and Peace Officers' Association. Members of the first-place team in the marksmanship class were wardens Earl Nelms, Cy Jacobson, Bert Getty and Chief Warden Frannie Johnson. Individual awards also went to wardens Art Tonder and Gus Clemenson for high scores.

The duck situation in Minnesota is not rosy but not too bad, either. Our survey of breeding ducks in the state shows a 15 per cent decrease from last year but 17 per cent higher than the average of the last five years. Teal are down the most. Of course, this is a survey of adult breeding ducks only and fall predictions cannot be made until the brood census is made. Water conditions in Minnesota are improved this year over last.

Minnesota was host to the 38th annual convention of the Izaak Walton League of America last week. It is significant that the theme of the convention was "Save Our Shorelines." Obviously public access, like saving wetlands, are not merely Minnesota problems but are national in scope.

A slight and only temporary relief from the financial squeeze on Game and Fish funds is anticipated for the fiscal year beginning July 1. This makes it possible to employ and start training eight new wardens plus eight others to fill vacancies of wardens recently retired. The new men are taken from the civil service register after passing a difficult competitive examination.

The quantity of mail in my basket provides a fool-proof method of determining when fishing is good. It has been amazingly peaceful (relatively speaking) in my office all spring. This means good fishing. When fishing is poor sportsmen would rather write letters to the game and fish director than fish.

Coach Ralph Skay's American Legion junior baseball team win their eighth victory in eleven starts on Thursday evening when, in a five-inning game played at Hallock, the locals scored a 16 to 6 win over the Hallock juniors.

Weather and playing conditions permitting, the Baudette juniors will meet the local club on the Fair Grounds diamond this evening, Saturday, July 2, at 6:30 P.M.

Playing at Hallock on Thursday evening, the locals rolled up an 11 to 3 lead in the first two innings of play, getting four runs in the first inning and adding seven runs in the second inning to take a commanding lead. Bemidji State Has Pre-registration

College Gives Freshmen Chance to Register Early

New students planning to enroll as freshmen at Bemidji State college this fall may now pre-register during July and August, BSC registrar Edwin Aalberts announced today.

New students will report on one of four days selected for the registration of new students—July 6, July 20, July 27, or August 10. As soon as admission applications are received at the college students will be notified by mail which of the days they are to appear.

Pre-registration will make it possible for freshmen to complete most of the rush of the fall registration period.

Students who find it difficult to get to Bemidji for pre-registration during the summer may wait until September, but Aalberts warns that in so doing they may encounter closed classes and other scheduling difficulties making their registration less simple.

The week's schedule:
Tuesday, July 5—
Bridgeman's vs. Bums.
Thursday, July 7—
V.F.W. vs. Hartz Stores

Due to the Fourth of July holiday the city softball schedule for the week will be limited to two games. The Bridgeman's will play the Bums on Tuesday evening, and the Hartz Stores will meet the Vets on Thursday evening.

As a result of the four games played last week, the upper rungs of the city softball league standings are becoming crowded. The Bridgeman's and the Hartz Stores each suffered their first defeats of the season. In spite of a well-pitched game by veteran Helmer (Ham) Myhrer, the Hartz Stores dropped a 2 to 1 decision to the Len's Tire Service on Monday evening. On Tuesday evening the Hartz rebounded to score a 6 to 2 win over manager Lowell Collins' Bridgeman's team. Righthander Bob Carlson started on the mound for the Bridgeman's, but manager Collins was forced to bring in John Drury as a reliefer for Carlson. Kermit Malberg hurled steady ball for the Hartz club.

On Thursday evening, the Hamm's Beer team, with Glenn Charles Carlson pitching, defeated the Bums, 11 to 3.

Fishing

Whenever the winds would abate and the squalls would subside, which wasn't often, so that the fishermen could venture out on Lake of the Woods, the walleyed pike were accomodating. Last Saturday and Sunday it was evident that on the Lake of the Woods, from Buffalo Bay to Burton Island, the walleye fishing was comparable to the season-opening. Limit catches were the rule, and the pike were running to fair size.

Del Harbott fished the Buffalo Bay area with success, with the party filling in a couple of hours of fishing. Bob DuChamp, J. K. Stadum, and Austin Shanahan were at Long Point, and after having a "slow" morning, the trio trolled the bars southwest of the islands, and they reported fine luck. Russ Embury and Orvis Olen were maneuvering around the Burton Island reefs, and they, too, made limit catches.

And the bass fishermen in the area have been reporting success, too. Several of the anglers have made the short trip to Trail and fished Wold lake for bass. This lake, located about three miles south of Trail, is a private lake, and the fee to fish in the lake is a modest fifty cents or a dollar. The bass in the lake are sure to provide action, but the fishermen are warned to be well-supplied with tackle. The small lake is stump-filled, and the bass are well-versed in the tactic of wrapping the fisherman's line around a stump. While the bass aren't worth raves as an eating fish, they surely provide thrills at the end of a line.

One for the Book

In one of the U. S. mail pouches brought into town last week was a letter from the National Baseball Congress of Wichita, Kansas, and addressed to the "Leading Sandlot or Semi-pro baseball team" in town. This letter, without hesitation, was delivered to Wally Grovum, the manager of the Bums team of the Pen-Ro-Shall league. And that delivery was correct enough.

From what we have learned, the Bums are perhaps the city's semi-pro club, having such "professionals" as Roy Pederson, Dean Anderson, Freddy Jensen, and Pat Poole in the lineup. It is rumored that this quartet has signed a "bonus" contract with the Bums' general manager, Gunder Grovum. The contracts not only call for Roy and Dean and Freddy and Pat to play ball with the Bums, but they are also obligated to do considerable work at Gunder's summer cabin at Pine Lake, such as clearing brush, spraying for insects, etc.

And speaking of professionals, the only ball club in town that claims to be a professional outfit is Lowell Collins' softball team. This claim doesn't mean that the Bridgeman's play like a professional team. According to the information that we have, Bill LaFave has signed the softball boys to contracts that range from ice cream and whipping cream players as John Drury and Dale Klungness to players who only rate in the skim milk and buttermilk classification!

It Was a Bad Week

Predictionwise we experienced a bad week, with the Times trapshooters bowing to the Ben Franklins, and the Hartz stores defeating the Bridgeman's in softball. We had the Times picked to win by about three birds, and the Franklins reversed that prediction by scoring a 117 to 114 win. And, on the information we received from Bob Carlson, we called the Bridgesman's to win by an 11 to 3 score; and the result was a 6 to 2 win for Kerm Malberg and the Hartz Stores.

Carlson, who started on the mound for the Bridgeman's, was highly indignant that manager Mukkett Collins gave him the "hook" so early in the game, and brought in John Drury for relief duty. Bob claims that he had all kinds of stuff, and that he would have survived the flurry put on by the Hartz. Manager Collins explained that he wasn't worried about Bob's survival, but that he, Collins, was worried about Bob's wife and kiddies!

We do get a measure of satisfaction out of the results of the softball games, for these results indicate that the league is well-balanced and that the fans are getting first-rate entertainment. Now if the Vets could only win a couple of games.

Good Luck to Gordy and Amorin

It's good news to hear that Gordy Bjerken and Amorin Olson are entered in the Aquatennial canoe derby. There was some doubt that the boys would secure a sponsor, but that doubt was erased when Schick's cafe in Minneapolis agreed to sponsor the boys. So they are in the race.

Gordy and Amorin are well-conditioned, and they have the strength and endurance to withstand the rigors of the long race down the Mississippi. They will be leaving from Bemidji on Wednesday, July 6.

The Bagley Merchants, defeating the runner-up Cass Lake team, 7 to 4, in a game played at Bagley on Wednesday night, moved into a commanding lead in the Northern Minny league standings, having a two-game bulge over the Thief River Falls Thieves and Cass Lake. Although outhit by a fifteen to seven margin, the Bagley team utilized their base hits to advantage, sandwiching the hits between Cass Lake errors and bases on balls to score seven runs. Dennis Fallon, a southpaw, and Jim Lawrence, a righthander, shared the Bagley pitching assignment, while southpaws Roger Perling and Jerry Daniels were the Cass Lake hurlers.

Manager John Drury's Thieves, raking righthanders Stan Otness and Dick Schuchardt for twenty-two hits, rolled up a 15 to 7 win over the Fosston team at Fosston on Wednesday night. Arlan Hjelle, a righthander just out of the high school ranks, pitched for the Thieves and, having a comfortable cushion of runs, had the game pretty well in control.

In a high-scoring game played at Erskine, the Erskine Merchants outlasted Winger to score a 16 to 14 win and move out of the cellar in the league standings.

Hearing Is Put Off to Oct. 19 on Lost River

Large Gathering on Hand Wednesday for Scheduled Hearing

Wednesday, Oct. 19, was selected as the tentative date for the adjourned hearing on the proposed Lost River channel improvement project by Judges Paul A. Lundgren of Thief River Falls and John H. Sylvestre of Crookston during the short hearing in the Pennington county district courtroom Wednesday morning, July 6.

The hearing will begin at 10 a.m. before a panel of three judges, it was announced. In addition to Judges Lundgren and Sylvestre, Judge Arnold C. Forbes of Bemidji will also be present to hear the matter. A panel was selected, according to Judge Lundgren, because of the size and cost of the project (estimated to cost $1,421,000) and the number of persons involved.

Property owners who will not be represented by counsel have been asked by the judges to write to the clerk of the district court at least 10 days before the adjourned hearing if they wish to be heard. The request was made to make the hearing as orderly as possible and to make the proceedings as short as possible but still give everyone an opportunity to give all pertinent information.

The Wednesday hearing attracted a full courtroom of farmers, landowners and others who would be affected by the project but, following the announcement of the adjourned hearing, the court heard only the formal entry into the record of jurisdictional prerequisites introduced by Stanley Mortenson, attorney for the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district. Ole O. Melby, president of the district, was sworn in and attested to certain documents concerned with the background of the proposed project.

The Lost River project in Clearwater, Polk and Red Lake counties was recommended by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. It involves the straightening and deepening of the river channel from a point two miles west of Oklee to about the center of Windsor twp. in Clearwater county. It also calls for a clearing and snagging operation from the western end of the channel improvement to the junction of the river with the Clearwater river near Terrebonne.

Of the estimated total cost of $1,421,000, the government would pay $784,000 and local participation would pay the balance of $637,000.

Coya Knutson Tells Oklee Audience She Will File for Congress

MRS. COYA KNUTSON

Coya Knutson announced Monday she will seek to regain the U. S. House of Representatives seat she lost in 1958 following the "Coya, come home" campaign attributed to her husband.

She announced her candidacy in addressing a Fourth of July celebration in Oklee, her hometown.

The Democratic lawmaker was defeated in 1958 by Rep. Odin Langen. During the campaign much publicity was given a letter in which Mrs. Knutson's husband, Andy, urged his wife to leave Washington and resume their home life in Oklee.

Mrs. Knutson, a school teacher before she entered politics, said she expected her husband to make no objection to her candidacy.

The 9th District convention of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party this year endorsed State Sen. Roy Wiseth for Congress. Mrs. Knutson attended the meeting, but did not address the delegates.

In announcing her candidacy, she said one campaign issue would be "bossism." She previously had said there was no debate at the district convention on endorsement of a congressional candidate.

Other campaign issues, she said, will be the farm situation and "the big lie" that she said besmirched her character in 1958.

Mrs. Knutson was given a seat on the speakers' platform and made her formal announcement from there. Sen. Hubert Humphrey had spoken from the platform earlier, prior to Mrs. Knutson's arrival.

Mrs. Knutson has been away from Minnesota most of the time since her defeat in 1958.

Rites for Kenneth Miller, Helicopter Crash Victim, Held

Succumbed June 30 at Age of 30; Services Held July 5 at St. John's Church

Funeral services for Kenneth Urban Miller were held Tuesday, July 5, from St. John's Lutheran church, with Rev. A. C. Seltz officiating. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery with Sinding funeral home in charge of arrangements. Miller lost his life June 30 in a helicopter crash ten miles north of Harrisburg, Penna.

Kenneth Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Iven Miller, was born February 18, 1930 at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where he was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran faith. In 1943 he moved with his parents to this city and attended Lincoln high school, where he was an outstanding student and graduated in 1947.

Following graduation he worked for Boeing Aircraft in Tacoma, Washington, for a year and was

Warmer Weather Is Forecast Today

A warming trend has been predicted today through tomorrow by the KTRF weather station with fair skies today and tonight becoming partly cloudy tomorrow.

Light and variable winds and low humidity are expected and temperatures today should be from 80 to 85 and from 58 to 62 tonight.

Temperatures this week during daylight hours have ranged from Wednesday's high of 81 to Sunday's 65 and nighttime readings have varied from the 42 early Sunday morning to 55 this morning.

The storm system during the latter part of last week which dropped nearly an inch of rain locally caused extensive damage to West Polk county crops Friday, July 1. Downpours which were called "torrential" and which ranged up to four inches were accompanied by hail in the Bygland and Hammond twp. areas.

It was estimated that a million dollars in gross farm income was lost, mainly to grain crops which were generally a total loss in the center of a five-mile-wide strip. Beet and potato fields were also damaged but should recuperate to a varying extent.

Also experiencing severe hail damage were three townships south of Crookston where varying damage was reported.

Donald Myers Is Named to Post of Police Sergeant

Hartz on Polaris Board at Roseau

Is One of Nine Directors Named in Reorganization

L. B. Hartz of Thief River Falls was one of nine directors elected last Thursday, June 30, by the stockholders of Polaris Industries, manufacturers in Roseau of steam cleaners, aircraft skis, Sno-Travelers and equipment related farming.

The new board was formed as part of a reorganization of the firm which included plans to sell common stock to attract more capital. Present preferred stock has been terminated and will be exchanged for common. The present articles of incorporation now authorize 250,000 shares of common stock.

Not less than 75,000 nor more than 100,000 shares of common stock will be offered for public sale, it has been reported, but the board will have the power to issue additional stock if it deems it necessary.

Others named to the new board of directors were Edgar Hetteen, Allan Hetteen, David Johnson, Clifton Brandt, Milo Peterson and H. P. Borah, all of Roseau, Harry C. Paul of Winnipeg and J. R. Chappel of Winona.

Officers named at the board meeting were H. P. Borah, chairman; Allan Hetteen, president and general manager; David Johnson, vice president in charge of production, and Clifton Brandt, secretary-treasurer.

Weed Control in the Garden

Several chemicals are available for weed control in vegetable crops, but very few, if any, have a place in the home garden. No one chemical will kill all the broad-leaved weeds and the grasses in very garden crop without injuring the vegetables.

Stoddard Solvent may be applied for control of weeds emerging before the garden plants come up. Use two gallons for each 100 square feet of area.

Sesone (Crag Herbicide) may be applied to garden crops like potatoes, asparagus, rhubarb, strawberries and raspberries to kill germinating weed seeds without damage to the crop. Apply 5 level tablespoons in 10 gallons of water per 1,000 square feet of area.

After the garden crops are removed in the fall, quack grass can be treated with one pound of TCA per 1,000 square feet of area. Vegetable crops can be planted the following spring with no harmful effects from the previous year's treatment.

Probably the hoe or garden cultivator is still the best method of controlling weeds in the garden. Shallow cultivation at weekly intervals is desirable. Often it is only necessary to stir the soil with a garden rake to kill the weeds.

Deep cultivation may injure roots and cause abnormal growth and development. Blossom-end rot of tomatoes is often caused by root pruning at the time of cultivation.

It's best to pull persistent weeds like purslane and carry them out of the garden area.

Succession Planting

To assure a continuous harvest of vegetables from your garden, make succession plantings. Simply make three or four small plantings at weekly or 10-day intervals. This is very desirable for crops like peas, beans, sweet corn, carrots and beets.

Sweet corn, beans and peas may be planted up to July 1 in most parts of the state.

Carrots and beets planted early will be usually over-mature when fall harvest time comes. For good quality roots to place in storage, plant the seed in mid-June.

Chantenay types are excellent for storage—especially Royal or Red Cored Chantenay.

Crops like lettuce, radish, spinach and turnips usually make their best developement early in the season or in the fall when temperatures are cool. Plan for succession plantings in late July or early August. Red Boy is a new variety of radish that appears to perform well during the summer period.

An application of a complete fertilizer at the rate of one pound per 25 feet of row is very desirable where succession plantings are made following an earlier crop. Apply the fertilizer in a furrow two inches deep and 2-3 inches on each side of the row.

Cabbage, cauliflower and broccoli seed can be sown in early June for a fall maturing crop. Usually the fall crop of cauliflower and broccoli is better quality than the spring crop.

Jeanne Dahlen Tells of Austria Journey

Following are excerpts from a letter written to the Stanton R. Dahlens by their daughter Jeanne, who is spending the summer in Austria under the SPAN program:

Monday, June 20

Dear family,

This is positively delightful! We are flying over Ireland now and it is truly the Emerald Isle. The small,odd-shaped fields look so very green and each one has a hedge around it. But, first, I will fill you in from take-off time yesterday.

We took off from Idlewild in New York promptly at 5 Sunday afternoon. Our plane is a monster—the biggest I have ever seen—and is completely filled with Minnesota SPANners. We flew along the east coast as far north as Nova Scotia. The coast line was so irregular, with lakes, rivers, and bays so frequent that it was hard to tell whether we were seeing islands in the ocean or lakes on land. By 9:30 p.m. it was dark but when I woke at 2 a.m. it was light again. I didn't stay awake long enough to figure that out.

Now it is 9:40, Monday morning, and we are landing refueling at Shannon, Ireland. The flight across the Atlantic was wonderfully smooth in spite of a strong headwind which made us lose two hours. We lost another five hours, of course, by setting our watches ahead.

The Shannon terminal is modern and there are English-speaking clerks in the many shops that sell perfume, cashmeres and cameras. This is a free port but we didn't have time to shop much because we were called back to the plane early in order to make up for the time we had lost.

"Auf Franfurt!"

By 1 p.m. we were flying over the great forests of Germany. That would be around 7 a.m. and getting-up time at home. Going through the German customs was simple and we were soon on a bus leaving the airport for the beautiful city of Frankfurt. Here our group scattered to the four winds. Two Augsburg students, a University of Minnesota student and I went sightseeing, and walked miles. In the evening we to an elegant theatre and saw an American movie with German dialogue dubbed in. It was very helpful to me to hear the native pronunciations. Tickets were 45 cents.

Random observations. Feather coverlets on the beds in the beautiful hotel, delicious food at reasonable prices, so many very good-looking people, and the profusion of roses and other flowers in beds with crushed rock borders.

On Tuesday I went by train and bus to visit hometown friends, the Tom Gustafsons (Beverly Haugen) at Baumholder. I enjoyed being invited to their landlord's birthday party where mostly German was spoken. As each new guest arrived I could hear the other explaining who I was. They were very complimentary and said I spoke "Prima Deutsch".

Going to Baumholder I was just lucky that I found out about changing trains because the conductors seem entirely unconcerned. They rarely appear and don't even check tickets after each stop. (Maybe there is something I haven't caught on to yet, though.) At any rate, on the little two-car train everyone else was watching for the stations to be sure I got off at the right place. Someone also helped me get my luggage to the bus when I transferred.

When I returned to Frankfurt, I found that the carefully-planned schedule given me in Baumholder was not yet in effect so that I would have to figure out some other train to take to Kramsach. It was not too difficult because the ticket agents speak English.

The trains are comfortable and look quite new. Most of them have compartments for six with sliding doors, windows and curtains. Enroute to Austria I was alone in the compartment for a while. It was quite interesting the way the other passengers studied me after they noticed my bag. (Note: Jeanne had had Emmet Mousley letter her flight bag with her name and college address before she left here.) One man came and offered me the Frankfurt paper and after a while a little stream of people kept walking past the compartment, peeking in or standing in front of the windows on the other side. The trains were more crowded in Germany than in Austria, and hordes of students got on and off at some towns.

Only passports were checked as we entered Austria. It seemed as if I could really tell that we were in a different country. Suddenly there were mountains where before there had been rolling land. Just over the border we could see three countries — Germany, Austria, and the mountains of Switzerland around Lake Constance.

The train arrived at Innsbruck on schedule. It is the most beautiful city I have seen so far, with mountains rising high on all sides. I checked train schedules to Kramsach and found there were trains almost every hour. So far it has seemed easy to get any place at any time because trains run so often. The train to Kramsach was very crowded and in talking to a woman across from me I discovered that it didn't go to Kramsach at all but to Rattenberg, two miles away. (I surely wish I could find out these little things before I start out.) But people are very helpful, and a ride was arranged for me directly to the glassblowing school at Kramsach. It was hard to find, but it looks just like the pictures. I met a teacher who took me to the director. Neither spoke English nor did the students I met.

I am living comfortably in a girls dormitory which is like an apartment house. Some teachers live there also. They have electricity, running water, but no heat. There are about 50 students at the school which offers a three-year course. The students are between 15 and 18 years of age—younger than I expected. The dorm girls have to be in at 9, cannot go to movies or dances, but may watch TV.

The students in the "glasmalarei" (glass painting) classes seem to be born artists. I hope I can get good pictures of the glass displays. They showed me what they call the American glass—with Indians and teepees. The glass etching process was fascinating too. It was in the "glasmalarei" that I met the first person who could speak English. We sat in his office and talked "auf English". He was very much impressed with my program of study and gave me good advice. He is the author of two books and is writing a third. When he heard that I would be writing a thesis on my work in Austria, he was quick to give me his name and to see that I wrote it down right away. He offered to lend me his books over the weekend. Then another man came who had learned English at a wartime concentration camp in England. He told me that the school had been founded by Czechs and that most of the teachers are also Czechs. Isn't that interesting? So I spent the whole morning of my first day in Austria, talking "auf English."

Wiedersehen,
Jeannie

Advises Check on Social Security

Errors Made in Reports on Domestic Employes

Domestic employes should make sure their earnings are reported correctly. Housewives who employ domestics have done a good job, as a rule, in filing quarterly reports, according to Walter D. Kistler, district social security manager. However, the ration of incorrect and unreported items is still high and could lead to unfortunate results for the domestic employe.

Kistler stressed that unreported or incorrectly reported items such as name, social security number, or amount of earnings, might bar the individual from the full protection that social security could give him.

All employes, but especially domestics, should keep a record of their wages. At least once every three years, they should check their social security records to assure that all cash wages have been correctly reported. They can do this by contacting their local social security office and asking for the postcard designed for this purpose.

Mr. Kistler also advised the domestics to check with their employers periodically and make sure the items named above are being reported correctly. It was also suggested by the district manager that any household employers who have any questions should contact the local social security office. He cautioned housewives that they should report the earnings of any of their employes who earn $50 or more cash wages in a calendar quarter. As an example, employment for July, August, and September, should be reported no later than October 31.
